DARST BOND ISSUE PLAN IS OPPOSED BY ALBANESE AND G.O.P. ALDERMAN

Objections Based on Failure to Provide for Citizens' Control of Projects—Transit Proposal Not Mentioned.

President Charles E. Albanese of the Board of Aldermen today announced his opposition to Mayor Joseph M. Darst's proposal for a multimillion-dollar bond issue for public improvements.

He was joined by Alderman Melvin Krah of the Tenth Ward. Both are Republicans. Mayor Darst is a Democrat.

Their opposition was directed against Mayor Darst's proposals for the issuance of bonds for municipal improvement projects. It did not include opposition to his proposal for the setting up of a Metropolitan Transportation Authority to provide better mass transportation facilities here.

Reason for Opposition.

Both expressed their opposition to the provision that control of the improvements remain with city officials instead of a citizens' committee similar to the one appointed for the 1944 bond issue.

The Mayor has said the present bond issue committee's refusal to approve the starting of some projects has held up municipal development. The committee has followed a principle that the bonds were voted to provide employment in an anticipated postwar economic recession. But the recession did not develop.

Statement by Albanese.

"I am basically opposed to the suggestion that we have no citizens' committee to look over the project proposals," Albanese said. "I believe that if we ever vote additional bonds, they should have such supervision."

Albanese said also his opposition stemmed from the time element. "This is an inflationary period," he stated, "and we wouldn't get full value from any dollar spent for public improvements at this time. In addition, the Federal Government is asking local governments to curtail projects to conserve materials."

There are some projects which are urgently needed and should be pressed, he said, but these can be started with funds provided in the 1944 bond issue. They include rehabilitation of city hospital buildings, improvements at Lambert-St. Louis Field and several street widening projects.

Alderman's Contention.

Alderman Krah said that $46,977,000 was available in bonds authorized by previous issues for some of the projects proposed by the Mayor. "We can accomplish a good part of our needed improvements," he said, "before we ask our citizens to approve additional bonds."

Mayor Darst listed as among needed projects the construction of a new administration building at the airport, street and sewer construction, rubbish disposal incinerators, hospital improvements, two additional health centers, new fire stations and rehabilitation of public buildings. The project would be in addition to those contemplated under earlier bond issues.

SHOT IN HOLDUP, FINDS ROBBER IN BED NEXT TO HIS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sam Klein entered a Manhattan sandwich shop yesterday and was shot in the foot by a departing holdup man.

In a hospital, Klein, 62 years old, watched attendants put a new patient in the bed next to his. He heard the newcomer mumble "I shot a man in the foot."

Klein took a better look and shouted, "That's the guy that shot me."

The new patient, Eugene Condon, 21, was moved to a prison ward under charges of robbery and illegal possession of firearms.

Crippled Ship Under Tow by Tug, Carlsen Confident of Making Port

Operation 'Will Take About 4 Days,' if Good Weather Holds, Navy Officer Says.

By ERNEST AGNEW

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The crippled freighter Flying Enterprise started under tow toward Falmouth harbor at a tedious three knots today. Its heroic skipper, Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who refused to abandon his wallowing ship in the face of a wild storm, was jubilant and confident that he is going to win his long fight against the sea.

The commander of the United States Destroyer Willard Keith, which arrived to watch over the stricken American freighter, reported: "The tow is riding smoothly."

Capt. Carlsen's nine-day ordeal—nearly seven of them alone in the heavily-listing ship—appeared to be over, unless the barrel-thick towing hawser breaks or the swelling seas tip the vessel over.

For the first time since a hurricane cracked the Flying Enterprise across the middle and left it helpless some 300 miles off England's southern tip on Dec. 28, the weather was reported "calm and the visibility is good."

Towed by Powerful Tug.

Snaking the helpless Enterprise to port is the powerful seagoing tug Turmoil, which managed after 30 hours of struggle to secure a towline to the bow of the freighter. On the deck of the Enterprise—tilting at a perilous 70 to 80 degrees—the stubborn, Danish-born skipper still stands, joined now by the Turmoil's first mate, Kenneth Dancy, watching the groaning hawser ease his ship along.

"If the weather continues," said the Keith's captain, "it will take about four days" to bring the Enterprise into Falmouth. "If this weather continues, the situation will be in hand. Both Carlsen and Capt. Dan Parker of the tug (Turmoil) firmly believe so, too."

The hearts of seamen the world over—and many a landlubber, too—also were on the Enterprise, wishing the 37-year-old captain well. Old sailors in England, who hailed Carlsen's devotion to duty as being in the highest tradition of the sea, planned to welcome the skipper when he comes ashore.

Parents Fly to England.

Carlsen's Danish parents flew to England to be on hand for his arrival. Plans were under way to petition Denmark's sea-loving King Frederik to decorate Carlsen, a former member of the Association of Danish Merchant Navy Officers, for his heroic oneman stand at sea.

Carlsen asked the Associated Press to forward a greeting to his wife, Mrs. Agnes Carlsen, in Woodbridge, N.J., and two daughters, telling them he would telephone her as soon as possible. He sent a second message to the owners of the Flying Enterprise, the Isbrandtsen Line of New York, informing them the ship was under tow.

The Keith's skipper, Comdr. Leslie J. O'Brien Jr. of Jonesboro, Ark., said the Turmoil is towing the Enterprise and its shifting cargo by one heavy hawser hooked to the freighter's bow.

"Carlsen wants to stay with his ship and bring her into port," said O'Brien. "He and the mate from the tug are standing alter-

THAW TO CONTINUE; TRANSPORTATION BACK TO NORMAL

Warmer weather and a continuation of the thaw that freed most streets of sleet and ice yesterday afternoon was forecast today by Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren. He predicted that the mercury would climb to the middle 40s tomorrow afternoon from a low of about 25 in the morning.

Under a warm afternoon sun yesterday, telephone repair crews reset poles and restrung wires pulled down by the ice storm, mostly in southeast Missouri.

The thaw in the St. Louis area, where the mercury climbed to 37 at 2:30 p.m. yesterday, quickly brought transportation schedules back to normal. At Lambert-St. Louis Field, all flights were operating after the cancellation of 15 flights yesterday morning because ice formed on planes' wings.

Greyhound Lines reported that its refusal to sell tickets on busses to Tulsa and Oklahoma City last night and this morning had nothing to do with the weather. Crowds of soldiers returning to military bases from holiday leave took all available seats.

U.S. ORDERS PRICE OF WHITE POTATOES CUT 5 TO 10 PCT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Government today ordered a 5 to 10 per cent rollback in the price of white potatoes at the shippers-wholesale level.

The Office of Price Stabilization said the cutback would be reflected to consumers after Jan. 19, the effective date of the order. Price Stabilizer Michael V. Di Salle said "the brake this regulation will apply to the accelerated rise in potato prices will save the consumer millions of dollars."

The OPS order provided the bigest rollbacks for higher-priced potatoes such as those grown in Idaho.

The reduction will be from present price levels to about the level of parity. Parity is a price aimed at providing farmers a fair return for what they sell in relation to what they buy.

Potato prices have more than doubled in the last year. They were at 105 per cent of parity as of Dec. 15.

CHURCH DISPLAYS JEWELED CROWNS DONATED BY WOMEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Two diamond-studded gold crowns, their jewelry contributed by 2000 women parishioners, were placed on display today in a Brooklyn Catholic church.

The crowns, insured for $100,000, will adorn an altar painting of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Infant Jesus at the Regina Pacis votive shrine. Many of their 500 diamonds were donated by women in gratitude for the safe return of their sons during World War II, according to the Right Rev. A. R. Cioffi, pastor of the church.

The Virgin's crown is a flat tiara measuring 9 by 6 inches. It is bordered by 12 stars and the point of each is encrusted with a diamond. Other diamonds, sapphires and emeralds are worked into the design. A tiara for the Infant Jesus measures 4½ by 6½ inches.

The painting is 8½ by 6½ feet.

U.S. Asks Supreme Court to Read 8000-Page Record, Gets Quick 'No'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Reading the record can consume too much judicial time, Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of the Supreme Court points out.

As a matter of fact, Justice Jackson observed yesterday, careful perusal of the record in a Government suit against the Oregon State Medical Society might take half a year.

The record covers 10 volumes and some 8000 pages. It cost $22,108 for the Government to print it.

The record is of a trial before United States District Judge Claude McCullough of Portland, Ore., in which the Government lost a suit against the medical society. The Government argued during the five-month trial that the society's medical and hospital insurance plan violated anti-trust laws.

Stanley M. Silverberg, special assistant to the Attorney General, told the court it would have to read that record to get the facts straight.

"If this court has to do that," remarked Justice Jackson, "it might as well recess until next June, hold up all other cases, and give all its time to this one case."

Silverberg replied that "Congress has said review of such cases rests with this court" and argued that "until Congress changes the law, you have no alternative."

To which Justice Jackson replied: "I have a choice. Congress may impeach me if I'm not doing my duty—and I hope it does. A 'new trial' before this court isn't our duty. The Government has to take its licking, along with everybody else."

The society was upheld by the lower court in its contention that it did not conspire to attempt to monopolize the prepaid medical care business in Oregon, as had been contended by the Government.

U.N., REDS TRADE ANGRY CHARGES AS TRUCE TALKS STAY DEADLOCKED

Each Side Calls the Other a 'Bandit'—Allies 'Did Not Come to Korea to Surrender,' Foe Is Told.

By OLEN CLEMENTS

MUNSAN, Korea, Jan. 5 (AP)—Frayed tempers snapped today as truce negotiators haggled over how to police a Korean armistice. From both sides of the conference table came angry charges and blunt warnings. There was no progress toward a truce.

A United Nations delegate warned that the Allies will not be forced to bow to Communist armistice demands by the threat of growing Red air power.

"You have cast yourself in the role of a bandit," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner.

"You have fully exposed your ugly, ferocious features of a bandit," retorted Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang.

Strong Language.

Using some of the strongest language since the armistice talks began, Turner told the Reds "the United Nations command did not come to Korea to surrender," and "we have no intention of leaving the South Koreans to your tender mercies."

Matching Turner word for word, Hsieh replied, "You represent yourselves as angels of peace and continue to interfere in internal affairs.

"Your statement is rude and absurd. You have gone too far in your absurdity and arrogance."

In a nearby conference tent, U.N. and Communist negotiators haggled fruitlessly for more than three hours over how prisoners of war should be exchanged.

"Their arguments are getting pretty feeble," said R. Adm. R. E. Libby. "It is obvious they are killing time waiting for instructions."

Libby said the Reds refused to answer another request for an immediate exchange of sick and wounded prisoners.

Slur at Red Cross.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho referred to the International Committee of the Red Cross as a "so-called neutral organization" and brought down the wrath of Adm. Libby on his head.

Libby stormed at Lee for his "arrant discourtesy" and asked him to omit his "lurid adjectives."

"I am convinced that no man can appear to be as obtuse as you appear to be except deliberately," Libby added.

While they argued, six senior officials of the International Red Cross in Geneva stood by in Taegu, South Korea, awaiting a call to aid in a prisoner exchange.

Subcommittees working on the problems of supervising an armistice and exchanging prisoners were deadlocked when they adjourned, but both scheduled meetings for 11 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. Saturday, St. Louis time) in Panmunjom.

"Upside Down Reasoning."

At the brief session of the truce supervision subcommittee, Turner lambasted the Reds in replying to a statement made Friday by Gen. Hsieh.

"You suggested that if the U.N. commander was so concerned for the security of his forces he should withdraw from Korea," Turner said. "What a typical piece of upside down reasoning.

"We have no intention of walking away under a threat of your development of air power during the armistice and leaving the South Koreans to your tender mercies."

The issue of airfield construction during an armistice is the major stumbling block barring agreement on how to police a truce. The U.N. insists that no military air bases be built or repaired in North Korea, although a limited number of fields could be put in condition for civilian use.

The Communists contend that any restrictions on airfield construction constitute interference in North Korea's internal affairs.

On Irrevelant Matters.

The negotiators spent most of their time wrangling over such irrelevant matters as who started the war.

Afterward Turner told newspaper men:

"We stated our firm stand that there would be no building of airfields during an armistice. We told them if they wish to build airfields now while hostilties are going on they could do so, but would find their efforts disintegrating."

The U.N. command issued a formal statement declaring it will make no more concessions on the supervision of an armistice.

"We did not come here to make arrangements for our own destruction," the statement said. "It is taking time to get this across to them, but eventually they will have to understand it and accept it."

Meanwhile, Correspondent Don Huth observed that Panmunjom provided the safest place in Korea to watch the war. He said bursting artillery shells and aerial strikes on Red positions "echo over the meeting tents of the two subcommittees."

Only a few miles separate the battle front from Panmunjom. Adm. Libby, emerging from a conference tent, joined correspondents to watch rockets streak from Allied planes and commented:

"This is more interesting than anything I have to say."

PLAN TO COUNTER RUSSIAN PROPOSAL ON EASING TENSION REPORTED IN U.N.

Western Version Calls for Top Level Meeting When Security Council Is Convinced There Is Chance for Success.

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Western powers were reported today to have drawn up a new proposal to counter Russia's plan for a top-level United Nations Security Council meeting on the Korean armistice and other world problems.

A high U.N. source said Britain, the United States and some other countries would submit a resolution calling for a high echelon meeting to ease world tensions, but would specify that the meeting be called only when the Council is convinced there is some chance of success.

There will be no reference to Korea in the West's proposal, which apparently is intended to counter growing favorable reaction to the Soviet plan among some Asian and Arab nations.

The new proposal will be presented to the U.N. political committee, which today continued to debate the 11-nation resolution indorsing the U.N. anti-aggression plan.

Backing for New Plan Sought.

Highly qualified sources said the originators of the new resolution are awaiting authorization from their home governments before introducing it formally. The sources also said the delegations are having additional talks with other U.N. members in an attempt to line up as many sponsors as possible for the plan.

The anti-aggression proposal, submitted by the U.N. Collective Measures Committee, would establish the machinery by which the veto-free General Assembly could act when the Security Council is hamstrung by the veto.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky violently opposed the program and introduced his own resolution calling for a special Security Council meeting at which the members would be represented by their foreign ministers or chiefs of state. His resolution suggested that this meeting take up the question of the Korean armistice as the first order of business.

U.S. Opposes Proposal.

United States Delegate Benjamin Cohen said yesterday that bringing the question of the Korean truce to the Council might well wreck the talks at Panmunjom. In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Acheson rejected the Vishinsky proposal, saying it would undo the work of the General Assembly in providing collective action to deal with aggression and that to shift the Korean negotiations from Panmunjom would provide little promise, in view of past Soviet performance.

The Western move is intended to appeal to those countries which hope the big powers can get together for a settlement of their differences. The necessity of a positive western approach was shown by the support developing among the small nations for the Russian plan.

Meanwhile, Political Committee No. 2 voted 41 to 2 to call on the Union of South Africa to talk with India and Pakistan about alleged discrimination against persons of Indian origin living in South Africa. The General Assembly adopted a similar resolution last year, but talks never were held.

SIX MEN SENTENCED ON FRAUD CHARGES IN ARMY MEAT DEAL

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 5—United States District Judge Thomas F. Meaney sentenced six men to prison yesterday on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Government of $500,000 in the sale of substandard beef to the Army in 1946 and 1947.

The defendants, all of whom had pleaded guilty, included two former Army men and four officers of the American Packing Co. of Jersey City.

Three vice presidents of the firm were sentenced to three years in prison and fined $5000 each. They are Emanuel Kohn, Samuel Goldberger and Adolph Kaplan. William Schwartz, president of the company, was sentenced to 18 months and fined $2000. He drew a lesser penalty, Judge Meaney said, because he had made an effort to halt the swindle.

The men were accused of bribing the two former Army men. Ex-Capt. John F. Jones was sentenced to nine months; former Sgt. Samuel Auman was sentenced to six months.

LONDON PAPERS USE BIGGEST HEADLINES ON SHIP STORY

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Evening newspapers broke out their biggest headlines today to tell Britons a tug is en route to England with Kurt Carlsen and the Flying Enterprise.

"She's in tow! Heading here," said the Evening News banner headline.

"The big tow is on: Skipper Kurt jubilant," said the Star.

"Carlsen in tow at last—and he is 'jubilant,'" said the Evening Standard.

CHURCHILL IN WASHINGTON, HOPES TO RE-ESTABLISH A 'FRIENDLY ATMOSPHERE'

Greeting British Visitor

MET AT AIRPORT BY TRUMAN; VIEWS PROSPECTS FOR PEACE AS 'SOLID'

Wants Talks With President to Raise Relations Between America and Britain Above the 'Paper Level.'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Britain came to Washington today intent on recreating the "friendly atmosphere" he enjoyed during wartime with the President of the United States.

President Truman was at the airport to meet the 77-year-old English statesman who brought with him on his first official visit to the United States since the war this personal opinion:

"The prospects for world peace are solid in 1952."

Truman's personal plane, the Independence, bringing Churchill and his party from New York, landed at 12:29 p.m. (11:29 a.m. St. Louis time). The President walked up to the foot of the ramp as Churchill, dressed in black, wearing a black homburg hat and carrying a cane, stepped down from the plane. Truman wore a light colored hat, light gray topcoat and gray suit. They both took off their hats as they shook hands.

"Mr. Prime Minister, I can't tell you when I have had more pleasure than I have today in welcoming you to the United States of America," Truman said. "Great Britain and the United States have always been the closest friends. We want to keep them that way."

He added he was sure they would do so.

'Peace and Hope.'

Churchill, responding, told Truman that co-operation of their two countries can assure "peace and hope and salvation on earth for struggling mankind."

Truman added to this: "Peace on earth is what we are both striving for."

The President then greeted Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and other members of the Churchill party as they stepped from the plane.

All of the American Cabinet members, most of the diplomatic corps, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the members of the Joint Chiefs were among the welcomers.

Churchill said he was "most grateful" to the President for the welcome and added, "I look forward to renewing the comradeship which grew up during the struggles of the war."

He praised the "great strength" of America.

The ceremonies over, the President, the Prime Minister and their aids left in a long string of automobiles for Blair House for luncheon.

Churchill, past master at personal diplomacy, had advance assurance of a hearty welcome from the President who succeeded his wartime collaborator, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Truman said on Thursday there are many things he and Churchill can discuss profitably.

However, Truman doesn't conduct his foreign policy affairs on the same man-to-man basis favored by the late President Roosevelt—and Churchill himself said in New York today that the American and British people should not expect "a lot of decisive and startling conclusions" to come out of the current talks.

Calls for Understanding.

The two Western powers "must understand each other," Churchill also said in a brief news conference at a Brooklyn pier after his transoceanic voyage on the liner Queen Mary. He said he hoped the four days of the Washington talks would raise the relations between America and Britain above "the paper level."

Churchill summed up the purpose of his journey in these words:

"To establish that close and intimate understanding between heads of Government on both sides of the ocean so that we may deal with the events of the future with a knowledge of the other's point of view."

His remark about 1952's peace prospects being "solid" was in reply to a reporter's question. He did not elaborate.

Doubts Peril Is Greater.

Asked, too, during his brief stopover in Brooklyn whether the Russians' threat to peace had grown or lessened in recent months, Churchill replied:

"I don't think there is any greater danger now than at the time of the Berlin airlift, provided we take prudent measures." However, he added: "I'm not a member of their cabinet so I can't tell how they are talking now."

Churchill was asked whether he saw any advantage in a meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin.

"It all depends on the setting

BRITON REPORTS U.S. 'CALM' IN REACTION TO CHURCHILL VISIT

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

LONDON, Jan. 5—The Manchester Guardian's correspondent cabled from New York yesterday that "the United States calmly awaits the arrival of the Queen Mary," bearing Prime Minister Churchill. He dismissed as "the smatter of lightning on the isolationist horizon" the suggestion of North Dakota's Republican Senator William Langer that the Old North Church in Boston again display its lanterns to warn the Americans against the coming of the British.

Referring to reports of official criticism of Churchill's visit, the Guardian's correspondent said that "Washington officials have exchanged friendly and speculative confidences devoid, in your correspondent's experience, of guile or ill will."

But his remark that "the American press has noticeably declined to shoot at Mr. Churchill till it sees the whites of his eyes" was not as comforting to British readers as it may have been intended to be.

U.S. AGREES TO GIVE INDIA 50 MILLION TO BOOST FARM OUTPUT

NEW DELHI, Jan. 5 (AP)—The United States agreed today to give India $50,000,000 to help it speed up its lagging economic and agricultural development.

The contribution will be made under an agreement signed by Prime Minister Nehru and United States Ambassador Chester Bowles at a brief ceremony in New Delhi. It provides for pooling American dollars with an equivalent sum in Indian rupees to form a $100,000,000 Indian-American technical cooperation fund.

An Indian Government announcement on the agreement said the fund will be concentrated on projects aimed primarily at raising agricultural production and freeing India of dependence upon imported foods.

It is understood the agreement is much more comprehensive than the $1,500,000 Point IV program signed by the United States and India in December 1950.

M'FARLAND TO AIM AT SHORT, SWIFT SESSION, HE SAYS

Won't Commit Self on Whether Congress Can Wind Up Before G.O.P. Convention.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Senate Majority Leader McFarland of Arizona wants members of Congress to aim for a short and snappy session in 1952.

"We should transact our business as quickly as we can and get out as soon as possible," he said yesterday at a press conference he called after returning to Washington.

The second session of the Eighty-second Congress begins Tuesday. The first session ran for 291 days before adjourning last Oct. 20.

McFarland declined to commit himself on a windup date. He would not say whether he thought it possible to quit before July 7, the date of the Republican National Convention—first of the two major party meetings in Chicago.

Home Rule for Washington.

He said a bill setting up home rule for the District of Columbia would be the first to be debated by the Senate this year.

It is opposed by some southern Senators, but McFarland said he thought it would pass without too much trouble. He supports it.

He said bills to grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska might be next in line, although he agreed these were "likely to cause quite a bit of discussion."

There have been indications that filibusters may be launched against these measures.

McFarland was asked if his hope for a short session meant that he would urge President Truman not to submit too big a program in his State-of-the-Union message to Congress next Wednesday.

The Senator indicated he had

Locked Out By Wife, Billy Rose Sues for Right to Enter Own Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Showman Billy Rose—locked out of his town house by his estranged wife, Eleanor Holm—wants to get back in to keep an eye on his art and silver collections.

Rose's wife, the former swimming star, filed a separation suit over her husband's romance with Joyce Matthews, former wife of comedian Milton Berle.

Miss Holm obtained $7000 a week temporary alimony while the case is pending and also the right to live at the five-story Beekman place home.

In a supreme court affidavit yesterday, Rose asked for an injunction giving him the right to "freely enter and leave at any time" the mansion.

Rose said he was worried about a newspaper report that his wife had nailed a Rembrandt painting "behind a front door so that any attempt to force the door open would destroy the painting for which I paid $75,000."

Rose added that he did not know whether the report was true, but that there was $250,000 worth of irreplaceable art treasures in the house—plus an antique English silver collection.

He further contended that his apartment over the Ziegfeld Theater is too small for entertaining or for adequate business talks.

Miss Matthews slashed at her wrists last summer in the Ziegfeld Theater apartment while she was alone there with Rose.

Rose also told the court that Miss Holm changed the locks on the door of the Beekman place home and deposited other art works and silver treasures in a basement liquor locker.

His petition was scheduled for a hearing Jan. 14.

AIR-NAVAL BLOWS AT RED CHINA IF TRUCE IS BROKEN REPORTED URGED

U.S. Said to Propose Implied Ultimatum to Discourage Renewed Communist Aggression in Asia.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The United States is described as believing any truce made with Communist China and Korea should carry with it warning that a violation would bring air-naval punishment upon Red China itself.

The government is reported in well-informed circles to be advising the other Allies in the Korean war that it thought such an implied ultimatum should bulwark the provisions of any armistice.

Word of this reported stand by the United States circulated in official circles today after American government departments concerned had reviewed the whole prolonged history of the truce parley and weighed political and military possibilities of the new position.

No New Demands.

In proposing that definite measures be set up to discourage renewed aggression by the Asiatic Communist satellite nations, the United States appears to be making no new demands for the actual truce terms under negotiation at Panmunjom. It seeks only to guarantee their observance.

Primary interest of the United States, as evidenced in developments at Panmunjom during recent weeks, is to bring about the return under an exchange plan of all United Nations prisoners.

To obtain this, some persons in well-informed positions thought the United States might make certain concessions, although they veered away from talking in detail about such possibilities.

An issue at Panmunjom has been the Allies' contention that some form of supervision and inspection must be established to assure that terms of an armistice are observed. Directly related to this is the objection of the Communists to a bar on building new airdromes in North Korea.

Red Airfields Bombed.

U.N. planes for months have been bombing and strafing three airfields which the Reds have been attempting to build about 90 miles southeast of the Yalu river. The purpose of those fields, if the enemy could get them into operation, would be to bring MIG-15 jet fighters that much closer to the battlefront and Allied territory. Airmen estimate that one or perhaps all of these fields could be brought into use within a week if bombing stopped.

What the United States is reported to be proposing is this:

If, after a truce was agreed to, Communist forces should seek to cross the truce line for a renewed aggressive strike at free South Korea, punitive measures should be instituted promptly against the present Chinese sanctuary.

No Ground Invasion.

There would be no effort to put ground forces ashore for invasion of the Chinese mainland, nor would atomic weapons be invoked.

But Red China's ports, war goods production centers and sea and land transport would be subjected to bombardment by planes and ships. An airtight blockade of coastwise and river commerce would be clamped on it, with bombs, naval gunfire and mines used.

Communist China already has paid in high casualties and heavy losses of equipment to carry out the master plan of Soviet Russia for aiding the North Koreans. But its materiel losses on the Korean battlefield could become only a fraction of what it would lose under blockade and bombardment of its eastern seaboard.

Imposing Fleet Nearby.

The United States has mustered an imposing fleet in Korean and nearby waters. To deploy for operations against China would require no heavy increase in size of the fleet, although more carrier-based aviation might be desired.

However, such an operation would put a new and different emphasis on the Far East air war. Strategic bombing, which has played only a minor role in the Korean war, would become paramount. More units of the B-29 medium bombers would be needed. The bases would be no problem. They already exist in Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines, all within easy reach of the Chinese mainland.

CHURCHILL ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON FOR CONFERENCES

and the events leading up to it," the Prime Minister replied.

"Of course, it would be very satisfactory if we could get a settlement of the many common difficulties that confront us."

Concerning the possibility of a three-power conference, with him representing Britain, Churchill said:

"That would lead me into a realm that involves so many hypotheses that I'm afraid we'd all be detained here too long."

Israel to Be Discussed.

Asked about the prospects of peace between the Arabs and Israel, Churchill waived the question to Eden, who replied:

"That's one of the things we are here to try to settle."

Churchill brushed off other specific questions about the situation in the Far East, or the Middle East. On Korea, he said only, "I understand the armistice talks are still continuing."

The press conference in Brooklyn lasted only five minues. Then Churchill's motorcade left for Floyd Bennett Field. Two hundred pickets representing the Irish-American Minute Men paraded outside the pier as the motorcade departed.

At the airport, Churchill climbed from his car, cigar in mouth. He tipped his hat to a group of enlisted men standing nearby. From the ramp by which he boarded the plane he waved his hat to the crowd and made his "V" for victory sign.

Daughter Visits Him.

The prime minister's daughter, actress Sarah Churchill, and her husband, portrait photographer Antony Beauchamp, boarded the plane and chatted with him until just before the take-off.

The Coast Guard cutter Navesink transported Churchill and his party from the Queen Mary to the Brooklyn Army Base, where he talked to newspaper men.

He stepped ashore tightly bundled in a black overcoat. The weather was of the raw, London overcast type with a touch of fog.

An Army band was waiting. After it had greeted the distinguished visitor with ruffles and flourishes, it went into "God Save the King," then the "Star-Spangled Banner."

The first man to shake Churchill's hand on the pier was Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, who said: "I welcome you to the United States on behalf of the armed forces and the Commander in Chief."

Cordial Welcome.

Churchill received a cordial welcome aboard the Mary at quarantine. The official welcomers were Mayor Vincent Impellitteri, British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks, and President Truman's welcoming emissaries, Brig. Gen. Robert B. Landry, his Air Force aide, and John Simmons, his chief of protocol. The warm greetings on shipboard were brief.

Churchill, Eden, Lord Ismay, Secretary of State for the Commonwealth, Field Marshal Sir William Sim, chief of the imperial general staff, Lord Cherwell, Paymaster-General, and seven others of his party of 35, then boarded the Navesink for the ride to the Brooklyn pier.

Smoking Usual Cigar.

The transfer from the Queen Mary to the cutter was made without incident. The Navesink took a position on the starboard side of the liner. A door in the side of the Queen Mary was opened and the chubby Prime Minister, smoking his inevitable cigar, stepped firmly along a short gangway connecting the two vessels. The water below the gangway was calm.

On boarding the cutter, Churchill went immediately to the wheelhouse.

A British flag was hoisted on the Navesink in tribute to the visitor.

Churchill jovially waved to crowds lining the rail of the Queen Mary after he boarded the smaller ship.

Grover A. Whalen, New York City's official "greeter," was awaiting Churchill aboard the cutter.

A number of small craft hovered near the Navesink. Among them were three police boats, a Coast Guard patrol boat, a fireboat and four or five tugs.

Fireboat Greeting.

A fireboat sprayed water into the air in a traditional New York harbor greeting as the cutter neared shore.

It docked at 9:01 a.m. St. Louis time and Churchill went ashore four minutes later.

Members of his staff said he spent most of his time in his cabin while aboard the Queen Mary and had most of his meals served there.

Conferences were in progress in his quarters almost continuously with members of his party "bouncing in and out," one crewman said.

Churchill saw a moving picture, "Quartet," composed of four short stories by W. Somerset Maugham, during his sea voyage.

The trip, delayed at the beginning by a stuck anchor, was Churchill's eleventh to the United States — some of them fateful meetings with Roosevelt during World War II. His last visit here was in 1949.

Churchill's visit is his sixth since December 1941, when he came to the United States for his first wartime conference with Roosevelt.

The two wartime leaders met here again in June 1942, and in May and September 1943. They also met near Newfoundland, Casablanca, Quebec (twice), Cairo and Yalta during the war.

Truman and Churchill have met three times. Their first meeting was with Stalin at Potsdam in July 1945, but Churchill was voted out of power during that conference.

Churchill came to the United States in March1946 as a private citizen to speak at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., where he made his famous "Iron Curtain" address. He returned in March 1949, to see Truman and to speak at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Airman Sees 11-Week-Old Son for First Time — Daughter, 5, Hands Out Gifts.

GLEN FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 5 (AP) — Two sleepy youngsters early today gave their father, Capt. John J. Swift, the merry Christmas he missed in a Hungarian prison.

The Air Force pilot, who with three companions was "ransomed" by the United States Government last week, arrived home late last night with his wife, Jane Ann. They had been in Syracuse, where Swift's father died Thursday night.

Swift saw their 11-week-old son, David, for the first time. And their 5-year-old daughter, Leslie, was awakened for the family reunion.

Leslie was kind of sleepy. I almost had to coax her a little to look at me," Swift said.

Leslie stepped into Santa Claus' shoes and brought gifts from the Christmas tree to her father.

"I had to keep the tree up so my daddy could see it when he got home," she explained.

Asked how he had spent Chrismas in prison, Swift said he had lost track of the days and didn't realize it was Christmas until the church bells rang.

"Then I thought about Christmas at home," he said.

Mrs. Swift said, "It's almost a miracle. It's hard to realize what has happened since a week ago tonight."

It was then that Swift and his mates were freed by Hungary after the United States paid $120,000 in "fines." Their C-47 transport plane landed in Hungary Nov. 19 after it had flown off course on a routine flight from Germany to Yugoslavia.

After the airmen were released, Swift was flown to the United States. The airman reached Syracuse Monday.

His father, a 65-year-old retired railroad engineer, died of cancer three days later.

SEVERAL REPORTED KILLED IN U.S. PLANE CRASH IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP) — The British Press Association said tonight "several military personnel" are believed to have been killed in the crash landing of a United States Air Force plane at Burtonwood air base near Warrington tonight.

Burtonwood is one of the bomber bases operated by the U.S.A.F. in England.

The Press Association report said the plane made a "crash landing in flames." It did not identify the type of plane.

Churchill Staying at Own Embassy Instead of President's Residence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who always camped at the White House during his wartime visits to Washington, will stay at the British embassy this time.

The 77-year-old statesman is being provided every possible comfort at the embassy, from his favorite brands of whisky and cigars to a heated towel rack in the bathroom.

But somehow it won't be the same as when he strode up and down the second floor of the White House in his bathrobe arguing the great issues of the day with President Roosevelt.

No snub was intended when officials decided to install Churchill at the embassy instead of Blair House with President Truman. But the decision clearly stamped the present talks as far more formal than the famous "pajama conferences" during the war.

At the embassy, the Churchill visit has produced a holiday air.

The staff is readying the finest brand yand whisky, and a special stock of cigars is all set. The embassy refused to reveal brands. It said the news might give the companies an unfair advantage over their competitors.

Churchill, his personal physician Lord Moran and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will set up their headquarters on the embassy's third floor. One aid said Churchill probably will be able to beat his colleagues up the stairs.

An embassy official said "There's always a merry old world atmosphere here when the old man comes to town."

But he added with a wry smile that "there may also be an explosion or two."

U.N. ATTACK GAINS BACK HILLS LOST TO REDS DEC. 28

Infantrymen Wipe Out 'Little Bulge' in West Korea—U.S. Jets Beat Off MIG Raid.

By LEROY HANSEN

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Jan. 5 (UP)—Allied infantrymen wiped out the Communist "little bulge" on the western front today and regained all hilltop positions lost to the Reds Dec. 28.

The Allied G.I.s advanced up the snow-covered slopes behind an artillery barrage which blasted a path for them.

Far to the northwest, 20 American Sabre jets beat off 40 Communist MIG-15 jet fighters trying to break up a raid by other U.N. planes on vital enemy railway lines running from Manchuria to the front.

The airmen awaited the development of gun camera films before making any victory claims in the 20-minute dogfight.

Allied ground forces on the western front jumped off in the pre-dawn darkness west of Korangpo. They dispersed one enemy platoon with the aid of artillery and forced two more at other points to withdraw at least 600 yards.

One of the enemy units fell back only after a four-hour battle. Then it brought up reinforcements in company strength and counterattacked, but was repulsed.

The U.N. attack was believed to have added scores more to the 1057 Communist troops estimated to have been killed in the fighting for the strategic high ground since the Reds captured it Dec. 28.

Successive Allied counter-attacks gradually have driven the Reds back to their old positions.

Battle positions are now almost identical with those of Nov. 27, when U.N. and Red armistice negotiators agreed to a 30-day provisional cease-fire line.

The only other action reported in an Eighth Army communique was a light enemy probing attack which was repulsed north of Punchbowl valley on the eastern front.

An embattled hill position farther west near Mundung valley was firmly in Allied possession after changing hands twice more yesterday. U.N. infantrymen moved up the snow-covered slopes Friday night.

M'FARLAND TO AIM AT SHORT, SWIFT SESSION, HE SAYS

no intention of offering such advice. He said he had not seen the President, and that he assumed the message already was written.

Truman Program.

It is expected that Truman's message will urge again most or all of the Fair Deal program which Congress has treated cooly in past years.

McFarland expressed some doubt about Truman's plan to revamp the Internal Revenue Bureau. This calls for elimination of the present collectors' offices and substitution of 25 regional offices headed by men under civil service. It is to be submitted to Congress as a reorganization plan.

McFarland said he would consider the plan, but would "want to give close study to doing away with the state end" of the internal revenue organization.

"Those of us who come from smaller states like to feel our state is going to have the same consideration as a larger state," he said.

Under the present set-up, almost all states are represented by at least one collector.

CARDINAL SPELLMAN REACHES FORMOSA, WILL MEET CHIANG

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 5 (UP)—Cardinal Francis Spellman arrived here today by plane from Tokyo and was scheduled to meet tomorrow with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The archbishop of New York immediately led Catholics in a prayer for "the peace of justice for all peoples of the world." Hudreds knelt at the airport to kiss his ring.

He paid tribute to Chiang who, he said, "as the great leader of China, has done so much for the Chinese and with whom American people and soldiers have fought against the common enemy for so many years."

Seeks Sobering Color Effect.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Jan. 5 (UP) — Chief of Police George Hovde has ordered the walls of the town drunk tank to be painted battleship gray—and decorated with huge pink elephants and green snakes. Hovde thinks his plan may have a psychological effect.

DEFENSE AGENCY HAS 90 BILLIONS IN UNSPENT FUNDS

Would Not Have to Do Too Much Slashing if Held to 50 Billion, Truman's Top Figure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The defense department still has about 90 billion dollars on hand for spending.

That means the armed forces really would not have to do too much drastic slashing in expansion programs in the next year even if President Truman and Congress grant them no more than 50 billion dollars.

This figure, which compares with almost 60 billion voted for the present year, was described in informed quarters today as the top outlay the chief executive will sanction for national defense in the new budget—barring, of course, an unforseeable emergency.

Summary of Spending.

In answer to a reporter's questions, the department said:

1. The unspent balance of funds appropriated by the last and previous sessions of Congress was approximately 90 billion dollars Jan. 1.

2. The monthly rate of expenditure during the period of October through December was about $3,200,000,000.

3. By the beginning of calendar year 1953 the monthly expenditure rate probably will be about five billion dollars.

The 50 billion budget figure is described as being about what President Truman's advisers outside the Defense Department recommended as the ceiling for military outlay in the next fiscal year. That is the fiscal year 1953, which begins July 1, 1952.

Four Billion a Month.

The Administration's mobilization and economic experts are described as believing an armament expenditure up to about four billion dollars a month might be acceptable. But to pour out money faster than that could produce a grave inflationary hazard, cutting deeply into civilian goods production and spurring still more competitive buying for the scarce goods.

The five-billion-a-month spending rate the department estimates it will reach a year hence apparently will be in the danger zone which the mobilization and economic advisers have marked off.

The 90 billions which the Defense Department now has for spending includes about 80 billions for foreign military assistance programs and other miscellaneous defense items.

A so far undisclosed portion of the money to be provided in the next budget appropriation bill and of the presently unexpended balance of 90 billions will go toward starting on the new goal of 143 wings of Air Force.

The 50-billion ceiling reported to be desired by Truman would not necessarily compel a cutback in the size of the projected force. But it could cause the Air Force to set back, perhaps by another year or more, the target date at which it hopes to attain a 143-wing size, by the end of 1954.

Delay Called Dangerous.

In recent weeks, Air Force officials have contended it could be dangerous to delay a start on the expansion program. They cite the long "lead time" of from a year and a half up to well over two years needed to produce modern jet fighters and bombers after the decision to manufacture them once has been made. The funds available are allocated to existing or currently planned programs. Air Force officials think they need more to get going on the 143-wing program.

They appear to base their argument on intelligence estimates that by 1954 Russia will be prepared, economically, and militarily, to gamble on an all-out war.

The expenditure rate of the Defense Department is governed not by the availability of funds but by the rate in which equipment can be delivered.

Output Short of Aim.

At least part of the 90 billion dollars on hand presumably results from the fact that deliveries of some major weapons—including aircraft and tanks—were not at the rate predicted by more optimistic mobilization officials in the months following outbreak of the Korean war.

Bottlenecks have developed partly from difficulties in rapid increase in jet engine production. Difficulties encountered in turret operation of new tanks have resulted in a slower than expected rate of delivery for those vitally needed weapons.

The upward trend of the monthly spending rate, from the current $3,200,000,000 to five billion, is predicated to considerable extent on expected improved rates of delivery for hardware on order as well as for new orders for planes, tanks, guns and other weapons.

McGrath Insists He Is Keeping Job, But Fails to Allay Doubts

White House Silence on Issue Adds Weight to Reports Attorney General Is on the Way Out.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 — Attorney General J. Howard McGrath said after a Cabinet meeting at the White House yesterday that no change is contemplated in his status in the Truman administration. Later in the day he indicated that, despite rumors to this effect, he has no intention of resigning.

Referring to newspaper stories speculating that he may be dropped from the Cabinet, the former Democratic national chairman and Senator from Rhode Island told reporters on emerging from the Cabinet meeting: "Things are not always what they seem on the surface." He illustrated the point with a funny story about some strange doings in a Russian warehouse.

Regardless of his statements, however, there was a good deal of skepticism in the Capital that they added up to any final and convincing proof that McGrath will long continue in his post as Attorney General at the head of the much-criticized Department of Justice.

White House Silent.

In view of the published reports only a statement from the White House that the President intended to retain McGrath would dispel the doubts. Not only was there no statement, but there was a very stony—almost studied—silence on the subject in the White House, just as there was a brusque no comment by President Truman at his press conference Thursday when he was asked whether he had a letter from McGrath signifying his willingness to resign.

The impression some observers drew from the situation was that the White House, by its continued silence on stories which must have proved embarrassing to McGrath, was using that means to indicate to the Attorney General that the President would not be averse to his resignation.

If this is true, it seemed evident also that McGrath was letting Truman know through his statements to reporters that he had no intention of quitting and thereby seeming an Administration scapegoat for the corruption uncovered in the Government.

Among well informed White House sources there was a sharp difference of opinion as to Truman's intentions. One source who said earlier today that McGrath is "on the way out" said later that he was not now so sure that this was so. Others found it difficult to believe that Truman would dismiss McGrath outright.

McGrath, as national chairman, stood by Truman in the 1948 campaign when many others treated his candidacy as a sinking deck. Furthermore, it is unlikely that McGrath believes that he should step out of the Cabinet over the corruption issue when, say, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, whose department includes the scandal-ridden Bureau of Internal Revenue, remains in.

The story that McGrath told to illustrate the fact that things are not always as they seem on the surface was this:

"Over in Russia they had a big warehouse belonging to the state and were convinced that someone was stealing stuff out of it. So they put a guard on to watch and, sure enough, the first night, out came a fellow with a wheelbarrow load of straw.

"The guard grabbed him and searched the straw, but there wasn't a thing in it, so he let the fellow go. The next night the same man again came out with a load of straw and again nothing was found in it. This went on night after night.

What Are You Stealing?

"Finally one night the guard said to him: 'Look, I'm going to Siberia, thousands of miles away. I've already got my orders. I'm leaving in the morning and I'll never have a chance to report to anybody, so tell me, what are you stealing?

"'Well, as long as you're leaving,' the man said, 'I don't mind telling you I'm stealing wheelbarrows.'"

While reporters agreed the story proved that things are not always as they seem, some of them also wondered whether a stealing story was the wisest choice for McGrath in the circumstances.

SIX ALLIED PLANES DOWNED IN WEEK BY GROUND FIRE IN KOREA; FOUR RED JETS HIT

SEOUL, Jan. 5 (AP).

THE Fifth Air Force announced today that six Allied planes were shot down by Communist ground fire in the last seven days.

Four Communist jet planes were damaged in the same period.

The summary also reported destroyed or damaged 17 Communist tanks, along with three locomotives, 150 box cars and 882 supply vehicles.

The Air Force announced that from now on United Nations aircraft losses would be announced on a weekly basis to give downed pilots a maximum chance of rescue or escape.

ROYAL BIRTH IS DUE WITHIN A MONTH, CAIRO PAPER HINTS

CAIRO, Jan. 5 (AP)—The pro-government newspaper Al Balagh told Egyptians today "the happy event anxiously awaited by the people of Egypt is expected to take place toward the end of this month or early in February."

"May it be a happy augury for Egypt's welfare under the aegis of His Majesty the King," the paper said.

Egyptian censorship blocks any unauthorized mention of the royal family or its activities. But the world outside has been told for months that King Farouk's teen-age bride, Queen Narriman, is expecting a child.

DEWEY WANTS REDS TOLD TO STAY OUT OF SOUTHEAST ASIA

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey urged President Truman's Administration today to warn Communist aggressors immediately to stay out of southeast Asia—"to prevent another Korea."

Speaking at the opening of the United States Military Academy's 150th anniversary celebration, Dewey said that "if we wait until the Red Chinese monster again invades, it may again be too late."

"It is my deepest hope that our civilian leaders will move quickly enough to guarantee the integrity of the crisis area of Indochina and southeast Asia to prevent another Korea there," the twice-defeated Republican presidential candidate said.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 5 (AP)—Harold E. Osro Cobb, Republican state committee chairman, promptly declared that such a primary was "unlikely."

EGYPTIAN MOB KILLS CARETAKER OF COPTIC CHURCH

Body Dragged in Streets and Set Afire, British Say—Tension Reported High in Suez.

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Jan. 5 (AP)—A British army statement said today the caretaker of the Coptic church in the port city of Suez was killed by an Egyptian mob and his body dragged through the streets and set afire yesterday.

The Coptic church is an Egyptian offshoot of the Greek Orthodox Church. Most Egyptians are Mohammedans.

In Cairo, the newspaper Al Balagh said 1000 British soldiers equipped with tanks commanded areas around Suez today and all was quiet. The British used big Centurion tanks yesterday in what they reported was an anti-sniping operation in the Suez area.

The British said two Egyptians, possibly three, were killed in the operations. Egyptian reports said five Egyptians were killed and 24 persons wounded.

Al Balagh, a pro-government newspaper, said tension was high in Suez, southern port terminal of the canal zone, and Egyptian police were ready for any emergency.

Yesterday was the second day of anti-sniper action by the British in the area of a military water filtration plant near the city at the south end of the disputed canal.

The Egyptian report of five killed by the British increased to 107 the Egyptian count of Egyptians killed since the crisis with Britain over the Suez Canal started Oct. 16. The British have announced that 23 of their forces were killed in that period.

LANDLORD GIVEN 15 DAYS IN JAIL AS VICIOUS PROFITEER

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 — Magistrate Frederick L. Strong imposed a 15-day jail sentence yesterday on William McKnight, a landlord who rented apartments in a tenement building declared unfit for human habitation.

Assistant corporation counsel Bernice Rogers told Magistrate Strong that McKnight was "the most vicious type of profiteering landlord." He charged his tenants $50 a month and asked for a month's rent in advance as security. He had moved them in at night to avoid detection, she said.

McKnight, who pleaded guilty, owns the condemned building and disregarded the rulings of the Department of Housing and Buildings. Frank Mohr, an inspector for the department, said he found eight families living there on his last inspection, Dec. 19.

RISE IN ASSETS AT WASHINGTON U., BUT $2,585,380 DEFICIT FOR YEAR

Endowments, Receipts Increase to $57,334,109 —Need for Unrestricted Funds Pointed Out in Report.

Total assets held by Washington University for educational purposes increased from $54,708,609 to $57,334,109 in the year ending last June 30, but the school incurred an operating deficit of $2,585,380 in the same period, it was announced in the annual report made public today.

The deficit represented the difference between expenditures from current funds of $9,941,252 and gross earned income of $7,355,872. To meet this deficit, the University relied on appropriations from endowment income, current gifts and grants and the Sustaining Associates Fund.

Unrestricted Funds Needed.

It was noted again by T. E. Blackwell, vice chancellor and treasurer, that an acute need exists for unrestricted endowments. At the present time, the School of Medicine is the beneficiary of 42.3 per cent of the merged endowment income. As a result, the other 11 schools of the University incurred an operating deficit of $509,471 while the medical school was able to transfer $308,124 from accumulated income to plant funds for additional buildings, he said.

Endowment funds increased by $967,614 during the year to a total of $33,017,577 but by the terms of gifts and bequests, all but $3,739,595 of the endowments are held subject to restriction as to the use of income. Of the latter amount, the income derived from $2,400,000 is presently assigned for the use of the medical school.

Gifts, Grants and Bequests.

Gifts, grants and bequests during the year amounted to $2,197,963. Of these, the major items were $207,960 from the estate of Laura F. Behrens for medical research on virus diseases; $200,000 from the estate of Laura A. Givens to be held until the fund reaches $1,000,000 after which the income is to be used for the relief and cure of blindness and deafness; $425,000 from the United States Public Health Service in aid to construction, and $200,000 from Mr. and Mrs. David P. Wohl for the David P. Wohl Jr. Memorial Hospital.

The total expended for additions to the educational plant, including equipment and library books, was $1,636,575. Book value of the educational plant grew from $19,396,998 to $21,018,956, an increase of $1,621,957 in the period.

Cost of operation of the physical plant, including heat, light, power, insurance, janitors, watchmen, repairs and maintenance, was $847,486. This figure compares with a cost of $720,733 during 1949-50.

Cancer Laboratory Completed.

The Cancer Research Laboratory was completed during the year at a cost of $758,076. Other buildings under construction were the David P. Wohl Jr. Memorial Hospital, Louderman Hall for the use of the department of chemistry of the College of Liberal Arts, the Kappa Sigma fraternity house and Millbrook Building to house the alumni office, press bureau, print shop and photographic shop. The last has since been completed.

Blackwell paid tribute to the Sustaining Associates Fund as "an invaluable source of strength to Washington University." Established in 1939 by friends and alumni of the school, the fund received additions last year of $163,337. Because it is unrestricted as to use, the university drew on it for $365,825 to help meet its operating deficit and borrowed another $42,500 to underwrite construction costs pending receipt of gifts pledged. Balance in the fund on June 30 was $177,410.

PLUMBING DISPUTE SETTLED

Settlement of a wage dispute with one of 13 plumbing supply warehouses where AFL Warehouse and Distribution Workers went on strike last Wednesday, was announced today by the union.

The National Plumbing & Stoker Supply Co. is reported to have signed a contract at the union's terms. Strike pickets have been withdrawn. An agreement was also reported with a previously unorganized firm, Ahrens & McCarron, Inc.

Boy Falls Down Furnace Shaft And Firemen Pry Him Loose

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

CHARLES DAVIS and the hot-air register into which he tumbled.

When Charles Davis, 4 years old, gets mad at a drawer that won't open he simply sets up his pipes and bawls, so when his mother, Mrs. Oral Davis heard him crying in another room yesterday she was inclined to ignore it. But not for long.

Entering the sunroom of their home at 8430 Richard avenue, University City, found that Charles had removed the grate from a furnace shaft, climbed in and managed to get himself securely wedged five feet down. He was most unhappy about his predicament.

Mrs. Davis called the University City police and fire departments. Firemen took the pipe apart and hoisted Charles out.

At St. Louis County Hospital, where Charles was found to have suffered only scratches, he glowered as attendants sought a first-person account of his experience.

"I think he just wants to be alone," Mrs. Davis said.

REPORTS STRIKING OIL IN ILLINOIS ON SEVENTH ATTEMPT

Waller J. McGlasson, who quit business as a barber in Clayton in 1948 to become an oil well driller, announced yesterday that he had made an oil strike near Thompsonville, Ill., after six unsuccessful attempts. Thompsonville is about 110 miles southeast of St. Louis.

The well, reached in the Aux Vases sand formation at a depth of 3134 feet, came in New Year's eve, McGlasson said. It now is being prepared for production. The oil will be transported by pipeline from the well to a refinery at Ashland, Ky.

McGlasson said that each of the seven drilling ventures cost between $30,000 and $33,000. In each instance he has sold stock to persons living in St. Louis and St. Charles county. McGlasson was a barber for 37 years. He became a driller after oil was struck in the back yard of his Thompsonville home.

STORE OWNER SAID TO ADMIT HE SET $100,000 ILLINOIS FIRE

MACOMB, Ill., Jan. 5 (AP)—A dairy store operator, whose business was bad, admitted yesterday that he set the $100,000 fire which swept Prairie City's business district March 29, 1951, State's Attorney Roger W. Hayes said. Margin O. Smith, 35 years old, father of five, was charged with arson. He was held in the McDonough county jail in Macomb.

Hayes said Smith signed a statement that he set the fire to collect insurance on his store, which was leveled in the blaze, because business was bad and he had been unable to sell the store.

Three buildings were destroyed, a fourth was severely damaged, and three families who lived in second-floor apartments in the buildings were routed from their beds. The Prairie City fire chief estimated damage at more than $100,000. No one was injured in the fire. Smith carried one child to safety.

COMPROMISE OFFER ON PLAN TO DROP 2 PENNSY TRAINS

A compromise on the Pennsylvania Railroad's proposal to discontinue two passenger trains between East St. Louis and Martinsville, Ill., was proposed at an Illinois Commerce Commission hearing yesterday at Springfield, Ill.

State Senator Milton Mueller, who represents Greenville, Highland and Collinsville, said he would not oppose discontinuance of trains No. 913 and 926 if the railroad would make Collinsville a stop for its train No. 27 running between New York and St. Louis. The railroad announced it would agree to this proposal.

The railroad, which claims to have lost $5255 in operating the two trains last month, presented witnesses who said Train 913 had no passengers from Dec. 1 to 15 and only three rode No. 926 during the same period.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY TWO CLOTHING ORGANIZATIONS

Samuel Freedman of Paul Sachs Co. was elected president of the Associated Garment Industries, and Joseph Glaser of R. Lowenbaum Co. was elected president of the St. Louis Fashion Creators at a joint meeting of the two organizations, it was announced yesterday.

Other newly elected officers of the Associated Garment Industries include: Carl Glaser Jr. of Carlye, Inc., executive vice president; Samuel C. Klein of Mary Muffet Co., secretary, and Gustav Weinstock of Weinstock Manufacturing Co., treasurer.

New officers of the St. Louis Fashion Creators include: Carl Glaser Jr. of the Carlye Co., chairman of the board of directors; Joseph Carafiol of Alex Carafiol Co., secretary, and Alvin Kessler, of the Daryl Dress Co., treasurer.

MARSHAL WHO GAVE MAYOR A TICKET QUITS IN DISPUTE

City Marshal Clifford Davies of Northwoods, who last fall handed his next-door neighbor, Mayor W. J. Knox, the only traffic ticket issued for failure to buy a city automobile license, has resigned, it was learned today.

The marshal's action in issuing a ticket to the mayor proved futile, because Knox, as city judge, refused to accept the case, which he termed "childish and malicious." Knox subsequently bought a license for $1.50, although contending he was not required to do so since he was driving an automobile owned by the Atlas Tool & Manufacturing Co., for which he is purchasing agent.

Davies, who is employed at the McDonnell Aircraft Corp., would not discuss his resignation in detail today, but indicated the action stemmed from his handing the mayor the traffic ticket. Knox, who pointed out he received the only traffic ticket issued by Davies in two years, said the marshal's resignation followed a request that Davies refund a $5 monthly garage fee for the city's police car.

Knox said Davies parked the car in a driveway, and not inside a garage. The marshal's job, like the mayor's, pays $5 a month salary. Knox expects to appoint a new marshal at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen next Tuesday. Meanwhile, the neighborly relations of the Knox and Davies families, in the 4400 block of June avenue, are somewhat strained.

A.A.APPLE FOUND DEAD IN BED; OFFICER OF AUTO PARTS FIRM

A. A. Apple, vice president of Moog Industries, Inc., was found dead in bed yesterday by George Baumgartner, general superintendent of the company, who said he called the Apple residence several times but could get no response.

He said he then went to the house, at 59 West Sherwood drive, Overland, because he feared something might have happened to Mr. Apple, who had been under treatment for a heart ailment. Mrs. Apple was in Waterford, Wis., visiting friends and relatives at the time of her husband's death.

Mr. Apple, about 53 years old, started his career with Moog Industries, Inc., as a salesman. He had been with the company, which manufactures automotive parts, for 25 years. A coroner's physician said that Mr. Apple apparently died of natural causes and no inquest will be held. In addition to his wife, Mr. Apple is survived by a son, Donald, of Waterford, Wis.

CLUB 88 ON EAST SIDE CLOSED AFTER SHOOTING

Club 88, East Side night club where a man was shot and seriously wounded recently, was closed yesterday on orders of State's Attorney Richard T. Carter of St. Clair county. The operator, Herbert Thomason, has agreed to surrender his liquor license, Carter said.

The club, which is at the intersection of United States Routes 66, 67 and 40 just north of East St. Louis, formerly was headquarters of gambler Vincent (Vic) Doyle. Thomason operated it only as a tavern and night club, however.

Roy Ashby, Murphysboro (Ill.) laborer who was shot while standing at the bar Dec. 30, remained in serious condition at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, today. He was held on bond as a member of an East Side burglary gang. His assailant surrendered after the shooting.

Lincoln U. Curators Named.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 5 (AP)—Three members of the board of curators for Lincoln University for Negroes were reappointed by Gov. Forrest Smith yesterday to six-year terms. They are: Cliff G. Scruggs, Jefferson City; Dr. Joseph D. Elliff, Columbia, and Dr. A. W. Fox, Hannibal.

LEO J. DOUGHERTY OUT OF RACE FOR DEMOCRATIC POST

Won't Seek Re-election as Committeeman, He Tells Leaders — Cites Ill Health.

Leo J. Dougherty, East Side Democratic boss, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election as Democratic state central committeeman from St. Clair and Madison counties, it was learned today.

Dougherty, who has held the key political position for six years, told other party leaders of his decision at a meeting of the East St. Louis Democratic City Central Committee Thursday night. He said that he was stepping down because of ill health and press of private business affairs.

A successor is expected to be decided upon at organization caucuses to be held this weekend. The new committeemen will be selected in the Democratic primary April 8.

A Varied Career.

Dougherty, who is 57 years old, has had a varied career as bootlegger, saloon keeper, city commissioner, business man and a key man in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

His testimony was sought by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee at a closed hearing in St. Louis in July 1950. Committee investigators failed to serve him with a subpena prior to the session, but later he appeared and testified at an executive session in Washington. His testimony never was made public.

When the committee held open hearings here last year Dougherty was in a Chicago hospital. A medical report indicating that he was suffering from a heart condition was introduced at the hearing.

Fined on Liquor Charges.

Dougherty, who lives at 646 North Thirty-third street, East St. Louis, appeared in United States District Court at Springfield, Ill., in March 1928, and was fined $500 on a plea of guilty of possession of bootleg liquor.

He and 17 other persons were indicted by a St. Louis federal grand jury in February 1932 for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws. He later pleaded no contest to the charge and was fined $200.

While operating a saloon in 1935, Dougherty ran for city commissioner in the nonpartisan municipal election and was defeated. The next year he left the Democratic party and was an unsuccessful Republican candidate for trustee of the East Side Levee & Sanitary District.

He was elected to the City Council in 1939 and remained as commissioner of streets until July 1946 when he resigned, giving ill health as his reason. He had jumped back into the Democratic ranks after an unsuccessful attempt to take the East Side Republican leadership away from Boss Dan McGlynn in 1940.

Top Man in Machine.

In an alliance with Police Commissioner John T. English, a Democrat, and Republican Boss McGlynn, Dougherty then became a top man in the City Hall machine. He succeeded the late John J. Hallihan as leader of the St. Clair county Democratic organization in November 1945 when he was appointed state central committeeman. He became head of the party's state finance committee.

The boss has had several brushes with the Internal Revenue Bureau. A $27,064 lien for unpaid income taxes and penalties for 1929, 1930 and 1931 was dismissed in 1940 and Dougherty announced that he had settled the claim for $1400.

The Post-Dispatch revealed in September 1945 that Dougherty had paid $20,000 on unreported income. At that time his salary as street commissioner was $4000 a year.

Indictments Voted, Dismissed.

Indictments for malfeasance in office were voted against him by St. Clair county's two "runaway" grand juries in December 1946 and again in February 1947. They were based on failure of Dougherty and other city officials to act against wide open gambling. All these indictments later were dismissed.

Since leaving the City Council, Dougherty has become interested in a number of business enterprises. He is part owner of the Spivey and Metropolitan office buildings in East St. Louis, the Arcade Garage, an insurance company and the M. & S. Oil & Construction Co., Inc., 1430 Forest boulevard, East St. Louis. He also is said to have other large real estate holdings.

Dougherty Said to Have Furnished $50,000 in Building Deal.

Dougherty furnished $50,000 of the $260,000 purchase price of the Spivey building in 1944 and his wife and three of her relatives put up $160,000, it was testified in depositions given yesterday in a real estate broker's suit for commission on sale of the building.

The broker, William S. Moore of St. Louis, is seeking $8500 which he said he earned when he brought together Dougherty and the General American Life Insurance Co., defendant and former owner of the building. The sale was made through another broker and title was taken by James F. O'Boyle, St. Louis insurance broker, who next day entered a trust agreement with an East St. Louis bank, for the purpose, it was alleged of concealing Dougherty's interest.

EX-BUS DRIVER DIES ON BUS

Christian Martin, 66 years old, collapsed and died on a Gravois bus yesterday as the vehicle was traveling near Grand boulevard and Wilmington avenue.

Martin, who lived with his wife, Mrs. Ella Martin, at 6417 Idaho avenue, was a retired Public Service Co. bus driver.

NAPIER PRESENTS NEW CHALLENGE TO SEATING OF HESS

Attack Centers on 'Voting Address' as Opposed to Actual Residence of Senator.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 5—A new attack on the right of a state Senator to serve if he has only a "voting address" instead of an actual residence in the district he represents, was being mulled over by a special Senate committee as it resumed hearings today in the Hess-Napier election contest.

The new argument was presented to the committee yesterday by former state Senator Milton F. Napier (Rep.), who has challenged the right of Senator David A. Hess (Dem.), to represent the Second Senatorial District in St. Louis.

Napier, who was defeated by Hess in the 1950 election by 713 votes, on the basis of official returns, contended Hess is not an actual resident of the second district, and was therefore ineligible to take his Senate seat in January 1951.

Napier's Charge.

He charged that the Democratic Senator does not live in the second district at 3985 Meramec street, the home of Hess's cousin, police Sgt. Edmond F. Duther, but merely uses it as a voting address. Hess, he said, actually lives with his family at 5245 Kingwood drive. This is in the First Senatorial District, represented by Democratic Senator Robert Pentland.

Hess readily admitted to the committee that he uses both addresses. But he contended that the Meramec street address is his "legal residence."

The Democratic Senator cited several Missouri Supreme Court decisions holding, he said, that residence is a matter of intention. This has been the policy of the Senate whenever the issue of residence has been raised, and, it is reported, several other Democratic Senators from St. Louis maintain dual residences, one in their district and another outside of their district.

New Legal Attack.

But Napier, an attorney, came up with a new legal atack on that theory. He contended that cases cited involved the question of a "voting address" and did not cover the question of whether a candidate was a legal resident of the district he sought to represent.

The Republican contestant cited the statutory definition of "place of residence," which he said governs the law requiring a state Senator to be a resident of the district for at least one year preceding his election.

The statutory definition is that "place of residence means the place where the family of any person shall permanently reside in this state, and the place where any person having no family shall generally lodge."

Basis of Argument.

It was Napier's argument that since Hess's wife, four children and his mother live at the Kingwood drive residence, outside of the second district, that was the Democratic Senator's legal residence, and therefore he was not entitled to his seat in the Senate.

Senator Floyd R. Gibson (Dem.) of Independence, chairman of the contest committee, pointed out that it had been the generally accepted theory that residence was a matter of intention. He said the committee would study Napier's argument, but would not rule on it until all members were present. Only three of the five members of the group are attending the hearings.

Napier consumed most of the hearing laboriously reading from the transcript of depositions taken in St. Louis in December 1950 and January 1951 in connection with his contest petition. He stressed points in the testimony of Hess and his wife, which fixed the family residence outside the district.

Hess Flares Up.

Hess, who is not an attorney and was not represented by counsel, frequently objected to statements by his Republican opponent. He flared up heatedly at one point, after Napier told the committee that Hess and his wife named different banks when asked where the family did its banking.

After explaining that he and his wife had joint accounts in two banks, Hess turned to Napier and shouted: "Are you trying to make out that my wife is a liar? You're just doing that to needle me. You just want to keep needling me."

Saying, "I better move away," the irate Hess left his seat near Napier at the committee table and walked off to a spectator's bench and sat down. He stayed there until the hearing was nearly over.

Napier's contest had been lying dormant in the Senate nearly a year. It was reopened last month after Hess came under fire of Senate leaders because of his alleged misconduct in the handling of bills.

BARTENDER AND 3 CUSTOMERS HELD-UP, ROBBER TAKES $171

The bartender and three customers in a tavern at 195 Barracks road, St. Louis county, were held up last night by an armed man who escaped with $171 from the cash register, the St. Louis county sheriff's office reported.

Vern Beasley, 113 East Holden avenue, Lemay, bartender, said the robber entered the tavern about 7:15 p.m. He was armed with a .22-caliber rifle and wore a handkerchief over the lower part of his face.

Handing Beasley a small canvas big, he ordered the bartender to put the money from the cash register into it, then forced the bartender and three customers to go into a back room before he fled.

'MINK' COAT HITS NEW LOW HERE, IS SOLD FOR $50

The price of mink coats, which have lost some of their glamor as the result of current disclosures of corruption in government, plunged to a record low in the public administrator's office yesterday when one garment was sold for $50 in disposing of an estate.

Administrator Thomas M. Brady isn't too sure that it is mink, but that's the way he listed it in an inventory of the $8754 estate of Miss Pearl Mary O'Donnell, 4509A Natural Bridge avenue, who died Nov. 3, leaving no heirs. He took the fur piece to appraisers, who sniffed at it disdainfully and refused to make worth-while bids.

When a woman spotted the weatherbeaten fur piece in the administrator's office and laid $50 on the line. Brady snapped up the offer. He expressed the opinion the coat was good only for dissection into collars or something.

HERSCHEL YOUNG SURRENDERS, ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Herschel Young surrendered today and pleaded not guilty to a perjury indictment growing out of an investigation of "favoritism and influence" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Young, accompanied by a professional bondsman but without counsel, entered his plea before Chief Judge Bolitha J. Laws in United States District Court. He was the third of four persons indicted last month on perjury charges to surrender and post $1000 bond.

Still to be arraigned is E. Merl Young, brother of Herschel. Merl is a former RFC examiner and a key figure in the investigation.

The Young brothers and a Washington attorney, Joseph H. Rosenbaum, failed to show up yesterday morning when they were to have appeared in court to answer the charges against them. Rosenbaum came in two hours later, however, and entered a plea of not guilty.

DR. W. S. CARLSON TO HEAD NEW YORK STATE UNIVERSITY

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—Dr. William Samuel Carlson, 46 years old, president of the University of Vermont, has been named president of the State University of New York, Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, chairman of the university's board of trustees, announced yesterday.

Dr. Carlson will take office April 1 as the second president of the university. He succeeds Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, who resigned the $19,000-a-year post Sept. 1 to become vice president in charge of the Ford Fund for the advancement of education. Charles Garside, a trustee, has been serving as acting president.

Dr. Carmichael has been president at Vermont since October 1950, after a four-year tenure as president of the University of Delaware. He is a geologist, an Arctic explorer and an author.

PLANE DROPS AN ENGINE, 4 MEN MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPE

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 5 (AP)—Four Air Force men, en route home from Korea, miraculously escaped death yesterday when their twin-engine military plane crashed near Hachita, N.M., after dropping an engine. The plane, a C-119, commonly known as the Flying Boxcar or packet plane, was damaged beyond repair.

One of the four airmen, en route from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Nashville, Tenn., was injured. He is T. Sgt. Bob L. Molsbee, Nashville.

The other men aboard the plane were Lt. Thomas E. Shaefmaster, pilot, Coldwater, Mich.; Lt. John K. Campbell, co-pilot, Knoxville, Tenn., and S. Sgt. F. R. Minns, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

DRIVER FATALLY HURT WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Car Dragged Half Mile After Collision With Burlington Zephyr.

William J. C. Young, 73 years old, was killed this morning when the northbound Burlington Zephyr passenger train struck an automobile he was driving at Twillmann lane in Spanish Lake.

The engineer, Homer Fox of Hannibal, Mo., told Deputy Constable Richard Law that the streamlined train was traveling 62 miles an hour as it approached the crossing, which is not equipped with electric warning signals. Fox said he blew the whistle but the automobile proceeded onto the track.

Young, a handyman on the farm of Mrs. Catherine Twillmann, on Twillmann lane, was driving an automobile owned by Miss Norma Twillmann, a daughter of Mrs. Twillmann. The machine was dragged a half-mile before the train came to a halt.

The accident delayed the train, bound for Burlington, Ia., one hour and 15 minutes.

THE REV. M. M. WOLFF DIES, FORMER ST. LOUIS PASTOR

The Rev. M. M. Wolff, former pastor of the Kingshighway Methodist Church, died of cancer last night at his home in Kansas City after an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be tomorrow afternoon at the Wesley Methodist Church in Kansas City, of which he was pastor at the time of his death. A second funeral service will be held at the Kingshighway Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon.

The Rev. Mr. Wolff, 66 years old, was pastor of the Kingshighway Methodist Church at 900 Bellerive boulevard for five years, and during his pastorate here the present church was built. He left in 1928 to take a pastorate at Joplin. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Iva Wolff; two sons, George Wolff of Joplin and Thomas Wolff of Long Island, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. Robert T. Ecoff, 1932 McCausland avenue, and a brother, Marcus A. Wolff, Newark, N.J.

KIN OF MATISSE SEEK TO GET BACK WORKS REPORTED IN U.S.

PARIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—A daughter and son-in-law of painter Henri Matisse have started legal proceedings in an attempt to recover 90 Matisse engravings and etchings now reported in the New York Museum of Modern Art.

The pictures were said to have formed part of a collection of 195 which Marguerite Matisse, now Mrs. Georges Duthuit, placed as security for a loan of 20,000 francs in 1936.

Baroness Catherine d'Erlanger, to whom they were given as security for the loan, left them in her Paris apartment when she made a trip to the United States and her daughter removed some of the pictures to her villa in southern France, after which they passed through various hands before being sold in New York, the Duthuits allege.

BANK TELLER SAID TO ADMIT $17,420 EMBEZZLEMENT

Security National Employe Tells Officials He Lost Money at Race Track.

Lester Curless, a teller at Security National Bank Savings & Trust Co., 312 North Eighth street, was arraigned today before United States Commissioner Edwin J. Bean on a charge of embezzling $17,420 of the bank's funds. Bond was set at $2000.

Curless, arrested last night by federal agents at his home, 1412A Benton street, is reported to have readily admitted he took the money, which he said he lost in the last two years betting on horse races at Fairmount Park. He was a steady loser at the track, which has night races, and bet $50 or more on each visit, he related.

In a statement to Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, the teller, who has been with the bank 22 years, said he began taking money two years ago and originally covered the thefts by manipulating his cash statements. Subsequently he wrote withdrawal slips, ranging from $100 to $4800, on customers' accounts to cover the money he bet at the race track, agents reported.

The embezzlement was discovered through an investigation, which followed a customer's inquiry concerning a withdrawal. Bank officials were described as "shocked and surprised" on learning of the embezzlement. Curless, 42 years old, lives with his wife and two sons, 19 and 11 years old.

ST. LOUIS ROOFER IS KILLED IN FALL AT JOB NEAR DETROIT

Leo P. Duggan, a slate tile roofer, and former soccer player, was killed yesterday when he fell 55 feet from the roof of a new Ford Motor Co. plant under construction near Detroit. Witnesses said he was inspecting the job when he plunged through a shaft.

Duggan was 37 years old and was known in the slate tile roofing trade as "Monk" because of his agility in getting around on construction jobs. He lived with his family at 1420A East De Soto avenue.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jean Duggan; three children, Kevin, 7 years old; Jean Marie, 5, and Michael, 3; his mother, Mrs. Nellie M. Duggan; three sisters and four brothers, including the Rev. Vincent Duggan, pastor of Assumption Catholic Church, Ninth and Sidney streets. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, 2001 East Linton street.

CHEMICAL GROUP TO INSTALL ITS FIRST WOMAN CHAIRMAN

Dr. D. S. LeBeau will become the first woman chairman of the St. Louis section, American Chemical Society, when she takes office Monday at 8 p.m. at the society's meeting at the Sheraton Hotel. She is research director at Midwest Rubber Reclaiming Co. in East St. Louis.

The A. H. Winheim Memorial Award will be presented at the meeting to Lester H. Krone Jr., 9200 Halls Ferry road, Jennings, a senior chemical engineering student at Washington University. He was chosen for the award by the university's chemical engineering department.

J. R. Darby, retiring section chairman, will discuss "Plasticizers and their Stabilizers."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The name and address of the writer must accompany every letter, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words receive preference.

From the Highway Patrol

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It was with a great deal of surprise and regret that I read in your newspaper of Dec. 17, in "Letters from the People," a letter titled "A Law Officer's View," which in substance criticizes the action of Judge Aronson in his release of two ex-convicts, supposedly because the arrest was made before the crime was reported.

The regulations of this department prohibit any member criticizing a decision rendered by the court. It is not my desire or intent to suppress freedom of speech, or intimidate any member of this department, but the signature "A Missouri Trooper" somewhat lends an official endorsement by this department, which I assure you is not true.

If a member of this department chooses to criticize an individual as a personal issue I feel that the patrol would not be responsible for his conduct, but when he identifies himself with the organization he no longer acts as an individual and it is definitely of concern to the department as a whole.

Frankly, I was surprised that your policy would permit such a signature on a letter when by no stretch of imagination did it have my approval or that of any other responsible official in the organization.

Of course we have no way of knowing that the individual who wrote you and signed "A Missouri Trooper" was actually a member of the Patrol, inasmuch as you have refused to reveal to us the name of the person who wrote you. We can only assume that before printing the letter you exercised good judgment in actually determining that the writer was a member of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

On this assumption I publicly apologize to Judge Aronson for the poor tact and unjustified criticism of his decision by a member of this organization.

I hope that you will see fit to print this and help to right the wrong that has been done Judge Aronson.

DAVID E. HARRISON,
Superintendent Missouri State Highway Patrol, Jefferson City.

Daly vs. Lewis

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have read your editorial, "Daly vs. Lewis," on the State's Attorney's race in Madison county, and am truly amazed at the short memory of the author of this editorial.

The record of Austin Lewis is one of which any half-way-honest public official should be thoroughly ashamed; so I am not in any way trying to defend him. However, when we speak of the record of Anthony Daly as he sat on the bench in Edwardsville, we should not overlook the year he served as county judge after Judge Jesse L. Simpson was elected to the Supreme Court of Illinois.

It was at this time that the system of periodic fines reached its most lucrative peak, and Judge Daly's court was one of the fixtures in that system. Not once did the then Judge Daly use his court's discretion and investigate and introduce evidence to back up the lip-service rendered against the first-offense system off the bench.

Nor did he ever reserve sentence and direct the State's Attorney to present evidence proving these gambling joint operators to be repeat violators.

A scanning of the recent novel, "Eagle on the Coin," a modern social study of Alton, may reveal a few questions which will encourage you to look before you leap onto the Daly bandwagon.

Hoover's Farm Plan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your editorial "Capper and the Farm Bloc" contains the rawest misstatement I have ever seen on your editorial page.

You say: "Under Coolidge and Hoover the Republicans did as little for farm relief as they dared. They were in favor of tariff subsidies for business but not price subsidies to farmers."

Our present farm price support plan is not a New Deal project. It was first put into effect by President Hoover. He called a special session of Congress on April 15, 1929, to pass the Agricultural Marketing Act of June 15, 1929. He asked for and got a half-billion-dollar appropriation to buy surplus agricultural products. The plan that he put into effect is substantially the same plan that we are using today.

From 1922 on, the Republicans were considering farm relief measures. Several national conferences of farm leaders were called by Coolidge and Hoover, and a number of measures were considered. Among them were the export debenture plan, the voluntary allotment plan and the McNary-Haugen Act. The McNary-Haugen Act was passed by a Republican Congress. It was vetoed by Coolidge, not because he opposed subsidies to farmers but because he did not believe that a workable program had been developed.

Hoover campaigned on a farm subsidy program, which he put into effect as soon as possible after the election. The program collapsed in December 1932, along with just about everything else in the world. But the basic principles of Hoover's measure were embodied in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933.

Whether this program would survive several years of normalcy remains to be seen. Three severe nation-wide drouths in the 30s and two wars have perhaps kept us from having a showdown. But whether the farm price support program is good or bad, Herbert Hoover did more than anyone else to develop it.

An Ear to the Valley

An independent commission on the Missouri Valley, which President Truman has now announced he will set up, is exactly what is needed. As we said last July in the wake of the nation's most disastrous flood, in Missouri and Kansas: "The Post-Dispatch believes a serious responsibility rests on Congress to send an investigating committee to the Missouri Valley. . . . This should be a truly independent committee (determined) to give the Missouri Valley the best that modern technical skill can provide."

When Congress failed for a protracted length of time to discharge this responsibility, the President acted on his own authority, largely at the instance of Senator Hennings of Missouri, whose resolution to the same effect had gotten nowhere. Mr. Truman now has under consideration the selection of three Senators, three Representatives and five public members who will compose the commission.

A great deal will depend on the kind of individuals chosen for these 11 posts. They should be persons who will approach the task, not to confirm their preconceived ideas, but to listen, inquire and learn with an open mind, and to be guided by what they find out.

• • •

In the nearly eight years during which the method of developing the Missouri Valley has been a burning national issue, Congress has never once really tried to learn the issues involved and form a reasoned conclusion, incredible as it may seem.

Two hearings were held in the Senate in 1945, but both were headed by the late Senator Overton of Louisiana and only served to publicize his bias. It is long since time that Congress and the people of the United States took a long look at the Missouri Valley, not to prove something, but to learn something.

For even the best-manned commission to be successful, it will have to devise methods for sounding out genuinely popular opinion in the valley. The public hearings will mean little if they consist merely of pre-fabricated opinion brought forward by organized groups to parrot their official positions. It would be all too easy for the hearings to degenerate into a sort of formal ritual, with the Mississippi Valley Association presenting witnesses for the Interagency Plan, the National Farmers Union for an MVA, and the Izaak Walton League rounding up sentiment against all high dams anywhere, indiscriminately.

No one needs to inquire where these and other organizations stand. What Congress and the President need to know is what the unorganized and frequently unheard-from people of the Missouri Valley think—not the kind of opinion expressed in convention resolutions, but the kind expressed at a ballot box. We trust that the Missouri Valley investigating commission will dedicate itself earnestly to bringing submerged opinion to the surface, and giving it effectiveness.

• • •

Out of the mass of facts and opinions it will have to consider, we hope the commission will be able to evolve a unified method of planning, construction and operation that will find acceptance in Congress, among the state governments, and with the people.

Perhaps this result will be most likely if in the commission itself there are represented all the points of view that will have to be reconciled in order to receive that breadth of acceptance. President Truman will doubtless wish to keep that objective in mind in making his selections.

The commission will have none too long to do its work. It will be under orders to place its report in the hands of the President by next Jan. 3. For a problem of the present magnitude, a year in which to organize, function and report may be enough only if the time is utilized to the utmost.

The 11 appointees who are yet to be announced by the President will bear a responsibility such as few receive the opportunity to bear. What they do—or do not do—will affect for generations to come the health and strength of one-fifth of the nation. May they carry that responsibility without prejudice, without partisanship—with the determination to learn the facts and the courage to be guided by them.

Why Close at Night?

Nearly every year the Board of Aldermen gets a bill to close down filling stations at night, and this year's measure merits the same fate as the others which have been forgotten. A Chamber of Commerce committee points out that the bill would cost the city $400,000 a year in gasoline tax revenue and would discourage tourists, but there are still other objections to it.

The measure backed by the Associated Petroleum Retailers would require gas stations to close at 7 p.m. five days a week, at 9 p.m. Fridays and 1 p.m. Sundays. No doubt the smaller stations want this, but such an ordinance would not help motorists who want gasoline—and autos and trucks do not stop running at 7 p.m.

Moreover, the bill is a plain effort to restrict competition by law in a way that would be suspect if it were done by private agreement. And competition ought to be as good for filling stations as for any other business.

Food's Bite on the Budget

The Department of Agriculture has developed some convincing statistics to prove that the average American's food budget, while larger than it used to be, still represents a smaller proportion of his "disposable income," which means income after federal income taxes.

Convincing as the statistics are, we venture the guess that a great many people will remain unconvinced. For in the first place nobody quite matches the statistical average on which these figures are based, and in the second place "disposable income" is an elastic term which varies for each individual.

For statistical purposes, "disposable income" after income taxes is a fair enough measure of total consumer purchasing power. But the unvarnished reality of daily living differs from the statistics.

What income a family has left to "dispose of" depends not only on federal income taxes but on a lot of other unavoidable deductions as well. Usually it pays a sales tax, sometimes a state income tax, often a local property tax. Insurance premiums and school expenses, doctor bills, utility bills, the cost of transportation—these and other relatively fixed items, even when held to a minimum, represent just as effective a reduction of "disposable income," in the flesh, as federal income taxes. And of course the inflation has carried the cost of many of these items up along with the cost of food.

Most people would doubt very much that the cost of food now represents a smaller share of what might be called "effectively disposable income" than it did four years ago. The Department of Agriculture statistics are no doubt sound as statistics, but they do not tell the whole story.

Mr. Vishinsky's Assist

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky must have felt pretty confident that the United Nations would not take him up on his proposal that the Security Council seek an armistice in Korea. For if the Security Council did intervene, Communist China would have no voice in its decisions while Chiang Kai-shek's rump China would have not only a voice but a veto.

Since it is inconceivable that the Russians would tolerate such a situation if they were seriously interested in a Korean settlement by the Security Council, Mr. Vishinsky's resolution must be regarded as just another attempt to recapture the peace propaganda initiative which Secretary Acheson snatched from him by proposing disarmament.

As the American delegation said in opposing the Soviet resolution, the place for truce negotiations remains where they are now going on—in Korea, the negotiators being the representatives of the forces actually fighting.

Mr. Vishinsky might have made his resolution much more difficult to reject if he had confined it to the simple call for a Security Council session, at which principal members would be represented by chiefs of state or foreign ministers, to discuss measures for easing world tension and establishing friendly relations between countries.

Secretary General Trygve Lie has made substantially the same proposal before, and the idea of high-level negotiation by the big powers is supported by many U.N. members, including some of the big powers themselves—notably Britain and France.

In theory, American policy supports all forms of negotiation for peace, but in practice our policy has been to avoid high-level negotiation of the sort here proposed. Yet it would be embarrassing to say so by opposing outright such a Security Council meeting if it did not involve Korea and did not involve repudiation of the Assembly's collective measures plan.

Following his usual practice of making things easy for his opponents, Mr. Vishinsky has given American policy an assist by wrapping his "peace session" plan in unacceptable conditions which will probably assure its defeat. Perhaps that is exactly what he meant to do.

Congressman Vursell Reports

Congressman Vursell of the Twenty-fourth Illinois District could hardly have been more prompt in putting himself on record after the appearance of our editorial, "Something Missing."

We took note of his New Year program for Congress and pointed out that his seven points did not include passage of legislation to put teeth in the federal mine safety code. Mr. Vursell called up forthwith from Salem, Ill., and said that the Centralia and West Frankfort tragedies "must be answered by Congress with corrective legislation as soon as possible when Congress convenes." He said the record of deaths by mine disasters showed that "state inspection is not sufficient and cannot be depended upon."

This is as straightforward as it can be. If all the Democrats in the House and Senate would take as plain a stand as this Southern Illinois Republican, the Price-Neely mine safety bills would soon be on the President's desk.

Good-Will Also Counts

Reports from New Delhi indicate that further help has been promised to India by the United States. And Washington reports that the help probably will take the form of a $54,000,000 development program under the Mutual Security Act.

That may not be much money, considering the size of the sums which pass between nations nowadays. But it is considerably more substantial than the $1,500,000 allotted to India under the Point Four program.

More important, however, is the spirit in which the help will be forthcoming. The long wrangle over grain to counteract India's famine squeezed most of the good-will out of that aid. And now it seems that the new grant is to be made only on the ground that it may help to prevent India from being influenced by the Chinese and Russian Communists.

Certainly, the United States does not want to see India go down the Red road. But can that really be prevented by a crass effort to buy India's good-will, by a kind of bribe? Would it not be much more helpful if Washington gave the impression that the American people are interested in the Indian people, that they have sympathy for them, and that they want to see them improve their lot?

Most Americans really do feel that way. They are friendly rather than only calculating, only trying to buy protection against the Red menace. So it is to be hoped that Congress will let a little of this feeling shine out into the world.

Surprise, Doctor!

The office mail has brought a request from The Townsend Plan Incorporated for a donation ($100, "or even $5") to help out with a surprise birthday party for Dr. Francis E. Townsend, who will be 85 on Jan. 13. It seems auspicious in a way that the originator of the once-famed Townsend old-age pension plan should have come so well beyond pensionable age himself, and still be capable of surprise.

Veterans of the Late Depression, as most Americans still are, will remember Dr. Townsend's plan to pay $200-a-month pensions to those who retired at 60 years. He proposed raising the money in various ways, centering on a 2 per cent "transactions" tax. The Twentieth Century Fund quickly estimated that the tax would raise four billions a year but even that sum could pay for only a sixth of the proposed pensions.

But the year was 1934, and a good year it was for social schemes. Dr. Townsend claimed millions of followers. He allied his movement with the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice, and with Huey Long's Share-the-Wealth drive, later led by the rabble-rousing Gerald L. K. Smith. But within two years dissension among the dubious allies, a little more prosperity and the reforms of the New Deal brought all the fat sparks to a fizzle—though some old folks clung to the Townsend dream, and do still.

So the greetings from the Townsendites bring back enough memories to justify a greeting in return, but not $100, or even $5. Happy birthday, Dr. Townsend. Also, surprise!

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Coal for a Furnace

Shoveling Franklin county coal into furnace Christmas eve, Wisconsin editor thought of West Frankfort tragedy and his own days in mines; repeated disasters are forgotten and will be until labor demands safety laws; no precautions are too expensive if they save life.

Loren Norman, Editor, in Racine Labor

A little bit of me died Christmas eve.

I wept a little as I shoveled coal into my furnace.

For it was Franklin county coal, and—many of the men who mined it were dead, killed in the explosion and fire which swept Orient No. 2 mine at West Frankfort a few days before Christmas.

Many of the men who died there never had a chance in life—or in death. Few of them had a chance at education, many were forced to enter the pits as soon as they were old enough in order to help the family earn a living. Once in, they were never able to break the fetters that the need for money places on people.

Few of them knew the joys of art or music or drama or fine literature. They were just honest, sincere, hard-working people. And they deserved of life a lot more than they got.

The federal mine inspector says it was an "absolutely avoidable accident." Since Congress has never put teeth in the federal mine laws, the inspector's recommendations apparently had not been followed.

A company spokesman says the recommendations were things that are not absolute, that you can argue about, that are "debatable." But there's no debate about the 119 miners. They're dead.

I get hot about these things because I used to work down there in the mines. And I would be there yet had it not been for a peculiar chain of circumstances.

So a little of me dies every time I hear of a mine disaster. I want to hit somebody or do something to stop this waste of human beings. "There but for the grace of God go I."

So there will be a hue and cry just as there was about the Centralia disaster a few years ago. There will be an investigation. But then things will die down and it will be forgotten. Forgotten, unless the labor movement rises up to demand the utmost in mine safety. Stands as one man behind the United Mine Workers to insist that everything possible be done to protect the miners' lives.

No safety precaution is too expensive—when 119 men might be saved if it is used.

The New Idea of Age

From The Peoria Journal

Advancements in medical science which have prolonged the life expectation of Americans and also their years of profitable productivity are beginning to have an effect on the long-established concepts of what constitutes old age.

It has been customary to consider 65 years the retirement age. Many companies and public bodies have established compulsory retirement schedules which call for workers reaching a certain age, 65 or 70, to retire from their posts, regardless of their abilities. In numerous cases this has caused the loss of valuable employes who still could contribute much to the welfare of the organization they were forced to leave.

There are many persons who aren't ready to retire at the age of 65. They still are sound of mind and body and need some job in which they can work off their energy. To sentence them to idleness merely because they have reached a certain age is dangerous as well as unjust. Enforced idleness has caused the deterioration of many a person who still would be happy and active if he had something to do.

Even the Government, which set up the arbitrary age of 65 for retirement when it established the social security system, is changing its mind about its ideas of the proper time for retirement. Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin asserted recently, "A worker's age ought not to be measured by years, but by his health and alertness and efficiency. Many a man at 65 can work harder and better than a man of 40. It's not the age that counts. It's the man."

That is a sound and sensible statement and one with which many persons who still are able to do a good day's work, even though they are up in years, will agree. Many already have taken the question of compulsory retirement into their own hands and are continuing to work after reaching the age of 65. A million and a quarter workers who are past 65 are still paying into the old-age and survivors insurance fund.

The idea that everybody should retire upon reaching 65 has had a far-reaching effect. It not only has put a lot of good people on the shelf before they should have been, it has made it difficult for people past 40 to find new jobs. Employers just don't want to hire people who may be with them only a few years, regardless of their capabilities.

A revision of our thinking about retirement age is in order. We can get much benefit from judging people on their ability rather than on their age.

A Shabby Partisan Game

From The Milwaukee Journal

Now it is the Missouri Legislature that has made a joke of the simple right of citizens to be fairly and equally represented. It is another disgraceful episode in the history of redistricting by political bodies with purely partisan motives.

Missouri can elect only 11 Representatives to Congress beginning in 1952. It now has 13, of whom 10 are Democrats. Democratic majorities in the Legislature have passed a redistricting bill that apparently would assure their party of retaining nine seats. A Republican parliamentary trick has prevented its being signed into law.

If the deadlock is not quickly broken, all 11 Congressmen will have to be elected by the state at large. Then, whichever party carries the state for President—and it is not a sure thing for the Democrats—likely will capture the entire delegation.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch criticizes both political parties in this affair. The Democrats were about to get by with a partisan Democratic bill; the Republicans had no higher motive in outsmarting them. Neither party, says the Post-Dispatch, is interested in the only proper goal—fair representation from equal, compact districts throughout the state.

Missouri's exhibition of crass disregard for the fundamental right of citizens is not exceptional. It is being paralleled all over the country, in the making of legislative as well as congressional districts. It will continue, and grow worse, as long as the mass of citizens remains submissive to being pushed about as pawns in this shabby partisan game.

Between Book Ends

American Passion and Struggle

CHOSEN COUNTRY, by John Dos Passos. (Houghton, Mifflin, 485 pgs., $4.)

It is good news that Dos Passos, after years of indirection, seems at last to have recovered his strength and purposefulness as a novelist. However, "Chosen Country" is not a masterpiece of social disintegration comparable with the books that went into "U.S.A."

It is always easier for a writer to break down than build up, and this love story of Jay Pignatelli and his Lulie—a story of two ordinary, decent persons and the marriage they made—could not have come easily to such a practiced delineator of moral decay. "Chosen Country" marks, indeed, a new stage in the development of Dos Passos from a novelist of protest to one of affirmation. It has been a long time coming, but he seems to be over the hump at last.

In essence, the story is a simple one—a romance between a man and a woman made for each other. But in order to tell it, Dos Passos has dug back into their ancestral beginnings across the ocean, which in turn meant telling something of the American story itself. Events, characters, backgrounds are presented with that familiar wealth of detail that is at once passionate and documentary.

John Dos Passos

This is, of course, a Dos Passos hallmark, but his customary detachment in this book is for once less than clinical. The difference now is that the people in "Chosen Country" are not, as in the trilogies, mere appendages of a crumbling society, but free-thinking human beings in their own right.

In a word, Dos Passos has come to understand the American tradition he was once thought to despise. It is that tradition, that American way, which is the real hero of this rich, vibrant, always engrossing novel. On every page you find that sure touch, that feeling for people and places, that uncanny ear for talk. The old sensory magic is here, but set against a hopefulless that never was in Dos Passos before.

This novelist, one of our finest now writing, has come a long way from the old trail-blazing days of Newsreel and Camera Eye, when tearing down idols was a popular pastime. Dos Passos has stopped to look about him, and what he has found is immensely good. A heartening book.

A Harvest of Pulpit Stories

THE PULPIT TREASURY OF WIT AND HUMOR, by Israel H. Weisfeld. (Prentice-Hall, Inc., 182 pgs., $2.50).

The rabbi of the largest Jewish congregation in Dallas has gathered a lot of good stories in his years as a pulpit orator and public speaker. For this book he selected more than 400 anecdotes and jokes on religious and denominational themes for clergymen of varied faiths, public speakers, writers, church workers, club leaders and others.

A sample is the story of the rival churches which faced each other. The competition was lively and when one church advertised the Sunday sermon would be on the subject "There Is No Hell!", the church opposite promptly emblazoned the sermon topic, "The Hell There Ain't!"

First Days in a Colt's Life

THE FOALING BARN, by Elizabeth Flannery. (A. S. Barnes & Co., 30 pgs., $2.)

Any youngster who likes animals, particularly horses, should enjoy this story of the first few days of a colt's life. The story is told and illustrated accurately as the author has for years managed the Cockade Farms Thoroughbred Nursery in Maryland and her husband, who illustrated the book, is an artist and a designer of fine printing.

ACHESON BRANDS SOVIET TRUCE BID IN U.N. AS BAIT TO UNDO PROGRESS

Secretary Says Transfer of Korea Talks Would Be Disastrous and That U.S. Will Vote Against Proposal.

By WALLACE R. DEUEL
Diplomatic Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5—Transferring the Korean truce talks to the United Nations Security Council, as proposed by the Soviet Union, would be disastrous and the United States will vote against such action, Secretary of State Dean Acheson said at a news conference late yesterday.

The real purpose of the Russian proposal is not to expedite the truce negotiations, Acheson declared, but to undo progress already made by the U.N. in two important respects — the setting up of the Collective Measures Committee and the partial agreement reached in the armistice discussions now proceeding at Panmunjom.

The Soviet proposal was put forward in a surprise move by Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky Thursday. At the same time, Vishinsky called for negotiations in the Security Council for the purpose of relaxing international tension on other issues.

Soviet Obstruction Cited.

This appeal for general discussions is only bait, Acheson said yesterday. Bitter experience has shown that the Russians will not negotiate in good faith for a relaxation of tensions.

The free world has tried repeatedly to negotiate with the Russians, both in the U.N. and elsewhere, and has been balked by Soviet intransigence and obstruction, the Secretary declared.

Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik created the worst deadlock in the Security Council last year that the U.N. has ever experienced, Acheson went on, and the Western powers tried for 17 weeks last summer to reach an agreement with the Soviets at Paris, but were unable to do so because of the Kremlin's obstructionism.

Slow but steady progress is being made in the armistice negotiations at Panmunjom, on the other hand, Acheson said.

Scorn for Stalin Message.

He also spoke scornfully of a "cordial" New Year's message which Soviet Prime Minister Joseph Stalin sent to the people of Japan.

It is necessary to compare words with deeds in order to see what Stalin's greetings to Japan for the year 1952 really are, Acheson said, and the Soviet leader's acts do not reveal precisely a jovial holiday mood.

The Kremlin has been insisting that Emperor Hirohito be tried as a war criminal, the Secretary pointed out. It has refused to give any adequate accounting of Japanese prisoners of war still held in Russia. The Soviets are seizing Japanese fishing vessels; they have taken a very harsh and obstructive attitude toward the Japanese in the Allied council in Tokyo; they still hold Japanese islands to which the United States thinks Russia is not entitled; and they were not conspicuously co-operative at the San Francisco peace conference.

These are the things the Soviets do, in contrast to whatever honeyed words they may utter, Acheson asserted.

French Request on NATO.

The United States understands and sympathizes with a French request for a week's postponement of the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council now scheduled for Feb. 2 at Lisbon, he said in response to a question. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman has asked for the postponement, on the ground that the French National Assembly will be debating foreign policy issues at that time.

All of Schuman's colleagues of the NATO council will want to do all they can to accommodate him, Acheson said. At the same time, the council rules of procedure require that the request for a postponement be laid before Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Secretary of State for External Affairs, who is president of the council, Acheson pointed out. The question will then probably be discussed by the council of deputies.

The United States is making a very careful and very urgent study of the possibility of further action on the recent seizure by the Hungarians of an American Air Force plane and the "trial," "conviction" and fining of the four members of the plane's crew, Acheson revealed. He declined, however, to discuss the nature of the measures under consideration.

FIRST RETAIL FOOD PRICE DROP SINCE OCTOBER RECORDED

1.2 Pct. Decline Between Nov. 26 and Dec. 15 Shown in Survey.

(Reprinted from yesterday's late editions.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Food prices at the grocery store dropped 1.2 per cent between Nov. 26 and Dec. 15—the first decrease since October, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

About half the foods included in the cost of living index dropped in price. Largest declines came in eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables, pork and chickens. The Dec. 15 index was estimated at 231.9, based on a 1935-1939 average food price index of 100.

The index is obtained by sampling retail food prices in eight major cities.

LT. ROY W. FINCK FUNERAL IN ST. CHARLES TOMORROW

Funeral services for First Lt. Roy W. Finck of St. Charles, who was killed Nov. 13 in a plane crash in France, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Immanuel Lutheran Church in St. Charles. Burial will be in the Lutheran Cemetery there.

Lt. Finck, who was 27 years old, was killed when the Air Force C-82 plane of which he was co-pilot struck a hill near Paris. A total of 36 passengers and crewmen were killed in the crash.

He is survived by his wife; a 10-month-old son, Wayne; his parents, one brother and two sisters living in St. Charles.

PRINCESS MARGARET DANCES WITH KILTED EARL AT BALL

GREENLAW, Scotland, Jan. 5 (AP)—Princess Margaret danced until the early hours today at a swank hunt ball to begin a 10-day holiday along the Scottish border.

The princess attended the Berwickshire hunt ball in the music room of eighteenth century Marchmont House, the home of her hosts, Capt. and Mrs. J. H. F. McEwen. Among her kilted or red and blue coated partners was the young Earl of Dalkeith.

MRS. ANNA MULDOON FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna E. Muldoon, widow of John . Muldoon, credit manager for the old Simmons Hardware Co., will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at St. Roch's Catholic Church, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Muldoon, 75 years old, died yesterday of heart disease at her home, 6136 Waterman avenue. Surviving are a son, Thomas F. Muldoon, former associate city counselor and former member of the Board of Police Commissioners, and a daughter, Mrs. Stanley J. Hood.

DEATH OF MRS. HILDA PITKIN

Mrs. Hilda Pitkin, 57-year-old widow of 701 Clark street, St. Charles, collapsed and died last night at the Westminster Dance Hall, 3806 Olive street.

She had been dancing and went to the women's lounge, where she complained of feeling ill and then collapsed. She was pronounced dead at City Hospital, where she was identified by a brother, William Remer, 529 North Fourth street, St. Charles. Also surviving is a son, Sgt. Norwood R. Pitkin, stationed in Kansas City, Mo.

FUNERAL OF AMOS M. UTT

Funeral services for Amos M. Utt, desk clerk for the Clayton Police Department for 14 years, who died at St. Mary's Hospital Thursday, will be at 9 a.m. Monday at St. Luke's Catholic Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Utt lived at 6447 San Bonita avenue, Clayton. He is survived by two brothers, Lance J. Utt and Vaughn P. Utt, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas J. Cullinane.

JAPANESE IS SPEAKER AT ASCENSION CHURCH

Parish Will Hold Epiphany Feast of Lights Services Tomorrow.

The Rev. William Yanagihara, son of the bishop of the Episcopal Church, Osaka, Japan, spoke at the Church of the Ascension, Cates avenue and Goodfellow boulevard, last night. He addressed the men's discussion group of the church on the Anglican work in Japan.

The Rev. Mr. Yanagihara received his divinity degree last year at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., and now is taking graduate work at Union Seminary, New York. He will return to Japan to teach in a theological seminary.

The Church of the Ascension will hold the traditional Epiphany Feast of Lights service at 8 p.m. tomorrow, and the Rev. William Murray Kenney, rector of St. Mark's Church, will be the guest preacher.

The Epiphany service, on the twelfth night after Christmas, commemorates the showing forth of Christ to the Gentiles when the wise men came from the east to worship the Savior.

Service at Holy Apostles.

The service will also be held at the Church of the Holy Apostles (Episcopal), Union boulevard and Maple avenue, at 7:30 p.m. The clergy will be assisted by the young people of the parish.

At the Greek Orthodox churches of St. Louis, the Epiphany service will be held tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. to noon. St. Nicholas Church is at 4957 Forest Park avenue, and the Church of the Assumption, 1212 Academy avenue.

At the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, the ancient ceremony, "procession of the Gospel," will take the book containing the Gospel to the people in the main body of the church. After the reading of the Gospel, the congregation will intone the Nicene Creed, while the large Christ candle on the altar is lighted.

Candle Lighting Ritual.

After the sermon and the offertory, the candles are blessed, then 12 large candles on the altar are lighted, symbolizing the apostles. From these candles are lighted the candles of the congregation. During this part of the service the church will be in darkness except for the candles.

At the close of the service the clergy, choir and congregation will leave the church in candlelight procession, to symbolize taking the light of Christ into the world.

The Rev. A. Malcolm MacMillan is rector of the Church of the Ascension, and the Rev. William Tibbett is the curate.

DR. HOEFER ATTENDS TORONTO NATIONAL COUNCIL ASSEMBLY

The Rev. Dr. Elmer H. Hoefer, pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church, St. Louis and Warne avenues, is attending the assembly of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches, meeting at Toronto, Canada. He will return Tuesday. He is vice president of the Board of International Missions of his denomination.

More than 300 representatives of 65 mission boards and agencies and delegates from younger churches of Asia and Africa are attending the Toronto meeting. Several former missionaries to China are present.

In the absence of Dr. Hoefer, the student pastor of St. Peter's Church, Philip Desenis, a middler-student at Eden Theological Seminary, will preach at the 8:30 a.m. service tomorrow. The guest preacher at 10:30 a.m. will be the Rev. Dr. Carl W. Klein, western secretary for United Promotion of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Rural Churches Important Factor In Religious Life, Pastor Says

The Rev. Mr. Towle Completes 4000-Mile Tour of Churches in Missouri Conference.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

City churches have a big stake in the stability and welfare of rural churches, the Rev. Dr. W. Wilder Towle, state minister of the Missouri Conference of Congregational Christian churches, declared this week.

Dr. Towle, whose headquarters are here, has just completed a tour of 36 churches in his conference. He traveled as far west as Kansas City and as far south as Little Rock. He traveled 1200 miles by train and 2300 miles by automobile. He addressed a total of 1200 members of church boards representing more than 10,000 church members.

A large part of future leadership in church life must come from rural communities, Dr. Towle said. He pointed out that big city churches don't send enough young men into the ministry to supply their own needs.

'Better Leadership Needed.'

"The small rural church needs a better trained leadership and more personal attention," he stated. "I observed on my trip that churches whose ministers are well trained, men whose spirit is humble and yet progressive, who are thoroughly in love with their task and devoted to it—these are the churches which have grown, and strengthened their standing in their communities."

Many rural pastors must supplement their salary with other jobs, he said. The Congregational Church of Neosho, Mo., has no parsonage, so the pastor, the Rev. Ernest Israel, bought a farm close to town. He keeps 500 hens and raises high-grade eggs for the city market.

THE REV. W. W. TOWLE

The Rev. Thomas A. Crance serves four small rural churches near Bolivar. They pay him $290 a year, and the Missouri Conference adds $300 for automobile expenses. The minister lives in Springfield and supports himself by gardening for town families.

At Iberia the Congregational minister is the Rev. Basil Brown. He raises broilers for a living and plans to expand his operations to an annual capacity of 310,000.

Other Part-Time Jobs.

Other part-time occupations followed by Missouri Congregational pastors include: architecture, woodwork finishing, personnel counseling, school teaching, arts and crafts.

On his official tour of the churches, Dr. Towle emphasized "the necessity of personal evangelism, and the need, if the church is to prosper, of an increase in membership of at least 10 per cent annually."

He called on the churches of his group "to open the door of membership to all, regardless of race."

"Exaggerated individualism is a characteristic of some ministers and churches, and this is a barrier to good public relations," Dr. Towle said.

CHURCH IN AFFTON ACHIEVES STATUS OF SELF-SUPPORT

The First Presbyterian Church of Affton, 9217 Gravois road, became fully self-supporting on Jan. 1, it was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. Fred E. Robb. The church had been sponsored by Oak Hill Presbyterian Church, Oak Hill avenue and Connecticut street.

The Affton church now has 550 members, and the Sunday school enrollment is more than 400. The congregation is raising $100,000 for a new educational building.

The church was organized on Aug. 3, 1942, in the Masonic Temple, Affton. In March 1943, the congregation moved to the old Hilltop Tavern at the present location. This building, a 10-room dwelling, had been the farm home of the Vasel family, and is more than 100 years old. The tavern was remodeled for Sunday school uses.

The church also has a new chapel, the Theodore S. Smylie Chapel, named for the pastor of Oak Hill Church.

A special service to celebrate the congregation's achievement of self-support, will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Smylie. Two former pastors will take part in the service, the Rev. Daniel Moore of Pacific, Mo., and the Rev. James Blackwood, St. Charles.

The Rev. Mr. Robb has been pastor of the Affton church since 1947.

NEW CONGREGATION IN AFFTON CALLS STUDENT PASTOR

The Rev. B. L. Barnes of Indianapolis, Ind., has accepted a call to become the first full-time minister of the new Affton Christian Church, it was announced today.

He expects to receive his divinity degree at Butler University, Indianapolis, June 10. He will begin his pastorate here in February, and will spend two days each week in Indianapolis until his graduation.

A native of Kansas City, the Rev. Mr. Barnes served in the army during World War II. He received his A.B. degree in 1948 from Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa. He is married and has two daughters.

The Affton congregation was organized last Oct. 7, and is sponsored by the Disciples Council of greater St. Louis. The Rev. W. Elbert Starn, executive secretary of the council, has been serving as interim minister.

Worship services and Sunday school are being held temporarily in the Affton community hall, 9526 Gravois road. A site for a church has been purchased on Tesson Ferry road.

Kirkwood Church Makes Gains.

The First Presbyterian Church of Kirkwood, 100 E. Adams avenue, received 304 new members in 1951, one of the largest records established by the church in its 97 years' history. The Rev. Dr. Marion F. Stuart is the pastor.

CHURCH SETS GOALS FOR 1952 ADVANCE

Compton Heights Group Opens 15-Week Drive for Attendance.

"Every church member should be a good church member. Actually this is not true."

Thus the Rev. Tom Underwood began an appeal to his congregation, the Compton Heights Christian Church, 2149 South Grand boulevard. He was inaugurating a program of advance, "15 Weeks for God," with specific goals.

The program arose out of the National Christian Teaching Mission of November in which this church took part. The Rev. Mr. Underwood quoted some findings of the mission in his weekly parish paper:

"Nearly 25 per cent of the average congregation seldom attend the worship service. Less than 50 per cent are in church every Sunday. Most church members do not have daily fellowship with God in prayer."

The Compton Heights Church had as guest leader for the mission the Rev. Harry Parsons of Kansas City. He directed the self-analysis, which revealed that the church program was deficient in religious education, evangelism and parish fellowship. The 15 weeks' program has these definite aims: a 30 per cent increase in church attendance; 25 per cent increase in Sunday school; daily devotions by the church members; "a more friendly church community," and 75 new members.

The congregation last July dedicated a new $100,000 church adjoining the Sunday school and parish building. The Rev. Mr. Underwood is serving his fourth year as pastor.

SURVEY DISCLOSES AVERAGE LUTHERAN MAKES $4000-$5000

Most American Lutherans live in cities, own their own homes, drive a car, and have an average annual income of more than $4000 and less than $5000.

These figures were made public this week by "The Lutheran," magazine of the United Lutheran Church, and are based on a survey made by a Lutheran advertising manager of Philadelphia.

Seventy-two per cent of Lutheran families own their own homes, and the average valuation is $12,500, the survey reports.

Eighty-five per cent of all Lutheran families drive a car, and 10 per cent sport two cars.

One out of every four Lutheran adults holds a college degree, while five out of every nine adult Lutherans are high school graduates.

About 73 per cent of the Lutheran population lives in urban districts, but regardless of where they live, they buy 10 to 19 books a year as individuals. About half prefer books of a religious nature.

Lutherans spend money on Life, Saturday Evening Post, McCalls, Better Homes and Gardens, in that order. But Lutheran periodicals are first choice in Lutheran homes.

347 New Presbyterian Churches.

In the last 10 years, 347 new churches have been established by the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., the Board of National Missions reports. These new congregations have brought 53,722 members into the church and added $10,463,683 to the total giving of the denomination.

CHURCH BASKET DINNER HOLDS ITS POPULARITY, STATE PASTOR FINDS

Old-fashioned basket dinners at rural churches in Missouri have withstood the high cost of food, according to the Rev. Dr. W. Wilder Towle of St. Louis, state minister of Congregational Christian churches.

On a recent 4000-mile tour of 36 churches, Dr. Towle found that fried chicken still holds first place, followed by baked ham and roast turkey, in that order. Other meat dishes served at church affairs where he was a guest included meat loaf, roast beef, chicken pie, and roast pork.

The Osage Conference is a circuit of four churches in southwest Missouri, of which the Humansville church is one. At a basket dinner for this group of churches, 120 persons were served by the women of the congregations. They consumed 10 fried chickens, three trays of meat sandwiches, eight pots of baked beans, many vegetable dishes, potato salad, 13 pies, 10 cakes, coffee and milk.

'GITTAR,' WISECRACK INSPIRE TOO MANY, SAYS DR. TUCKER

"I doubt if a 'gittar' and a wisecrack can inspire men and women to the kind of heroic acting and living required of us now and in the future," says the Rev. Dr. Frank C. Tucker of Centenary Methodist Church.

In his weekly editorial in the latest "Centenary News," he writes:

"There is one sharp and decisive difference between the living generation of 50 years ago and that one of today. It is the difference in heroes—the characters of literature and of real life admired and, to some extent, emulated.

"Those who lived 50 years ago were the children of the Romantic Era. Their heroes, of fiction and of life, were the men and women in whom the idealized virtues were incarnated. As for myself, the brave, the noble and sometimes brash characters portrayed by G. A. Henty and Horatio Alger, with Fenimore Cooper taken in for full measure, were the heroes of my boyhood."

Dr. Tucker quotes Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, whose feature, "Let's Explore Your Mind," appears daily in the Post-Dispatch:

"'In 1898 historical characters inspired 79 per cent of the youth; in 1948 they appealed to only 33 per cent. In 1898 characters from literature made significant impact upon 12 per cent of the young people; in 1948 they influenced none.

"'In 1948 four times as many boys chose Gene Autry as chose Jesus Christ; the same number selected Jack Benny over priests, ministers and missionaries; and twice as many gave allegiance to Shirley Temple and Jane Powell as to all (female) religious figures combined.'"

CATHOLICS DEVELOP COUNTRY PARISHES

Archbishop Ritter's Program Emphasizes New Rural Churches and Schools.

Under the leadership of Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter, the St. Louis Archdiocese is engaged in "a vast building program," according to the St. Louis Register. In 1951, the program "was preponderant in rural areas," the Catholic paper states in a review of the year's church news.

The building program, much of which will be completed in 1952, includes new churches and parochial schools, a hospital and retreat house.

Before coming to the St. Louis Archdiocese in 1946, Archbishop Ritter had spent 29 years in Indianapolis as priest, bishop and archbishop. In his present area he has paid particular attention to program in rural communities. His archdiocese extends as far west as Jefferson City, north to Louisiana, Mo., and south to the Arkansas line.

Several new churches are under construction in St. Louis county, including the new St. Peter's Church at 219 W. Argonne drive, Kirkwood. The new church and school building of Our Lady of Fatima in Florissant is the first parish in the archdiocese to bear that name.

UNITY CHURCH MOVES TO NEW LOCATION ON WEST PINE

Unity Christ Church announced today that it has acquired its own building at 4526 West Pine boulevard, and hereafter all services and weekday classes will be held there. The Rev. James E. Sweaney is the minister.

The church, which recently celebrated its twentieth anniversary, has been meeting in a downtown hotel. The Rev. Mr. Sweaney announced that in the new church, identical Sunday services will be held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Unity Christ Church, member of a large group of churches in greater St. Louis, is affiliated with Unity School, Lee's Summit, Mo.

Well-Coached LaSalle (Loeffler Says) Plays Billikens Here Tonight

Easterners Unbeaten in 8 Contests

By Robert Morrison

Ken Loeffler, coach of the St. Louis Bombers a few years ago when pro basketball flourished here artistically and vocally if not financially, is back in town today with a few superlatives, a quip or two, a sage observation and, incidentally, his college team, LaSalle.

The Explorers of Loeffler, undefeated in eight games and one of the better teams in the East at this point of the season, will be the opponent of St. Louis University's Billikens at 8:30 tonight at Kiel Auditorium.

The Bills, making their first home appearance since they beat Kentucky to win the Sugar Bowl title, have an 8-2 record for the season, but despite the two blemishes, they will be favored to beat LaSalle.

Loeffer himself, of course, would not quite admit as much.

"You can say LaSalle is a well coached team—up to tonight, anyway," he started off, in the droll Loeffler manner that used to entertain his acquaintances when he was coaching here.

Undecided Now, Says Ken.

Seriously, Loeffler said that a certain amount of inexperience in his team makes the outcome of this visit uncertain.

"Playing St. Louis U., you know, is like playing the Cleveland Browns," he said. "Make a mistake or two and you're beaten, because St. Louis's veteran team doesn't make many mistakes."

LaSalle, expected to be at the top among Eastern teams this year, lost its No. 1 player, Jack George, to the Army two days before the season opened, Loeffler reported.

"He gave us poise and balance," said the coach in a brief lament. But without George, LaSalle has stayed high among the nation's college teams, especially as a high-scoring outfit. The Explorers are currently averaging 77.4 points a game, and a hot pace has been set by a remarkable young freshman, Tom Gola, 6-foot-6, weighing 195 pounds.

"He's the Pollard of college basketball," pronounced Loeffler, with the slightly reverent inflection basketball people use when talking about the Minneapolis Laker, Jim Pollard.

"Gola can do everything," continued the veteran coach, "jump six feet in track, run the quarter mile in 50, shoot outside or inside. There were 48 schools after him and we got him, mainly because he's a Philadelphia boy and wanted to make his reputation at home."

2222 Points in High School.

Gola, now averaging about 15 points a game for LaSalle, scored 2222 points in high school competition and made a great impression in the annual North-South all-star prep game in Kentucky.

"Maybe you should call him 'Field' Gola," put in Loeffler, adding whimsically, "I never could get the Philadelphia writers to use that nickname. They just didn't appreciate my Western humor."

LaSalle, which has won 51 games and lost 11 under Loeffler, who now is in his third year there, lost to St. Louis in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament a year ago.

"We were a green team with no business being in that tournament," Loeffler said. "But we have more board strength this year. I'll have a 6-6 man (Gola), two at 6-5 and one at 6-3 starting against St. Louis. Maybe we'll do better this time. After all that's where many games are won and lost—on the boards."

That height business—and the advantage it gives in rebounding for possession of the ball—happened to be one of the chief concerns of Eddie Hickey as he prepped his St. Louis boys for this game. Hickey can gain height with his reserves, now ripening with game experience.

Olympians Gain Ninth Straight Home Victory

NEW YORK, Jan 5 (AP)—If the Indianapolis Olympians could do as well on the road as they perform at home, they'd probably be at the head of the Western Division of the National Basketball Association today.

They won their ninth straight home victory last night—an 83-73 decision over the New York nKickerbockers. They're still in third pace in their division, though, a game and a half behind Minneapolis which overcame Fort Wayne, 79-64. Philadelphia stopped Baltimore, 92-79, in the only other game.

Pager's Goal in Final Minute Wins for Aggies

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Hopes of the University of Washington Huskies for the No. 1 national basketball ranking were jolted last night.

Currently ranked third in the Associated Press poll the Huskies were whipped by underdog Idaho, 56-51, as they opened defense of their Pacific Coast Conference championship on their home court at Seattle.

It was the second startling result in as many nights. On Thursday, unbeaten N.Y.U. was drubbed 100-75 by underdog West Virginia.

A surprised crowd of 5800 saw Idaho win the hard way. Washington took a 10-point lead in the second quarter at 22-12 and seemed well on the way to its tenth straight victory.

Then Tommy Flynn and Herb Millard sparked an Idaho rally. Flynn's third basket tied the score at 29-29 at halftime and Millard's free throw late in the third quarter gave Idaho the lead for the first time at 38-37.

Washington never regained the lead. Idaho froze the ball in the the last four minutes, tactics that led to three more baskets as the desperate Huskies were caught out of position.

The Oklahoma Aggies had their usual home court trouble with DePaul at Stillwater, Okla., but a hook shot by Bob Pager with 45 seconds left gave the Aggies a 52-49 triumph.

DePaul, which has upset the Aggies at Stillwater many times in past years, held a 49-48 edge before Pager came through. With five seconds left Johnny Miller scored again for the Aggies to ice the struggle.

Houston nipped Tulsa, 42 to 41, in an exciting finish at Houston that saw the lead change hands three times in the last 36 seconds. At that juncture Dick Nunnelley scored to make it 40-39, Houston. With 25 seconds left, Dick Courter counted from the corner to make it 41-40, Tulsa. With 11 seconds to go, Elton Cotton flipped in a one-hander for Houston's winning goal.

U.C.L.A. walloped Stanford, 81-63, and California nicked Southern California, 65-55, in two Southern division games of the Pacific Coast Conference. In the northern sector, in addition to Idaho's upset of Washington, Oregon State whipped Washington State, 53-45.

George Washington trounced Wake Forest, 90-63, and South Carolina took Davidson, 76-61, in two Southern Conference games.

In the East Colgate edged Bucknell, 57-53, in a game that saw the lead change hands 13 times. And St. Peters of New Jersey upset Manhattan 72-64. Baylor, of the Southwest Conference, lost to Southwest Texas, 58-56, while Texas Tech beat Arizona State (Flagstaff) 87-50 in the Border Conference.

80 Applicants for Pitt Gridiron Coaching Job

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5 (AP) — Athletic Director Tom Hamilton, seeking a new football coach for the University of Pittsburgh, was to sit down with the athletic committee again today to ponder the town's favorite subject—"Who'll be Pitt's new gridiron mentor?"

But it is unlikely a new coach will be named immediately from a string of 80 applicants screened by the university.

The latest wrinkle is the "Johnny Michelosen for coach" boom. The former Pitt Steeler coach already has been interviewed. Others interviewed by the university to date include Lowell (Red) Dawson, backfield coach at Michigan State; William (Biff) Classford, head coach at Nebraska, and Bob Timmons and Ernie Hefferle, members of the Pitt coaching staff.

Bears to Sever Relations With Beloit College

Washington University announced last night that its basketball series with Beloit will come to an end because of Beloit's stalling tactics here Thursday night.

"It's definitely the last time we'll play them," said Blair Gullion, the Washington athletic director.

Washington is scheduled to meet the Bucs in Beloit March 8 in their final game of the season. Gullion's only comment was "We'll at least show their fans more respect than Beloit did ours."

Beloit's fast-scoring squad slowed down to a crawl in defeating the Bears, 24 to 21, as 3500 fans jeered.

The Bucs froze the ball at center court and passed it around for eight minutes without attempting a shot after taking a 17-10 halftime lead.

Russia Enters Olympic Games

HELSINKI, Jan. 5 (AP)—Russia officially announced today its entry in the 1952 Olympic Games at Helsinki, Finland, July 19-Aug. 3.

Doris Hart to Sail For Europe Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP) — Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., sail tomorrow on the Queen Mary for an Asiatic-European tennis tour that ends with the Wimbledon championships in July.

Miss Hart is the 1951 Wimbledon queen and Miss Fry, who was the United States runner-up last September, is the current French champion.

The two will represent the United States Lawn Tennis Association in the championships of Asia in Ceylon before going on to India, Pakistan, possibly Egypt, South Africa, Italy, France and England.

McDermott in Fold.

BOSTON, Jan. 5 (UP)—Southpaw Pitcher Maurice McDermott of the Boston Red Sox signed his 1952 contract yesterday—the first player on the club roster to do so.

The 23-year-old Poughkeepsie, N.Y., hurler's signing followed closely the announcement of his engagement to Miss Barbara Riley of Miami, Fla. Last season McDermott won 8 and lost 8 for the Red Sox.

Decision on Musial's Salary Expected Soon; 4 Get Hikes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (INS)—Four major league baseball stars are getting government-approved pay boosts—but the Wage Stabilization Board still hasn't decided what to do about Stan Musial.

The board revealed yesterday it has approved raises for Eddie Stanky, recently named manager of the St. Louis Cardinals; Larry Jansen of the New York Giants; Del Ennis, Philadelphia Phillies, and Andy Pafko, Brooklyn Dodgers.

Amount of the increases wasn't disclosed, but the board said none of the players will get more than the top salary paid by their club in 1950.

That's the policy that kept Musial from getting his 1950 pay of $50,000 boosted to $80,000 by the Cardinals last year. A panel of experts is still working on what to do about Musial and other players and a ruling is expected in a few days.

Saigh Says It Would Take Overwhelming Offer to Get Red.

Only an overwhelming offer would induce the Cardinals to trade Red Schoendienst, according to Owner Fred Saigh. But he added:

"If the right sort of trade offer came up we'd have to trade him."

Saigh's remarks followed a similar statement by his manager, Eddie Stanky, before the Mobile (Ala.) Touchdown Club yesterday.

Saigh did not say what he considered as an overwhelming offer.

Yesterday Stanky said that "as of right now, Schoendienst will stay with the Cardinals and play some place."

He continued:

"As for me, I intend to play at least 100 games. The old whip is slowing down, and I won't play third base unless there's an emergency. I hope there won't be any.

"I would be a bench manager if I could find a second baseman who can lead off and get on base 250 times."

Sedgman Beats McGregor In Tennis Meet Final

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 5 (AP)—Frank Sedgman, Australia's tennis star, beat his countryman, Ken McGregor, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, today in their first tournament match since the final of the Australian championship in Melbourne two years ago. Then Sedgman won in four sets.

Today's meeting was the best-of-three sets Seaside Singles Championship final at Manly, a Sydney suburb. McGregor often passed Sedgman as he came to the net in the first set, but then Sedgman struck his Davis Cup form and McGregor was unable to hold him.

Webb Scores 73 In Los Angeles Open Golf Meet

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5 (INS)—Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, Tex., tees off today in the second round of the $17,500 twenty-sixth Los Angeles Open golf tournament with a one-stroke lead over the field of 145 players.

The 28-year-old Texan turned in a two-under-par 69 yesterday at the Riviera Country Club.

Al Brosch of Garden City, N.Y., and John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., each carded 70s, one-under-par, to tie for second place in the first round.

Paul Runyan, of Pasadena, Calif., had a par 71. Tied at 72 after the first round in the 72-hole tourney were amateur Bud Holscher of Santa Monica, Calif., E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark., Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., and Willie Hunter Jr., of Los Angeles.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., dropped out after playing 11 holes. The dentist complained of a swollen right wrist.

The tourney favorite and defending champion Lloyd Mangrum headed a list of nine players who listed two-over-par 73s.

Gene Webb, St. Louis pro, was in a tie for ninth place with a score of 73. He had 37 for the first nine and came home with 36.

Burke toured the course in 36-33 for his 69. He carded three bogies, two birdies and four pars on the first nine for his one over 36. On the homeward stretch he parred the tenth hole and then racked up three consecutive birdies. The last two came on putts of 40 and 30 feet respectively. He took a bogey on the fifteenth and then closed out his sub-par round with a 25-footer on the eighteenth hole for a three.

Calumet Farm Filly Wins Anita Feature

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 5 (UP)—Calumet Farm's speedy little filly, Jennie Lee, closed on the outside yesterday to score a two-length victory in the $7500 Monrovia Cup at Santa Anita.

Sent to the post the favorite, Jennie Lee repaid the confidence of her backers by pulling past the fading Frigid in the stretch and then easily withstanding the closing run of Sea Garden which got up for second. Blue Cloth was third, a nose behind Sea Garden.

The winner's time for the seven furlongs over a fast track was 1:24 1-5 and she paid $6.30 to win.

FIGHT RESULTS

NEW YORK—Chico Vejar, 146¾, Stamford, Conn., outpointed Enrique Bolanos, 143, Pasadena, Calif., 10.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Lauro Salas, 129, Monterey, Mexico, and Bobby Why, 127¼, Santa Barbara, Calif., drew, 10.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Alex Fimbreis, 123, Phoenix, knocked out Chill Cantero, 127, Havana, 4.

Burroughs Nips Puxico in Thriller; Bill MacCarthy Hits for 24 Points

By Harold Tuthill

If John Burroughs today regards Custer's last fight as a six-round preliminary, it is only because the Bombers will have met two tough Indian outfits in as many days.

Last night Burroughs barely added the scalp of Puxico, the state Class B champion, to its list, 55-53, and tonight the Bombers of Ray Wolfe will oppose the Indians of University City, an "A" power considered good enough to capture the big basketball tournament at Columbia next March. Tonight's game will be played at Burroughs.

The Bombers' man-killing schedule of top-flight competition against all comers—A or B—may be expecting a little too much of a smooth-operating five which last night celebrated Bill MacCarthy night. Big Bill, just a shade under 6-4, was a team unto himself as he cleared the boards, intercepted passes and shot goals, an important factor against high-scoring Puxico. The 17-year-old Burroughs senior center, poured in 12 Bomber goals, 24 points, and therein lies the story of John Burroughs's tenth straight victory and Puxico's second defeat of the season and its second in 59 games over a two-year period.

Another Last Ditch Stand.

Puxico came here with a 12-game winning streak and a 62-61 loss on its record when Cape Girardeau St. Mary's defeated Arnold Ryan's Indians in the last two seconds of play. Last night Burroughs passed the Indians in the last three seconds of play, 54-53, and added a point after the game ended.

So great was the noise from the crowd of more than 5000 when Charley Duncker scored for Burroughs that nobody later heard the game-ending horn. Duncker's goal made it 54-53, but Puxico obtained possession of the ball, fired it down court and apparently took a 55-54 lead on an Indian goal.

What had happened though, was that Puxico's Gene Wilfong fouled Bobby Thym and the officials were trying to make themselves heard to stop play. Time had run out anyway ,although few were aware of it. When the Burroughs team learned of the situation they shouted and thumped each other on the back, just as if a state championship had been decided. The spacious floor at Washington University's Field House was cleared to enable Thym to shoot the free throw. He made it.

That marked the end of a thrilling contest witnessed by a crowd considered a record for attending a game in which only Burroughs' undefeated record and Puxico's great streak was at stake. The Indians had to travel 180 miles from their Stoddard County base to make their first appearance in St. Louis, so the next time Puxico opposes Burroughs, Feb. 2 at Cape Girardeau the Ryanmen may not be so travel weary. Then there is a third possibility that the schools will meet in the Class B tournament at Cape next March.

Anybody's Game All the Way.

So fierce was last night's play that the score was tied six times and changed hands nine times during the second half. Burroughs was ahead, 44-40, after three-quarters and Puxico had to fight to regain the lead, 51-50, on Forest Arnold's field goal. MacCarthy tallied to put Burroughs in front again, but back came Arnold with a goal, 53-52, with a minute and 55 seconds to play. In the last 36 seconds, Bill Peniston broke up the "B" champions' attempted stall and Duncker's goal put the Bombers in front for the last time.

Last Saturday Burroughs beat St. Louis U. High, 45-42, in the exciting finish of the Prep League tournament after the Bombers had handed DeAndreis its first loss of the year, 46-39, in the semi-final round. After that kind of showing Wolfe's Bombers find themselves ready for any main event.

Both coaches paid high tribute to the opposition. Wolfe said, "I thought Puxico was a good team when I saw it a year ago at Cape Girardeau, now I know it." Ryan said simply, "That was a good team that beat us."

Russell Murphy, former athletic commissioner, said "I didn't know high school basketball could be so exciting. Those last five minutes had me breathless."

While John Burroughs and University City are matching goals, the public High League will resume operation tonight at the St. Louis University gymnasium. Leading Cleveland (2-0) will oppose Beaumont (1-0) in the 8 o'clock game of the tripleheader. McKinley and Southwest, both first-round victors before the holiday season, will clash at 6:30 and Soldan-Blewett and Hadley will meet at 9:30 with the winner breaking into the league victory column for the first time.

Lundy Returns to Flyer Line For Series With Indianapolis

By Harold Flachsbart

There'll be added scoring punch in the Flyer lineup tonight when Pat Lundy, former Chicago center, returns after an absence of five games for the weekend series with the Indianapolis Caps. The clubs will play here at The Arena tonight at 8:15 and at Indianapolis Sunday.

Victory tonight would nudge the St. Louis club back into third place of the Western standings of the American Hockey League since the current tenant, Cincinnati, is idle. The Flyers will face off with 33 points to 34 for Cincy, which opposes Cleveland Sunday.

Lundy, one of qutie a few pro hockey players from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan (also the home of Flyer Goalie Ralph Almas), was the third best scorer in the American League when the Blackhawks recalled him from St. Louis last Nov. 26. Pat had made 26 points (10 goals) in 21 games. And he seemed headed for one of his best years.

But he was injured while playing with the National League Hawks and then, after coming back to St. Louis a couple of weeks later, suffered a recurrence of a groin injury. He was hurt so badly Dec. 19 at Buffalo that he was unable to take the ice until this week in practice. Now he may again center a line with which he started the season—one that has Steve Black and Al Baccari at the wings.

Black and Baccari also only recently returned to the lineup after injuries and the Flyers have missed all three men the way Club President Emory Jones misses those fans in the stands. There were eight successive St. Louis defeats before the Flyers smothered Syracuse, 5-2, last Wednesday.

While the Lundy-Black-Baccari line was taking hospital treatment — and Defensemen George Milligan and Rags Raglan and Alternate Capt. Cliff Simpson were hampered by other injuries—the line of Jackie Hamilton, Eric Pogue and Simpson has been holding up the scoring end.

According to unofficial scoring averages, Simpson, the clever play-maker, leads the club with 39 points on 19 goals and 20 assists. Hamilton, getting fat and getting ready to retire, he says now but probably will retract when the season nears its finish, has 12 goals and 26 assists. Pogue has been a ball of fire since his return from Calgary and even scores, sometimes, as his four goals and nine assists attest. That's 13 points in 13 games.

Goalie Almas this morning was reported recovering from an attack of the flu but Capt. Ed Nicholson, with the same illness, was listed as a doubtful starter. . . . Rookie Gordon (Butch) Pearson, after a three-game tryout, is to be returned to Halifax, Nova Scotia, in the Maritime League.

Two Women Tied In Golf Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 5 (AP)—Four golf gals who cut par were a good jump ahead in the Jacksonville Women's Open golf tournament at the start of today's second round.

Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., who was the third highest money winner of the 1951 tour, and Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., the National Open champion, shared first place after the first 18 holes. Each shot a three under par record 73 over the 6282 yard Brentwood Municipal course. Women's record for the layout was 74.

Babe Zaharias of Tampa, winner of 10 of last year's 20 women's tournaments and again top money winner, and Mary Lena Faulk, amateur of Thomasville, Ga., were a stroke behind at 74.

Normandy Wrestlers Win From Kirkwood

Normandy moved into the lead in the Suburban League wrestling competition with a 5-0 record by defeating Normandy, 24-19, yesterday. The defeat was the first in league competition for Kirkwood. Les Anselmo, Happy Whitney, Hal Haynes and Don Benoist of Normandy kept winning streaks intact as did Bill Doorack and Rich Schneider of Kirkwood.

In another league match, University City won from Maplewood, 29-19. Brent Greenberg gained a 30 seconds pin fall for the winners.

Stowe Five Wins.

Stowe Teachers defeated Sanford-Brown Business College, 63-40 in a Greater St. Louis College Conference basketball game. Kimbrough tallied 25 points for the winners, while Beezley had 12 for the losers.

St. L. U. High Beats DeAndreis In Prep Opener

By John J. Archibald

DeAndreis High, which accomplished "the impossible" last season by beating St. Louis U. High on its home court, couldn't repeat the miracle last night. The Junior Billikens of Coach Hank Raymonds led from the second quarter as they rolled to a 47-35 victory in a Prep League basketball opener.

In the other Prep contest, St. Mary's won from C.B.C., 52 to 41.

St. Louis U. High's aggressive, pressing style seemed to keep DeAndreis off balance much of the time, with the Wildcats frequently losing the ball before getting down court to make a scoring effort. And when they did shoot, St. Louis's big Dan King took a large share of the rebounds.

After the Junior Bills moved five points ahead in the opening quarter while Lloyd Aubrey was doing all of DeAndreis's scoring, the Wildcats closed the gap on a pair of field goals by Bill Ernst and another by Ed Lavin, and the first quarter ended 13-13.

The Bills, paced by Bill Gellhausen's three goals, moved to a 25-23 halftime lead, however, and slowly widened their margin in the last two periods. The third quarter looked like it would be a washout for DeAndreis, until Rich Eckard hit two goals and Ernst another in the final minute and a half.

DeAndreis tried desperately to get the ball in the last period, but every effort resulted in a foul being called. Two players, Dick Terry and Ernst, fouled out.

Les Hohl again led the Billikens with seven field goals and two free throws, for 16 points. Aubrey had 13 points for DeAndreis, but only one of his five goals came in the second half.

West Frankfort Quint Upsets Mount Vernon

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Jan. 5 (AP)—Mount Vernon High School's basketball team, rated second in the state, was upset last night by West Frankfort, 41-39.

Mount Vernon led throughout the game until the last minute when Bob Wilkinson put West Frankfort in front 39-38 with a goal and a free throw. Don McCann of Mount Vernon tied the count with a foul shot with just 10 seconds to go.

Wilkinson fired from 40 feet out and made a goal just as the final gun sounded.

Steen to Box Turner.

Officials of the International Boxing Club of St. Louis announced today that Irving Steen, San Diego, Calif., middleweight had been signed as a substitute opponent for Jesse Turner of St. Louis for the 10-round semi-final bout on the Jan. 9 program at the Arena.

Mario Moreno of New York, originally signed to box Turner, was forced out by a committment to box prior to next week's show. Commissioner Charles Orchard, when informed of Moreno's intention to box before the Jan. 9 date here, refused to approve him as an opponent for Turner.

Liberty Tourney Postponed.

LIBERTY, Mo., Jan. 5 AP)—The four-team Junior College invitational basketball tournament at William Jewell College has been postponed because of weather conditions. It had been scheduled to begin last night. Officials said it was impossible for Hannibal LaGrange and Missouri Baptist of Poplar Bluff to get here. Other teams invited were St. Joseph Junior College and Southwest Baptist of Bolivar.

Over-Stuffed Bolanos Beaten By Chico Vejar

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (UP)—Young Chico Vejar and his solid left jab were definitely established on the "big time" today because of his impressive victory over veteran Enrique Bolanos at Madison Square Garden.

The 20-year-old welterweight from Stamford, Conn., was being offered top-flight opponents for another Garden fight next month because of the 10-round drubbing he gave 27-year-old Bolanos of Pasadena, Calif., last night.

Vejar scaled 146½ pounds and Bolanos, 143. Just a half-pound under the welter limit, young Chico was fast and explosive. But Bolanos at 143 looked like an over-stuffed and washed-up lightweight.

Bolanos, a 13-5 underdog, was so weakened in the early rounds by Vejar's smashing left jabs to the roll of fat about his midriff that it seemed he must collapse. But he rallied surprisingly to win the seventh round, and he gave Chico stiff opposition during the remaining sessions.

Only 4262 were in the Garden for the television bout in which Chico gained his thirty-seventh victory in 38 professional fights. The only defeat on his record is the disputed split decision he dropped to Eddie Compo of New Haven at the Garden last Sept. 21. The gross gate was $14,290.

Referee Ruby Goldstein and Judge Arthur Aidala agreed in scoring seven rounds for Vejar, two for Bolanos and one even. Judge Frank Forbes favored Vejar, 6-4. The United Press gave Bolanos only the seventh round.

CO-FEATURE EVENT—Gene Stanlee (Mr. America), 230, Chicago, defeated Frank Taylor, 240, Toledo, with a back body drop in 15:18. Taylor substituted for Sky Hi Lee, whose plane was grounded at Cleveland.

SECOND MATCH—Ivan Rasputin, 240, New York, defeated Otto Kuss, 240, Pine City, Minn., with a bear hug in 10:01.

CURTAIN RAISER—The team tag match between Vincent Lopez, 245, Tijuana, Mexico, and Chief Big Heart, 215, Tulsa, and the Sheik of Araby, 220, Detroit, and Ray Eckert, California, Mo., ended in a 45-minute draw. Eckert pinned Chief Big Heart in 18:45 with a body scissors, and Lopez pinned the Sheik of Araby in 14:35 with a step-over toe-hold.

Mighty Mo and Benners Play On North Team

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 5 (UP)—Fred Benners of Southern Methodist and Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski, of Maryland, a pair of borderline rebels turned Yankee for the day, will attempt to end the South's reign over the post-season all-star games today in the third annual Senior Bowl.

Abetted by a line nucleus of Big 10 stars and some of their own colleagues from the South and Southwest Benners and Modzelewski are a one-touchdown favorite to do the job. The South has won both previous Senior Bowl games, which give retiring collegians their introduction to pro gold. The South also has dominated the Montgomery (Ala.) Blue-Gray and Miami North-South All-Star clashes.

Co-coaches Fritz Heisler and Wilbur Eubanks were confident that their North side has enough guns to offset any combination of aerial artistry cooked up by South Coach Steve Owen through the arms of Babe Parilli of Kentucky and Bill Wade of Vanderbilt.

WITNESS ASSERTS DELANEY PUT TAX FIX FEE AT 25 PCT.

Insurance Man Testifies About $5000 Collected From Steel Firm Owing U.S. $100,000.

BOSTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—A prosecution witness testified yesterday that Denis W. Delaney, deposed Massachusetts collector of internal revenue, on trial on bribery charges, had suggested 25 per cent as a "fee" for having a tax liability reduced.

The witness was Daniel Friedman of New York, identifying himself as an insurance salesman and financial adviser, who testified he split $20,000 in "fees" with the former collector. The fees, obtained through contacts made by Delaney, were split 50-50, Friedman said.

This testimony related to a $5000 "fee" that Firedman said came from the brothers Morris and Harry Boorky of the Massachusetts Steel Treating Co., Worcester, which was having tax difficulties.

After dividing the fee, Friedman testified, Delaney told him the Boorky corporation owed approximately $100,000 in tax liability, but that it might be possible to reduce this liability "and therefore it would be possible to get an additional fee from them."

Friedman said Delaney mentioned a reduction of about $50,000 as possible in the Boorky case, "but didn't say how." It was in this connection, Friedman said, that the 25 per cent figure was mentioned.

Friedman testified that the Boorkys gave him an additional $10,000 in checks, which he eventually destroyed because he was not certain he could obtain the reduction.

He also testified life insurance applications were made out for the Boorky brothers, but that policies never were purchased.

Delaney is accused of accepting $12,500 to influence tax cases and with falsely certifying that $180,000 in tax liens had been paid.

Friedman was still testifying when court adjourned until Tuesday.

SAN FRANCISCO TAX INQUIRIES START

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5—Seven members of a House subcommittee investigating tax scandals have begun preliminary inquiries into the San Francisco internal revenue bureau office, it was learned today.

The House group, headed by Representative Cecil R. King (Dem.), California, will open a full-dress investigation there on Jan. 21 of all circumstances surrounding the indictment of James G. Smyth, former internal revenue collector, and four members of his staff.

However, no subpenas have been issued for Smyth or his aids as it is not the custom to require indicted persons to testify before congressional committees.

The subcommittee also is expected to investigate charges by Assistant United States Attorney Charles O'Gara that both the United States Attorney's office and the Department of Justice denied investigative facilities to a grand jury during its investigation of the internal revenue office there.

Meanwhile, Holden Sanford, chief agent of the Internal Revenue Bureau's special intelligence unit at Fresno, has disclosed he resigned as of Jan. 2 because he "was fed up with being the target of one investigation after another." Charles E. Davis, special agent in charge of the tax office intelligence detail at San Francisco, said Sanford's office had "a very outstanding record."

In Chicago, Abraham Teitelbaum, whose testimony of an attempted $500,000 tax shakedown enlivened the subcommittee's hearings here last fall, announced he was planning to sell a 10-story building to pay delinquent taxes.

At present, the Government has a $518,487 lien against Teitelbaum, his business associate, Paul R. Simon, and their wives. Teitelbaum said the building he plans to sell is the Fine Arts Building on Michigan avenue, valued by him at $1,750,000, on which there is a mortgage of $630,000 and a remodeling debt of $70,000. Simon is said to be a part owner of the building.

WORLD NEWSPRINT ALLOCATION PLANS APPARENTLY ABANDONED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The 28-nation International Materials Conference apparently has abandoned plans for international allocation of newsprint.

A conference announcement yesterday said the 14-country committee which has been studying the problem hopes to be able to announce shortly "the result of its current discussions."

Informed officials added, however, that the committee has decided against any formal long-range allocation scheme for newsprint. Instead, they said, a voluntary plan for boosting production while keeping newsprint sale and distribution in private channels probably would be announced. Emergency allocations to needy countries would be continued.

Tabernacle scored a 52-28 victory over Maplewood and Lemay nosed out Affton, 59-51, in the South Side Baptist Basketball League last night at St. John's Lutheran gymnasium. Tabernacle, Lemay and Affton are tied for the lead with 4-2 record each.

CIO STEEL UNION GIVES UP LITTLE BY STRIKE DELAY

No Note of Optimism as to Settlement — Murray Makes No Promises.

By SPENCER R. McCULLOCH
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Jan. 5—In acceding to President Truman's plan for peace in the steel industry, the CIO United Steel Workers neither relinquished the right to strike nor retreated from a determination to obtain a wage increase described by Philip Murray, president of the union, as "enough to provide a reasonable standard of living for our people."

A basic wage increase of 15 cents an hour has been proposed but no counter offer has been made by industry.

The union did agree, in the national interest, to hold the strike weapon in abeyance for at least 45 days to afford opportunity for the Wage Stabilization Board to attempt to resolve the contractual difficulties between labor and management. No note of optimism was evidenced at the union's special convention, which closed yesterday, that a plan may be evolved acceptable to both sides. A procedural conference will be held by the board in Washington Monday.

Previous Strikes.

On two previous occasions government intervention has failed to avert a strike. Presidential fact-finding boards were employed in 1946 when the union struck over an 18½-cent wage demand and in 1949 when it struck to obtain a pension system.

In discussing the pending Wage Stabilization Board hearings, Murray declined to predict their outcome although he expressed the hope they might be concluded within a month. He suggested that data presented by the union might offend the tender sensibilities of the steelmakers.

"I can make no promise or commitments," Murray told the delegates, "about where this thing will eventually lead us to. I don't know."

"All I can say to you is that we will, with the help of God, conduct the kind of fight we think you want us to conduct. Any proposal will come back to our wage policy committee for affirmation or rejection."

Murray said that the Wage Stabilization Board might attempt to mediate or propose a contract. The function of the board, as he understands it, is to explore the possibility of reaching an agreement through collective bargaining. Its recommendations are not binding.

In affirming the union's formal position, expressed in the resolution adopted by the convention, Murray said that had the union gone on strike at expiration of its contracts last Dec. 31, or had it turned down the peace plan and decided to strike now "God only knows what would happen to our country."

"Our decision is important to a lot of people throughout the world," Murray said, "and we are making it at the behest of the President in the national interest.

"But we must not permit the situation to get away from us. We shall never surrender to any interest in the United States. We are going to retain the right to use our economic strength. We will never forego our right to strike.

"We are united. Come what may we will stick and we will fight and we will work together."

Referring to the convention's decision "as one of the most important in the history of American labor," Murray said that one of the factors which impelled the union's officers to advocate adoption of the President's plan was a determination not to aid Communism either at home or abroad by disrupting the vital steel industry.

Assails Price Control Setup.

Murray assailed governmental price controls, asserting there was no effective system and that the present plan was "lying, hypocritical and defeatist."

"In the absence of effective price controls," Murray declared, "there can be no regulatory, flexible provisions provided by the Wage Stabilization Board for effective wage controls in the United States.

Adoption of anti-inflationary measures through efficient controls, Murray said, constituted a challenge to Congress.

"The fight of this convention," Murray said, "is against hypocrisy. Why continue to delude people with the claim there is price control in the United States?

"A steelworker can't produce steel without meat. He needs a decent home in which to live.

"It ought to be known in Washington and in Wall street that American workers are not going to take these things lying down."

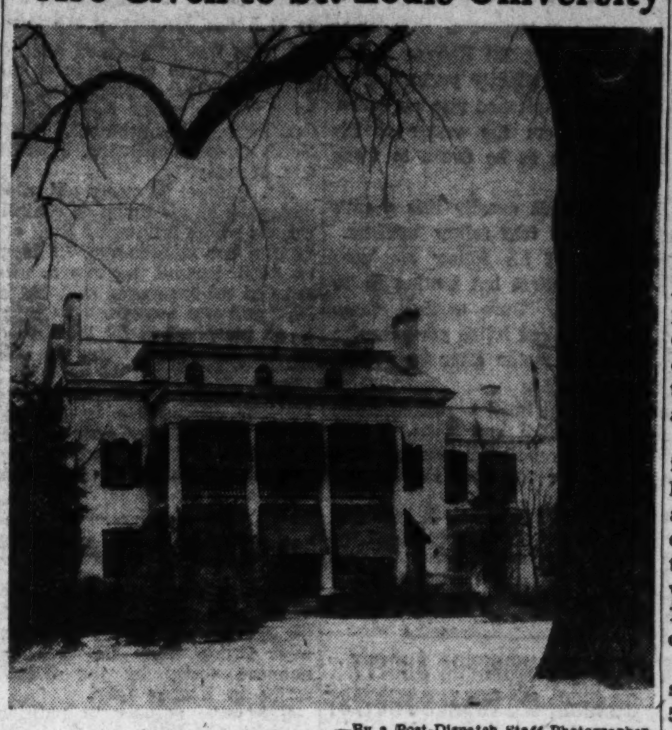
160-Acre Fordyce Estate, Mansion Are Given to St. Louis University



—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

The old Frost mansion, part of a 160-acre estate which was given to St. Louis University by Mrs. Samuel W. Fordyce, widow of a prominent St. Louis attorney. The building is at Frost avenue and Graham road, Berkeley.

The 160-acre estate of Mrs. Samuel W. Fordyce has been given to St. Louis University, it was announced today by Mrs. Fordyce and the Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, university president.

Included in the estate, at Frost avenue and Graham road, Berkeley, St. Louis county, is the three-story Frost mansion, one of the first brick houses built west of the Mississippi river. It was the home of Confederate Gen. Daniel M. Frost, who was Mrs. Fordyce's father.

Under terms of the gift, 40 acres of the estate will be used as a rest home and recreation center for the university's faculty members. The house and grounds also will be utilized as a retreat center for university students.

Chapel Is Planned.

Father Reinert said the residence will be kept in its present state as much as possible, with some changes made in the interior to provide for a chapel and other needs for a retreat house.

The 120 acres not used for a retreat center and rest home will be retained or disposed of by the university as it desires. Proceeds from a sale will be used for maintenance of the other part of the estate.

Mrs. Fordyce, widow of the St. Louis attorney and Democratic leader, retains the right to occupy the estate, known as Hazelwood, for the next two years. However, she may turn it over to the university sooner if she moves to other quarters, the announcement said.

One section of the estate to be kept in its present condition by the university is Mrs. Fordyce's 50-year-old botanical garden, which contains a notable collection of irises and pieces of antique statuary and pottery.

The university said it may eventually use the garden as a botanical station for research work by the biology department.

House Built in 1807.

Built in 1807, the residence now has about 25 rooms, because of additions made through the years. The first owner reportedly was the Rev. William Husick, who sold the house shortly after the War of 1812 to Maj. Richard Graham of Kentucky.

It was reported that Henry Clay, a close friend of Maj. Graham, named the estate Hazelwood because of the large number of hazel bushes present. Gen. Frost married a daughter of Maj. Graham. Mrs. Fordyce was the former Harriet Frost, born of Gen. Frost's second marriage.

Samuel Fordyce, widely known Democratic leader, died Jan. 9, 1948. He was converted to Catholicism shortly before his death. Mrs. Fordyce last April gave $35,000 to build a chapel at St. John's College in Belize, British Honduras, as a memorial to her husband.

CRIPPLED SHIP UNDER TOW BY BRITISH TUG

nate watches in the Enterprise's bow."

Carlsen began his lonely vigil a week ago, defying the heaviest Atlantic storm in 50 years. He ordered his 40 crewmen and 10 passengers to jump overboard in pairs when the ship's hull cracked and the helpless Enterprise rolled drunkenly in a vicious gale. One seaman died in the plunge, but his body was recovered. All others were picked up by nearby ships.

Capt. Carlsen chose to stay aboard his ship "until I am towed or sunk" to avoid any possibility that the vessel and its cargo might become a derelict "free prize." A spokesman for a New York insurance syndicate said the 8-year-old, 396-foot-long ship is insured for $1,250,000.

The skipper of the Keith, which relieved the United States Destroyer John W. Weeks in the watch over the freighter, reported Carlsen has "gotten a little rest now." The Weeks had to head for port to refuel after standing by the Enterprise for three days.

"He got Some Sleep."

"He got some sleep between 10 and 12 o'clock and now has had his lunch," O'Brien reported. "He's getting along fine and is in excellent spirits."

O'Brien said coffee and other supplies weer being sent over to the two men now on the freighter by a messenger line, fired from the destroyer.

The tow job is hazardous and, as long as Capt. Carlsen remained on the Enterprise there was a chance he might be cast adrift again by a broken tow hawser. There also was a possibility the ship might break in two at its split midriff before the 320 perilous miles to Falmouth are covered.

The 4000-horsepower tug churned the Atlantic with its broad-bladed propellers as the Enterprise slowly began to skid through the water on its port side. The vessel was listing as much as 80 degrees in the swells, but its shifted cargo of 2650 tons appeared to have stabilized it at about a 65-degree list.

Dancy, who clambered over the freighter's stern rail last night to help Carlsen fix the tow lines, remained aboard so both will be available on the crippled ship to handle a new line if the one now in use breaks.

Had to Back Off.

The successful effort came only after 33 hours of effort from the time the Turmoil arrived. Part of the time it had to back off because the seas were too rough even to try to shoot a light "messenger" line aboard.

Carlsen was alone in the ship for more than six days until Dancy leaped onto the tilted deck last night. Dancy gambled his life against the sea to get aboard the Enterprise.

Capt. O'Brien of the Keith told the story today.

"The Turmoil had passed by the Flying Enterprise several times in her efforts to fire a line on board," O'Brien said. "Then she passed right by its bows.

"Dancy was standing right forward on the Turmoil's deck. Suddenly he grabbed a dangling line and swung himself into the Enterprise near the taffrail.

'They Shook Hands.'

"Capt. Carleson rushed up to him and they shook hands."

O'Brien said Carlsen and Dancy finally got the tow hawser secured this morning on "about the tenth attempt."

"I saw the Turmoil go right close in to the bows of the Enterprise," he said. "The two men aboard her were standing up in the bows.

"The Turmoil threw out a line again. Capt. Carlsen caught it. Dancy put all his weight on it and slowly they dragged the towing gear aboard and on to an upper deck.

"It took them nearly an hour to make it secure. Then they signaled 'Towing line fixed,' and the Turmoil headed for Falmouth."

Seven tries to secure a strong line failed yesterday.

Each time a light line was fired aboard as a "messenger" to haul in a heavier cable, each time the light line snapped. Once the heavy line was within arm's reach when the messenger parted and let it flop into the Atlantic swells.

Likes to Knit.

Dancy, an Englishman from apple-growing Kent county, has been a deep sea sailor since he was 16. He received a master's certificate 18 months ago. In leisure hours he likes to knit or play classical phonograph records.

(It was erroneously reported yesterday that the tug crewman who joined Carlsen aboard the Enterprise was Harry Davies of Aberdeen, Scotland. This report quoted the Turmoil's owner in Falmouth. No explanation of the wrong identification has been received.)

Despite his ordeal, Carlsen was still cheery. The destroyer Weeks saluted him.

"His courage, perseverance and devotion to his ship have aroused the admiration of all on the Weeks," it messaged.

"His only thought during his long ordeal has been for the safety of his passengers, crew and ship. His personal plight seems to cause him little concern. His conduct has been in the highest tradition of the sea. All present at the scene salute his gallant seamanship.

"We have developed almost as much affection for the Flying Enterprise as for Carlsen, and all hands are hoping to see Operation Enterprise through to a successful conclusion before departure."

Praised by Newspapers.

British newspapers, harking to the seafaring traditions of their land, praised the captain in editorials.

"Carlsen of the Enterprise is fulfilling supremely the highest traditions of the sea," said the News Chronicle.

"His simple words, 'You must realize that as ship's masters we cannot let go, we must live up to it,' will long be remembered as a mariner's creed when the name of the Enterprise is only a dim memory in the mind of the oldest sea dog. Whatever happens, Carlsen can be confident the whole world will salute him as a man who put duty first."

The Daily Express likened him to British war heroes, including Lord Mountbatten, whose heroism aboard sinking destroyers made him a naval legend.

"Rarely has there been a story of heroism at sea more worthy to add to the list of honor than that which tells of the gallantry of 'Captain Enterprise' Carlsen," the Express said.

TILLES WILL NAMES CHILDREN'S AID GROUP

$225,000 to Three Welfare Organizations—Estate More Than $706,038.

Three children's welfare organizations will share more than $225,000 from the estate of C. Andrew (Cap) Tilles, philanthropist and former horse race track operator, it was indicated yesterday with the filing of an inventory of his estate in probate court at Clayton.

The estate of Mr. Tilles, who in his lifetime gave away millions of dollars gotten from operation of tracks throughout the country, was valued in the inventory at $706,038. No market value was listed, however, for 12,618 shares of stock held in closed corporations.

In his will Mr. Tilles made specific bequests totaling $534,500 and named the children's welfare organizations as residuary beneficiaries.

Disposition of Residue.

One-fourth of the residue of the estate will go to the St. Joseph's Convent of Mercy for the use and benefit of the orphans' home in Webster Groves. Another quarter will go to the Rosalie Tilles Children's Home at Fort Smith, Ark., which Mr. Tilles founded in memory of his mother.

The remaining half of the residuary estate will go to trustees of the Rosalie Tilles Nonsectarian Children's Fund, which he founded in 1926 with a gift of $1,250,000.

Specific bequests made in the will were: $100,000 to Mrs. Jeannette L. Windegger, 4616 Lindell boulevard, a friend; $405,000 to 10 relatives, consisting of nieces and nephews and their children, and a half brother, Louis T. Brunhild; $18,500 to seven other friends, and $11,000 to five employes and former employes.

Estate Inventory.

Included in the inventory were bonds, mostly municipal, state and school, valued at $308,652; stocks, $443,557, including 4560 shares of the Admiral Corp. worth $107,160; notes, $4500; coupons, $1780, and cash, $1527.

Stocks listed at $1 a share, but not carried in the inventory total, included 11,546 shares of the General Fiber Corp., 745 shares of the International Hat Co., and 190 shares of the Delmar Investment Co.

In addition to his horse track ventures, Mr. Tilles made huge profits in the real estate and brokerage business.

In 1932 he gave the city his 68-acre country place in St. Louis county to provide a playground for children. Mr. Tilles lived on a seven-acre section of the park at 2101 McKnight road before his death last Nov. 21. He was 85 years old.

MAN STRUCK BY STREETCAR ON ELEVATED TRACKS, KILLED

Sylvan M. Counts, 4557 North Broadway, was killed last night when he was struck by an Illinois Terminal Railroad Co. streetcar on the elevated tracks near Buchanan street in North St. Louis. His body fell 35 feet to the ground.

Leonard Herman, Granite City, operator of the car, said that Counts was crouched on the tracks when he first saw him.

Counts, 44 years old, was employed as an inspector by the Ruberoid Co., a roofing firm, 9215 Riverview drive.

$635,080 BEQUEST TO OLD FOLKS HOME

Widow of Ex-Circuit Judge Lee Names Kirkwood Institution, Others.

The Old Folks Home at Kirkwood will receive $635,080 from the estate of Mrs. Flora Lee, widow of former Circuit Judge Edwin Waterman Lee, it was disclosed today in probate court. Mrs. Lee died in 1947.

Also receiving a bequest of $635,080 is the Salvation Army at Los Angeles, where Mrs. Lee formerly lived. But from this amount must be deducted $153,524 taxes imposed by Missouri on out-state bequests, leaving a net of $481,456.

Amounts of these and other bequests were based on a tax appraiser's report filed today in probate court which disclosed that of her trust estate of $2,138,337, which she estabmlished in 1942, and her probate estate of $68,861, consisting of actual possessions, $1,801,009 was available for distribution. The latter figure was determined after deductions for taxes, administrative and other costs.

Others to share in the estate are First Presbyterian Church, $20,000; Masonic Home of Mishouri, $10,000; and the Humane Society of Missouri, $5000. All are in St. Louis.

The Public Hospital of Penatang, Ontario, Canada, will receive $5263 and bequests ranging from $2000 to $3200 will go to 51 friends and relatives, mostly in California.

BRITAIN INVOKES STEEL CURBS TO AID REARMING AND EXPORT

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP) — The British Government yesterday announced controls on domestic consumption of steel to protect the nation's rearmament and export programs.

A national steel shortage of 1,500,000 tons caused the move. Effective Feb. 4 industries will be allocated steel "based on the priority of national needs." Britain hopes to get 800,000 tons of steel from the United States.

There never has been an adequate supply of consumer goods for Britons since World War II. The new step is expected to make even scarcer a wide range of domestic appliances such as refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, carpet sweepers, lawn mowers and various electrical appliances.

Five Dead in Montreal Fire.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5 (AP)—Five persons died today in an apartment building fire in Montreal's west end. Searchers found five bodies in the ruins.

'PURR' IN MOTOR SOUNDS LIKE CAT'S MEOW—AND IT IS

A. L. Vieth, 221 Holman street, Alton, was slightly perturbed by a new high-pitched purring sound coming from the motor of his convertible as he drove to work today.

"It sounds exactly like a cat's meow," he told fellow workers.

Some of his fellow employes were skeptical but willing to be convinced. Sure enough, there was a distinct feline yowl coming from the motor after he parked the machine.

When the hood was lifted, there was revealed the Vieth family tomcat perched uncomfortably between the fan and the battery case.

"I don't know how it managed to keep out of the fan when the motor was running," mused Vieth as the cat, its dignity badly ruffled, slunk away without a sound.

AFL MEAT WORKERS ACCEPT 6C RISE; CIO LOCALS PROTEST

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—About 125,000 AFL meat workers accepted a six cents an hour wage increase from the nation's meat packers yesterday.

But large numbers of CIO packinghouse workers walked off their jobs in several cities in brief demonstrations for other benefits besides the six cents an hour accepted by the AFL.

About 3600 CIO workers walked out in half-day rallies yesterday and Thursday in Armour & Co.'s Chicago plant, and similar CIO demonstrations were reported in Denver, Atlanta and Des Moines.

Besides a wage increase, the CIO packinghouse workers want a $3000 a year minimum wage, which the packers have refused.

The agreement ratified yesterday by delegates of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen gives its members a new average wage of $1.66 an hour. It was signed with the Swift, Armour, Wilson, Cudahy and independent meat packing companies. The increase is retroactive to Dec. 17.

Army Reserve Chiefs to Meet.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Heads of the 25 Army organized reserve corps divisions will hold a one-day conference at the Pentagon Jan. 11. The Army announced yesterday commanders or representatives of the divisions would confer on reserve affairs. Members of the divisions would form the framework for military expansion in the event of total mobilization.

FUNERAL OF OTTO A. HAMPE TO BE AT 2 P.M. MONDAY

Funeral services for Otto A. Hampe, an insurance broker and former Public Administrator, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, 3637 Lindell boulevard, with cremation at the Valhalla Chapel of Memories. The body will be at the A. Kron Undertaking establishment, 2707 North Grand boulevard, until 10 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Hampe, 74 years old, died yesterday at his home of complications which followed a lung operation two months ago. He lived at 3438 Russell boulevard. He entered the insurance business in 1896 and was associated with the W. H. Markham & Co. He served as an Alderman from the old Tenth Ward from 1915 until 1921.

Mr. Hampe was active in Masonic circles. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gussie Hampe; a brother, Harry Hampe, and two sisters, Misses Tillie and Ann Hampe.

PAY RISE FOR 85 APPROVED

Wage Stabilization Board approval of a general wage increase for about 85 employes of Southwest Truck Body Co. was announced today by the board's office in Kansas City.

The wage adjustment petition, submitted jointly by the company and the AFL International Association of Machinists, will increase pay scales of skilled and other workers by about 15 cents an hour. The plants are at 2701 South Fourth street and Parks Airport.

It's Leap Year

Advice to the Girls On Snaring a Husband

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP).

SO it's leap year, lady, and you want to get that guy?

Well, if you want to be successful quit trying to follow the usual advice to the lovelorn, and face the real facts of life.

HAL BOYLE

The main fact is that the odds are against you — and the odds are getting worse. Ten years ago there were 100 men for every 100 women in the United States. But the last census showed there are only 96.6 men over 21 for every 100 women in the same age bracket.

There just aren't enough guys to go around. Most of the 100 women try to marry one of those 96 men. Why don't you aim at the leftover— the .6 per cent fellow. Don't forget that if you can't get a whole man a male fraction is better than none.

★ ★ ★

THE PROFESSIONAL advice-givers usually tell a girl to be sensible and "marry a dependable, healthy man with a steady job and a good sense of humor." That is like telling you to marry the man in the moon.

Think of all the men you know who are dependable, healthy, and have steady jobs and a good sense of humor. Don't they already wear some gal's brand? As a young woman told me mournfully:

"I know a lot of good men I'd like to marry—but their wives won't let me."

★ ★ ★

SO, IF YOU REALLY WANT to get married this year, start culling over the junk heap of masculinity that's left.

Your best bet isn't to search for the perfect husband. It's to salvage and recondition some battered Joe your girl friends have passed over in the mad scramble. To take some masculine nightmare and remold him into your dream man—that is your challenge.

A few tips on how to do it:

Look for a man with circles under his eyes. Now, here is obviously a fellow who needs a good long rest. All you have to do is convince him that if he marries you he will get it.

Men with ulcers are always good possibilities. But if you have an ulcer, too, don't let him know about it until after you've pushed him to the altar. Tell him you're flat-footed or got indoor eczema—and he won't mind. But all bachelors are instinctively wary of wedding women with the same ailment as they have. They don't want to share it with anybody.

★ ★ ★

SINGLE MEN with melancholy dispositions are first-rate prospects. Marriage is a serious proposition, and nothing is so trying to a wife as a mate who brags about his sense of humor. What gives a husband the right to think he's got anything to laugh about anyway?

Don't worry if the man you're after doesn't seem able to hold a steady job. Six months after you land him, he'll be glad to get up every morning and go to work—anything to get out of the house.

The main thing is—don't look for a man you want to marry because of his virtues. Marry a man for his defects, and then iron them out. It is much easier to correct a defect than to preserve a virtue.

Two final warnings:

Don't marry a man who wears bow ties and a crew haircut. He'll never grow up.

And don't marry an oboe player. You'll never hear the last of him.

Types of Listeners

By Christopher Billopp

LISTENERS are of two kinds, obviously inattentive and apparently attentive. Obviously inattentive listeners gaze up at the ceiling or off into the distance. Thus they indicate that they do not hear anything. So there is no use wasting one's voice on them.

★ ★ ★

APPARENTLY ATTENTIVE listeners are flattering to the speaker. For they indicate that he is an interesting conversationalist. They give him every reason to believe that they regard him as a trustworthy authority and a person of extensive knowledge.

While the speaker is scornful of obviously inattentive listeners he holds a high opinion of the apparently attentive listeners. He regards them as persons of rare intelligence and acute sensibilities.

That is until, the very day after he has briefed them, they return to him with questions which show all too clearly that they paid no attention to anything he said.

★ ★ ★

IN MARKED CONTRAST are the apparently attentive listeners. They are not content with bare outlines. They demand every detail. If a young woman is the subject they want to know her husband's name and the names of her parents and her children. They want to know how many children there are. They demand the number of the house in which they live and the name of the street.

If the subject has to do with some incident that occurred in the past they insist upon being told the day of the month and year in which it occurred.

The minds of apparently attentive listeners seem so alert that a speaker spares no effort in satisfying their thirst for knowledge. No question they put is too much to answer. And they cannot ask too many of them.

TRAPPED IN 'EL' CRASH

Motorman John W. Brokopp, in charge of a Chicago elevated train which crashed into a standing train on the South Side last night, grimaces in pain as he waits for rescuers to free him from the wreckage. He was trapped for an hour and suffered serious injuries. Forty-four other persons were hurt in the crash.

CHURCHILL ARRIVES IN U.S. British Prime Minister Winston Churchill (arrow) is surrounded by welcomers as he arrives at the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Army Base today, after a Coast Guard cutter had transferred him from the liner Queen Mary on which he crossed the Atlantic for his talks with President Truman. Grover Whalen, New York greeter, walks beside the 77-year-old Premier, who is followed by his daughter, actress Sarah Churchill. Behind her is her husband, photographer Anthony Beauchamp (bare-headed). Churchill flew from New York to Washington, where he was greeted by the Chief Executive.

TEST FOR SMOKE-EATERS Dense smoke boils skyward as Philadelphia firemen battle a blaze that destroyed the block-long Thomas Paper Stock Co. plant yesterday. Three hundred fire fighters answered six alarms and struggled for five hours before bringing the fire under control. Tons of waste paper stored in the building of the salvage concern fed the blaze.

HUMAN CHAIN AIDS CASUALTY

Troops of the Forty-fifth Infantry Division form a human chain to negotiate a snowy hill in Korea as they move a wounded comrade, shot during a patrol action, back to their positions. In background are ridges, deep in snow, for which United Nations and Communist units have battled for days.

A MOTHER AT 14 →

Mrs. Geraldine Hudson, 14 years old, is visited by her husband, Sanford, 19, at a New York hospital after giving birth to a 6-pound 14-ounce boy yesterday. The pair was married last February in an elopement to Arlington, Va.

SKIPPER ON STRICKEN FREIGHTER Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who refused to abandon his stricken ship, is shown on deck (circled area) of the freighter, Flying Enterprise, more than 300 miles off Falmouth, England. Carlsen had remained alone since last Saturday, when he ordered his crew of 40 and 10 passengers from the storm-battered vessel, until the tug Turmoil reached the scene yesterday and managed to get its first mate aboard. Today the freighter was in tow, bound for Falmouth. Picture was made from a British Royal Air Force plane.

ANY PORT IN A STORM Any port in a storm seems to be the common thought of these residents of San Sebastian, Spain, as they clamber up the side of a building and a light pole to escape water swirling through the street. The waterfront of the resort and fishing port on the Bay of Biscay was hard hit in a recent European storm.

4 FILM FIRMS SETTLE SUITS OF 9 U.S. JAILED

Men Charged Blacklisting for Refusal to Testify Whether They Were Reds.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5 (AP) — Four movie studios have settled for $107,500 damage suits totaling $325,000 filed by nine of the Hollywood directors and writers jailed for contempt of Congress for failure to say in 1947 whether they were members of the Communist party.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Universal, Columbia and Warners were said to have settled the suits with Robert W. Kenny, attorney for the 10, who charged they were blacklisted by the studios for refusing to testify. Beneficiaries of the money were understood to be Ring Lardner Jr., Adrian Scott, Albert Maltz, Herbert Biberman, Alvah Bessie, John Howard Lawson, Samuel Ornitz, Lester Cole and Dalton Trumbo.

Three other studios named in the suits—RKO, Twentieth Century-Fox, and Paramount—have not made settlements.

The tenth member of the Hollywood group who instituted suit, Director Edward Dmytryk, withdrew his action, recanted his political beliefs and was accepted back into the film fold.

WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY GRAVOIS BUS

Mrs. Frances Smith, 65 years old, 9131 Wayne drive, Affton, was in serious condition today at City Hospital as the result of head injuries suffered last night when she was struck by a Gravois bus at the corner of Twelfth boulevard and Market street.

Charles Kreinenheder, 4246 Dewey avenue, the driver, told police Mrs. Smith ran in front of the bus when he was making a left turn from Market into Twelfth.

Three men were injured today when an automobile skidded on an icy patch on Riverview boulevard and struck a tree in a parkway in the middle of the street.

One passenger in the automobile, John Hagen, 4737 Beacon avenue, suffered a fractured right leg. Edward Lanemann, 4530 Thrush avenue, another passenger, suffered a fractured pelvis. The driver, Donald Lodholz, 4700 Genevieve avenue, suffered contusions of the right knee. He told police he was driving south on Riverview at about 45 miles per hour when the machine skidded in the vicinity of Laura avenue.

William Saroyan Divorce Suit.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan. 5 (AP)—Writer William Saroyan and his estranged wife, the former Carol Marcus, have reached a property settlement and her lawyer will file a divorce suit for her soon. Jerry Giesler, Mrs. Saroyan's attorney, told the court yesterday he wished to drop her separate maintenance suit and substitute the divorce action. Saroyan and his wife were married in 1943. They were divorced in 1949 and were remarried last year. They separated again last Sept. 1 after five months.

Flashes of Life

Warm Cell Welcome.

MUNCIE, Ind.—John A. Scott kept cool for a while despite the hot pursuit of an officer carrying a warrant charging non-support.

Scott waded neck deep into the icy water of a creek. Deputy Sheriff Delbert Knight sat on the bank and waited.

Scott soon came out and appeared glad to get into the warmth of the county jail.

Making a Habit of It.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Exactly one year after reporting loss of his wallet containing $1100, Michael Vogel called police with the good news that he had found it.

The wallet came to light under a spread covering the springs of his mattress, he said. Police congratulated him. Vogel wasn't completely happy. He explained he had lost or mislaid another wallet, this time with $420 in it.

It Never Rains but—

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—When Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardey were driving home from a party these things happened to them:

Their headlights went out. After they stopped off the road, a door slammed shut and cut the wire on the trouble light.

The motor died—no gasoline—then the battery went dead.

Hardey then found the car not only was mired in the mud but had a flat tire.

A truck finally towed the Hardeys 15 miles into Bloomington.

$26,000 Paris Bank Robbery.

PARIS, Jan. 5 (UP)—Two long-haired men using a 1924 automobile that had to be cranked by hand robbed a Paris bank of almost $26,000 yesterday.

BIRTHS RECORDED.

Important to parents of children born in Greater St. Louis. If your names do not appear in the birth column within two weeks after birth of your child, call the physician or midwife and insist that records be sent to the Board of Vital Statistics, Room 10, Municipal Courts Building.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM in my late teens, and fond of a boy who is a year older. I have gone out with him several times. I have a car and when I do not have a regular date, two or three of the girls and myself will take my car and go somewhere together. This boy is bashful and slow about asking for a date. When we girls go places in my car, however, he and his friends usually find out and they will follow us home. Then we sit in our respective cars and talk, if it is still early. Not long ago he had the nerve to tell one of my girl friends the reason he doesn't take me out more is because I run after him so much. He is the one who chases me in his car, I don't chase him, or any boy. In spite of having said this, one of his pals tells me he talks about nothing but me. Do you think perhaps he would rather have fun with the boys more often, than date a girl? Do you think if he didn't see me around for a while he might hunt me up, break down and ask more often for a date? What do you think I should do?

DONNIE.

That doesn't sound like a good idea to me. While you are off in seclusion in some ivory tower, Prince Charming is very likely to be off charming someone else. So better stick around and be seen in your usual haunts. As to who is chasing whom it would seem from your description that your boy friend is the pursuer. Stop worrying about all this and act natural. Date others, go out with this one when he asks you and you feel in the mood, and if sometimes he prefers an evening with the boys—well, you like one with the girls every now and then too.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 12 YEARS OLD and have four younger brothers. My parents cannot seem to get along. They quarrel all the time. I have often heard them say if it were not for us children they would not stay together. We have not much money and I don't know what we would do if Daddy left us. I would like to know how I can patch up this trouble between my parents without seeming to do so. WANT TO HELP.

Sometimes when these quarrels come between parents they do not stop to realize how terrible their differences seem to their children. What to them is often merely an argument, due to overwrought nerves or momentary irritation, assumes huge proportions in the minds of their youngsters. And the hasty or cruel thing said which are forgotten quickly once their tempers have cooled down, linger long and cause worry in the hearts of the children. If your mother and father knew you are worried about them, fear what may come if your Dad leaves you, I am sure they would be most repentant and would do everything possible to avoid quarrels in the future. There is little indeed that a child can do when situations like this arise. All you can do is try to see to it that you keep on loving them both, cause no friction in the family if you can avoid it, and hope and pray your parents will be less quarrelsome.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE C-334: Eileen R., aged 28, is an attractive blonde wife. "Dr. Crane, a few years ago you wrote a column that changed my entire life," she said with an engaging smile.

"It was the one in which you described how women spend so much time on their Sunday dinner that their husbands can't enjoy their companionship on the one free day the men folks have at home.

"Well, that set me to thinking. I hadn't been married more than a year then and had been constantly worried lest my cooking might not compare favorably with that of my husband's mother.

"So I would fret about my menu and the preparation of Sunday dinner. Then I'd be tired out by the time I finished the dishes and tidied up the kitchen.

"If my husband would then suggest a hike or a golf game, I'd beg off on the ground that I was too weary.

"But after reading your column, I mentally analyzed my marriage and I found that my husband had begun to renew his contacts with the men he formerly ran around with before our marriage.

"I could see that I was indirectly driving him away by failing to be a companion and playmate on Sunday when he craved my company.

"Why, I grew so angry at myself to think I had slaved so hard and thus jeopardized my marital happiness.

"That very next Sunday, moreover, our minister referred to your column and preached his sermon on Christ's statement that men do not live by bread alone.

"Dr. Crane, I was shocked to realize I had been worshipping at the shrine of one's stomach.

"I had been unfair to myself as well as to my husband. You had said that men have many appetites and that a perfect wife should not make a kitchen slave out of herself, especially on the Sabbath.

"So I severed my bondage to the kitchen stove. Oh, I didn't stop cooking, but I prepared picnic sandwiches and went on hikes with my husband.

I stopped worrying about food. If my husband wanted to dine at a restaurant on Sunday I agreed. If he wished to stay at home for dinner, we had something that didn't take much time to prepare.

"Following your suggestion, I now keep cold meat and cheese in the refrigerator. I can put a luncheon together in 15 minutes.

"I cook him hot dinners on weekdays but have decided to make Sunday a day of comparative rest.

"My husband seems to love me more, and says he now doesn't hesitate to bring a friend home since I can always fix up a bite to eat in a few minutes.

"My popularity hasn't dwindled among my guests or relatives, either! My husband has told me he often hears them say they especially enjoy being at our house for I don't make such a fuss over the meals but can relax and enjoy myself with them in the living room."

Social Problems

By Emily Post

TODAY'S first letter asks: "What can one do to keep a certain otherwise likable person from continually asking: 'How much did you pay for that hat?' or, 'Where did you get your shoes?' and endless other personal questions, the answers to which one sometimes would rather keep to oneself?"

The best way I know is to put amounts once paid for out of mind—and thus be able to reply quite truthfully, "I don't remember." As to the "where" (although I don't understand quite so well why you mind answering) you could mention the biggest store in town and say, "I am not sure about that but it was probably at Blakes!"

Preparing Children for An Emergency

By Angelo Patri

LETTERS are coming in from parents who fear that mentions of the dangers of wartime is likely to set fear in their children. How are they to lessen such fear when the teachers are instilling it with these safety drills? Isn't it a bad thing to do anyway, scaring children about something that may never happen?

War, or threat of war, brings fear in its atmosphere. Fear is always with us, in us, as a protecting force. When we are afraid of something, we take precautions to protect ourselves; so we take precautions in the face of war threats. We must protect the children with all the might of our power and we hope, by preparing them for any emergency, to do just that.

★ ★ ★

EMERGENCY DRILLS are nothing new to school children. They are accustomed to hearing the sharp clang clang of the fire drill gongs, accustomed to marching out in fast time and following the directions given them afterward. In my experience this practice, instead of making children fearful, made them brave because they knew what to do, knew that the emergency had been provided for and so felt safe.

I have been in a school crowded with children, close to 4000 of them, when black smoke billowed through the halls and into the classrooms. The fire gongs sounded, the children lined up and marched swiftly to their stations, and stood there calmly while the firemen entered the building to quench a fire that had started on the roof where men were using tar. Nobody so much as shivered.

The stage was set that day for a catastrophe, had one child so much as cried out. None did. This situation is not uncommon in the schools of the nation. This story of threatened danger and the children's calm response to the signals is one that can be told by school after school.

★ ★ ★

WE CANNOT HIDE the threat of danger from children if it exists. They are sensitive to the atmosphere about them and when there is fear in it they respond to it fearfully unless something is done that assures them of safety. Once the feel that they can do something about what threaten them, they know courage and a feeling of safety.

Nobody likes fire drills or war drills but commonsense tells us that they are a helpful necessity.

Encourage the children to observe these drill regulations carefully and show no fear about them. It is the best way to protect children physically and spiritually.

Fix It Yourself

By Hubbard Cobb

More Floor Troubles.

IF you flood a floor with water on the theory that the more water used the cleaner the floor will get, you are in for troubles. This practice raises the grain of wood floors and may even make the boards warp and cup. This means a complete resanding and finishing operation. In the case of linoleum or rubber and asphalt tile the water makes the flooring come loose and it has to be recemented into place.

When cleaning solutions or waxes containing oil, grease or solvents are used on rubber or asphalt tile, the colors in the tile will bleed and the surface of the flooring will become soft. Sometimes you can effect a cure by removing the softened material with steel wool but in many cases you'll need a new floor.

If you insist on using alkaline or caustic cleaners on rubber tile eventually the tile will crack and curl. Strong cleaning solutions will make linoleum and cork floors brittle.

All these headaches are pretty easy to avoid. First, never flood a floor with water. A cloth dampened in water will pick up just as much dirt. Secondly, get from the party who sold you the floor or installed it the floor manufacturers' specifications for cleaning and waxing. If you have these it's hard to go wrong.

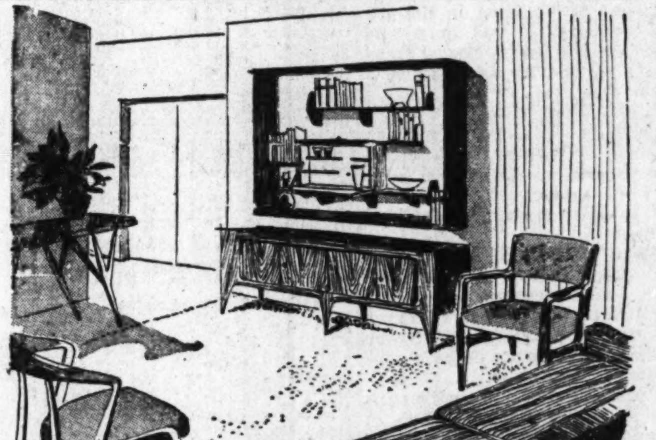
Italian-Designed Furniture

By Elizabeth Hillyer



THIS furniture was designed in Italy, where nearly every piece of furniture is made individually for a particular home. It is made in the United States, where good design is reproduced and enjoyed in many homes.

Here the talents of the two countries combine, the creative genius of Italy and American genius for putting good things into production. The result is important new style.

The designers of furniture in Italy are architects — there are no furniture designers, as such. The architect designs everything for the house or the building he creates, the furniture, lighting, all the decorative effects. He is usually a sculptor and often a designer of ceramics and fabrics.

Thus the architect who plans a house complete with its furnishings thinks in special terms of how the furniture will look in a room.

Most striking in these new designs is the sculptural lines of legs and table bases. They look molded, rather than sawed, and are often as important as pieces of decoration in the room as they are as the supports of the furniture. That common complaint of the contemporary room — a monotonous forest of look-alike chair and table legs—is impossible with this furniture. Legs take many different shapes and different angles, and some cabinets have no legs but are hung on the wall.

The wood is walnut in a soft grayed tone. Glass is often used for table tops and many tapering legs are tipped with slender sleeves of brass.

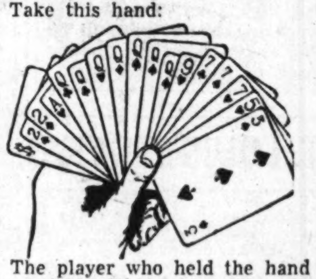
Playing Canasta to Win

By Albert H. Morehead

ONE of the first things for a card player to learn is that the words "always" and "never" hardly exist. There are rules, but they have their exceptions.

In Samba, however, there is one case in which the "rule" comes close to being invariable. When your partner melds a sequence and you have a card that matches it, you MUST add that card at your very next turn.

Take this hand:



The player who held the hand needed 90. His partner, who was first to play for his side, promptly made the meld with a joker and two kings, plus the sequence of J-10-9 in diamonds.

When it came the turn of this player, he saw that he held the queen of diamonds, which would fit the sequence. But he saw too that he had a natural canasta in queens, and he could not bear to give it up. He melded it and scored the 500.

He was wrong. The big object in Samba is to get the 1500-point bonus for a completed (seven-card) sequence-canasta. He should have added his queen to the sequence without the slightest regret. Especially so in this case, when he could make a mixed canasta anyway. The natural canasta gained him only 200 points; it could have lost him 1000.

Question: In cutting for deal and partners a player picks a joker. Is he permitted to declare it high or low, in order to choose with whom he will play?

Answer: No. The player who cuts a joker must cut again.

A free copy of the laws of Samba will be sent on request of any reader who writes to Mr. Morehead in care of the Post-Dispatch, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

PARIS.

THE first day back on the job at the General Assembly began rather badly for me because I overslept and had to dash through breakfast and up to the office to be prepared on the first item we were going to discuss. I was in my office on time, however, and remembered to say happy New Year to everyone I met. Some had been to London, some to Rome, and some to Germany. Senator John Cooper had been to Italy and Yugoslavia. The south of France was popular, too, but I was glad I had gone home, brief as my stay was and much as I hated to leave again.

Mrs. Roosevelt

We had a delegation meeting and then a meeting of committee three at the Palais de Chaillot.

★ ★ ★

THE SUBJECT for discussion was the question faced by the high commissioner for refugees now that the International Refugee Organization has come to an end. The activities of the high commissioner are governed by statute, and that statute clearly defines what he is responsible for.

He is not responsible for the relief operation, but he is obligated to protect refugees in countries all over the world—in other words, to act as their home country would act for them if it were able to do so. He must negotiate with the governments of the various countries to get the refugees permits for travel, residence and work, and if the refugees are going to other countries permanently the high commissioner must try to look after their interests.

There are so many different categories of refugees all over the world today that it is hard to say that some come under the high commissioner's jurisdiction and some do not. Also, it is hard to say that in no case shall he help them tangibly with relief.

★ ★ ★

HE IS ASKING for an administrative budget that will permit him to have 11 branch offices to look after the welfare of displaced persons in different parts of the world. Then he also wants permission to appeal for voluntary contributions from United Nations organizations and individuals, and even governments, in order to provide funds that he can use when material aid is essential.

The appeal to individuals and organizations seems quite possible, but it is questionable whether one should begin to have the heads of organizations able to appeal for voluntary contributions from governments.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

The "Stern" Parents and the "Stern" of a Ship.

"The sterne wind so loud gan to rout."
—Geoffrey Chaucer.

"STERN," as in the stern father, derives from the Anglo-Saxon "styrne," one from the Teutonic to the Greek, and meaning stiff or rigid. The physical significance of hardness or rigidity soon extended to severity or austerity of any kind, as in the allusion to a "stern" heart or Chaucer's "sterne wind." Shakespeare's "I would outstare the sternest eyes that look," combines the physical with the wider suggestion of "stern."

A word of a different color is "stern" to name the rear end of a ship. This also goes all the way back to Chaucer and before. Originally the stern was the steering end of a boat, the helm or tiller —by virtue of the Icelandic "stjorn," a steering.

Four Factors Adding Up to A Good Figure

FOUR things add up to a beautiful figure, diet, posture, exercise, and a girdle. The girdle may be a mere wisp but it is sure to delineate the difference between a curve and a bulge. And that's the difference between the beauty and the bumptious.

★ ★ ★

WITH CURRENT fashions, what a girdle does for the waist is most important. The new models fit above the waistline in a way that smooths the diaphragm and helps to pull your waist out of your hips at all times, whether you are sitting, walking or standing.

You can augment the effect with this waist slimming exercise: Lie on the floor with your knees bent, soles on the floor, and hands resting lightly on your thighs. Sliding your hands toward your knees, lift your head and shoulders as high as you can. Roll them back (don't drop back) to the floor again. Work up to the point at which you can easily do this 25 times daily—and then be sure that you do! When you see the snug and upping waistlines of the new spring fashions you'll be glad you started this exercise in January.

★ ★ ★

YOU'LL ALSO WANT a slimmer thighline to grace those new fashions that have rippling skirts. A four-section foundation with firm side panels will help, but this exercise performed 10 times a day will help even more:

Assume the same starting position mentioned above. Drop both knees over to smack the floor, first right and then left, letting the inner surfaces of the thighs slap with each fall.

Don't depend on any one element alone—diet, posture, exercise, or a girdle to proportion your figure. It takes all four to achieve the form divine! If that's for you in '52, get busy!

Tasty Tricks

Most people never think to use aromatic seeds as a seasoner but once you get the habit, you'll wonder how you ever did without them. Dill does well in new-potato salad and over hot or cold cooked beets.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THE declarer had the right idea in the following hand, but he was too easily sidetracked.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠7
♥85
♦A10984
♣AKQ63

WEST
♠42
♥QJ
♦Q7532
♣9854

EAST
♠A86
♥AK107632
♦J
♣J7

SOUTH
♠KQJ10953
♦K6
♣102

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♦	3♥	4♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

East's jump overcall was intended as a "two-way bid." If West could raise, East figured to have an excellent play for four hearts; and if it was South who had the balance of strength, perhaps he could be kept quiet. Obviously, however, East's plan could not bear fruit, because South was so well heeled in the higher ranking spade department.

West opened the queen of hearts, and after a moment's thought, East overtook the trick with the king and returned the jack of diamonds.

The significance of this defense was not lost upon declarer —he realized that East was out for a diamond ruff. So South took precautions. He led two rounds of clubs, then continued with a third round, to get rid of his second heart and in that way prevent East from putting his partner in with a heart.

This was a sound idea on declarer's part, but when East unkindly ruffed the third round of clubs, South went wrong. No doubt he was disgusted at the club break; whatever his reason was, he overruffed East—and that was his finish! Now, when he knocked out the trump ace, East returned a low heart on the one chance of finding his partner with the jack, and since that desperate effort succeeded, East was able to ruff the diamond return for the setting trick.

South should have followed through with his original plan! There was no point in overruffing East on the third round of clubs —all South had to do was discard his losing heart. Then East could never have put his partner in for a diamond return, and declarer's only losers would have been the spade ace, the original heart trick, and East's club ruff.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Albert Edward Wiggam, D. Sc.

1. DOES AMERICA LEAD IN WOMEN CRIMINALS? YOUR OPINION—
2. SHOULD YOU ANSWER EMBARRASSING QUESTIONS TRUTHFULLY? YOUR OPINION—
3. DID JOE LOUIS SET A GOOD EXAMPLE BY HIS SPORTSMANSHIP? YES ☐ NO ☐
CHAYTON

Answer to Question 1.

MYSTERY Writer Brett Halliday believes American women lead the world in crime because of modern weapons and means of transportation. Their crime rate is appalling—76,583 women criminals in 1950, against 717,088 men. More alarming is the wide range of crimes. The FBI reports one out of 85 Americans has a criminal record! Better look over yours!

Answer to Question 2.

If you did, you'd soon be a social outcast. Follow the plan of the 4-year-old girl who, when kissed by an auntie whom she disliked, vigorously rubbed her cheek. Auntie said, "Why Mary, you don't seem to like me to kiss you; you're trying to rub it off." The tot, although trembling with rage, said sweetly: "I was trying to rub it in so the wind wouldn't blow it away." Our booklet, "How To Be Popular," sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only), plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question 3.

Yes, it's the best kind, because it is a living example. Joe's clean life and sportsmanship are good examples for boys, girls and adults, too. Incidentally, Joe's teacher advised him "to do something with his hands." He did.

GRAINS RULE HIGHER ON CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Grain prices rolled upward in pretty brisk dealings for a half-day session on the Board of Trade today. Buying centered largely in near-by contracts, particularly March wheat.

Prospects of exports next week to West Germany and Japan again were a factor in wheat's strength. In addition, moderate mill buying against sales of flour developed. Lack of any apparent progress in the Korean truce negotiations caused some short-covering.

Feed grains were aided by continued strength in the cash market, where both corn and oats are selling at substantial premiums, and an Agriculture Department estimate of a sharply lower carryover of feed cereals next Oct. 1.

Some buying in feed grains followed an Agriculture Department estimate that by next Oct. 1 the carryover of feed grains—corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums—will drop to 18,000,000 tons. The carry-over last Oct. 1 totaled nearly 29,000,000 tons.

A little buying in corn was based on the advance in live hog prices this week. Many traders believe the peak of the hog movement is over and a seasonal price rise is due. That will improve the corn-hog ratio, possibly making it profitable to feed corn to hogs again. The corn-hog ratio in Iowa is now 10.6.

Mills were early buyers in wheat, removing hedges against sales of domestic flour. This represented an awaited pick-up in the domestic flour trade. Flour business normally is dull during the holidays, grain men said. They felt some bakers had let stocks slip to low levels.

Canadian Oil Found.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. announced it has encountered a good showing of oil in a well being drilled in southwestern Saskatchewan.

The well is located near the town of Roseray, some 27 miles west of the city of Swift Current and about 100 miles from the nearest producing oil field in Canada, the company said.

According to Socony-Vacuum, the well is being drilled as part of an obligation to obtain a 50 per cent interest in approximately 950,000 acres of Crown permits held by Western Prairie Exploration, Ltd.

STOCKS EXTEND RISE FOR FIFTH SESSION

Only Little Progress Made, However, and Buying Is Light and Selective.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Selective demand imparted steadiness to the stock market today. Although little or no progress was made on the extension of the year-end rally into the new year, the gains made thus far this week in the straight four-day rise remained unimpaired.

Railroads, which were outstanding leaders this week, marked time today with narrow price changes. Steels and motors were steady. Oils showed a slipping tendency. Chemicals were highly mixed as were aircrafts.

The volume of business came to 490,000 shares, a bit under a week ago when the total was 560,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up .2 of a point.

Of 836 issues traded 357 closed up, 221 down and 258 unchanged.

Stocks going ahead included Santa Fe, Pan American World Airways, Johns-Manville, American Cyanamid, Goodyear, United Aircraft, and Zenith. A little lower were Texas Co., Celotex, Dow Chemical, Sears Roebuck and Boeing.

Brokers note a reinvestment demand as a factor in stimulating the advance this week, and they also point out the eagerness of traders and investors to buy individual issues on good corporate performance.

American Telephone today was comparatively active and a fraction higher. Two days ago it was the most active issue in the list and yesterday it was in second place. Zenith Radio showed short bursts of activity and gained a major fraction.

International Packers, which concentrates its meat packing business in various South American countries, dropped 1¼ at 13½ on a block of 4500 shares and in later trading it declined further.

Glenn Martin was fairly active and better than a point higher after announcement that it planned to bring in new money and new management manpower in order to keep its defense production in high gear.

Woodley Petroleum on the curb was up as much as 3 points at around 38 at times on top of its gain of 8 points yesterday. Woodley has a heavy interest, along with Socony-Vacuum, in a new well called the Socony Western Prairie Roseray No. 1 in Saskatchewan, Canada. The new discovery was called the most important yet in that province. Socony, traded on the big board, was up a small fraction today, just about equal to the small loss shown yesterday.

Other curb stocks were mixed. Higher were New Mexico & Arizona Land, Barium Steel, Ford Motor of Canada "A", and Jupiter Oils. Lower were Thiokol, American Superpower, Babcock & Wilcox, and Creole Petroleum. Bonds were steady.

LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (INS)—Livestock values were irregular at midwest markets during the past, holiday-shortened week of trading.

Receipts of all classes, in the new year's first week of trading, were larger than those of the previous Christmas week. Probably a good deal of stock ready for market at the end of 1951 was held back for sale until after the turn of the new year for tax purposes.

Prices of steers, heifers and cows were from steady to 50c higher and lower than a week ago. Generally, the trend was upward on the lighter weights of steers and yearlings and weaker on the heavier weights, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported.

Chicago had twelve carloads of high-prime grade fed steers at $38.25@39 a hundred pounds, but otherwise none was prime enough for more than $37.75. Highest price outside Chicago was $37.25, paid at Omaha. Most of the good and choice grades brought from $30@34.50.

Hogs generally finished 25@75 cents higher than a week ago when Chicago levels were the lowest for 1951. Chicago prices gained up to $1 on hogs over 240 pounds during the past week. At most markets, however, advances were greatest on the lighter weights.

Top for hogs during the week at Chicago was $19, paid on Thursday. The closing top was $18.85 compared with $18.25 a week earlier.

At the close of the week, top prices on choice lightweight hogs were from $17.85 to $19.50 at corn belt terminals. Most of the choice 180-300 pound butchers finished at $16.50@19.

Lambs closed mostly strong to 50c higher for the week. Advances up to $1.50 were posted at East St. Louis and Kansas City, while prices at Indianapolis finished 40c to $1 lower. Prime wooled lambs, weighing mostly under 110 pounds, reached a top of $32 at Omaha and Indianapolis and $31.75 at Chicago. Good to prime grades of similar weights brought $29@31.50 elsewhere around the market circuit.

COMMODITY INDEX LOWER FIRST TIME FOR THREE WEEKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Wholesale commodity prices turned downward this week for the first time in three weeks, according to the Associated Press commodity index. At 194.38, the index compared with 194.44 last weekend and with 208.12 a year ago. The base year of this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices is 1926, which equals 100.

Declines in the grains and cotton and textiles groups of commodities accounted for the over-all downturn. The food and livestock components were higher this week, and industrials and nonferrous metals held unchanged.

The index, with comparable figures for last week and a year ago, follows:

	Jan. 4	Wk.Ago	Yr.Ago
35 Commodities	194.38	194.44	208.12
Industrials	186.31	186.31	200.70

Mid-Continent Petroleum Extra 25c.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Mid-Continent Petroleum Corp. declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly of 75 cents, both payable March 15 to stock of record Feb. 15. No extra was paid at this time in 1950 but the company paid an extra of 25 cents in each of the last three quarters of 1950.

HOGS FINISH WEEK HIGHER AFTER SHARP MID-WEEK DROP

ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE. National Stockyards, Ill., Jan. 5—Hog receipts 300; lightweights 25@40c lower; 240 lbs. and up steady; top $18.85. Cattle and sheep receipts none.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Jan. 5 (USDA weekly review of the livestock market)—Increased supplies of cattle, a liberal proportion of which were steers, saw prices 50c or more lower on medium weight and heavy steers, yearling and light weights weak to 50c lower and a similar trend shown by heifers and mixed yearlings in week Friday to Friday. Cows advanced 50c to as much as $1, bulls closing steady to 25c higher, while vealers closed steady after losing early gains. Average and high Prime 1088-lb. steers topped at $37.50, high choice 1358-lb. steers $34.50 and high choice 937-lb. mixed yearlings $34.75. Good and choice steers and heifers bulked at $31@34.50, commercial and low good $27@30.50. Utility and commercial cows claimed $21.50@25, odd head $26 late with few utility offerings below $22. Utility and commercial bulls cashed at $25@29, a few $29.25 with cutter bulls $22@24. Majority of good and choice vealers brought $32@40, prime $41@44 with a few $45 Thursday.

Compared with last Friday, barrows and gilts under 225 lbs. finished 50@75c higher heavier weights 25@50c higher and sows 75c@$1 higher. Top price Wednesday, $18.35, was lowest in more than a year as supplies that day were largest in more than two years. The Friday top was $19.25. For the week, bulk of choice 180 to 240 lbs. sold at $18@19; 240 to 270 lbs., $17.50@18.50; 270 to 340 lbs. $16.50@18.10; 150 to 170 lbs. $17.50@19, 120 to 140 lbs. $16@17.75; sows, 400 lbs. down, $15.25@16.25, heavier sows $13.25@15.25.

Compared with last Friday; lambs unevenly 50c@$1.50 higher; scant supplies after midweek main cause of price hike; receipts restricted by holiday and icy roads but still about 40 per cent over Christmas week; high-choice and prime lambs scarce and commanding distinct premiums both to packer and shipper outlet; bulk lambs for week $29.50@31.25, mainly $30@31.25 late, including deck 105-lb lambs $31.25; couple lots choice and prime lambs under 100-lbs. $31.50 to shipper; few No. 1 skins $28@30 for week; several lots merely good yearlings $23@24; slaughter ewes steady; bulk $11@14.

COTTON UP $2.05 TO $2.70

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Cotton futures were firm today, continuing an advance which was started on Friday.

Trade buying and replacement of sold out lines encountered limited offerings until late in the session when profit taking caused a partial setback. The demand continued to be stimulated by prospects for a tightening in the statistical supply position as a result of heavy exports. The trade paid considerable attention to reports from the south that many farmers were not expected to put in as large cotton acreage as last year.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Cotton futures closed $2.05 to $2.70 a bale higher than the previous close.

"Miss" MILLIONS

CHAPTER 26.

"IT was a good idea," Trudy told Josie. "But she's not back."

She walked back to the bedroom, a little unsteadily.

"You are still weak," Josie said.

"I'm sort of limp. I don't know why."

"I know what you need," the maid told her. "A treatment."

"A treatment?"

"Yes, like I give Miss Karna when she is up late or feeling—what you call rocky. Come with me."

They went into the steam room of the suite, and Trudy had the experience of her first steam bath and rub.

She baked in the swirling steam, then Josie put her under a cold shower. On a rubbing table she gave Trudy first a salt rub, then a thorough massage.

When she finished, Trudy said: "I'm completely relaxed. Now we must make plans. We have a lot to do."

"Take some sun first," the maid urged. She brought shorts and a halter which Trudy donned. Then she went on the balcony of the suite and stretched out on a comfortable divan.

Trudy lay there, lazily gazing out across the river to the city beyond. It was a beautiful day.

"I'd like to get in the Cadillac and drive away—fast and far," she told Josie. "But this is not the day. Now, what are we going to do? Tomorrow noon is the deadline. We've got to do something."

Before Josie could reply, David came out on the balcony. He had come without knocking. Josie slipped into the suite.

As Trudy sat up quickly, David gave a wolf whistle and stood eyeing her in the scanty costume.

"I wasn't expecting company. I didn't hear you knock," Trudy said.

"I'm not company," the boy replied. "Don't be so formal. "Gee, you look great!"

* * *

JOSIE brought Trudy a robe and put it about her, then left the balcony. She had heard David's remarks.

"Well, what do you want?" Trudy asked.

David became serious.

"I want you to lay off my aunt. You've got her so jumpy that she's making life miserable for me."

"Isn't that just what's coming to you?"

"Aw, don't be that way. Two or three grand is just chicken feed to you. What's all the screaming for?"

"You steal almost $3000 and ask why I'm screaming? I should have screamed for the police. I may do it yet. No, I've got a better idea. I'll handle it another way."

Trudy had no other idea. She was merely trying to give David a good scare.

"Forget it," he said. "I'll pay you back."

"When? And how? Playing the races again? You tried that once."

"I'll pay it back. But lay off my aunt. You'd think I had killed somebody."

"No. Just stole something."

David reacted every time Trudy used the word "stole." He didn't like it, and she knew it.

"Now run along," she told him. "Next time knock when you come in my suite. And I expect you to come up with something besides promises about that money. And soon."

"And if I don't?" he asked defiantly.

"You'll have a very unpleasant surprise. Very unpleasant," Trudy repeated firmly.

* * *

"Isn't he despicable?" the maid said.

Trudy sighed.

"I wish we could have one problem at a time," she observed. "Sooner or later Ed is going to ask me for his money. Money! Money! That's all I hear. I certainly don't envy Karna, and I wouldn't trade places with her for all the world."

Josie smiled knowingly.

"Miss Karna has been in a lot of trouble, since I have been with her, but never anything quite as serious as this," she said.

"And you and I have to get it straightened out, somehow. I wish I could tell Ed that I'm just a make-believe heiress, then perhaps he could really help us. But that's out," Trudy said with finality.

"What can we do?"

"Josie, what is in the safe in Karna's room?"

"Oh, a fortune, Miss Trudy. Really a fortune."

"But I mean, just what is there?"

"All her jewelry, many of her important papers, some cash."

"Is it all real jewelry?"

"What do you mean?" Josie asked.

"Are there any imitation stones, or anything like that?"

Josie lowered her voice.

"Yes. It is all very secret, of course. Miss Karna owns a diamond necklace worth thousands of dollars. Mr. Moore wouldn't let her keep it here. It's in a safe deposit box in the city. She had an imitation duplicate necklace made. It's in the safe. She never wears it."

"Who knows about the imitation?"

"Just Miss Karna, Mr. Moore and myself."

"Good. Get it for me?"

"Get it for you? What do you want it for?"

"I have an idea. I think we can use it, without running the risk of any loss to Karna."

"But I don't understand."

"You remember the other day when the alarm rang, and Ed thought someone had been tampering with the safe?"

"Oh, of course," Josie replied.

"We'll 'rob' the safe. Of something we know is worthless, but something everyone else thinks is worth a fortune."

"But why?"

"If we can throw some suspicion on Dr. Rowland, we can stop his plans to blackmail me."

"Oh, no, Miss Trudy. That would be too dangerous."

"We have to take a chance. It's a desperate situation, and it requires desperate measures."

Trudy arose and threw off her robe.

"Come on," she said. "I'll dress and we'll make our plans."

"But I am so frightened, Miss Trudy," Josie exclaimed, "What would Miss Karna think?"

"We'll have to worry about that later."

"I don't like it. I don't like it at all," Josie protested.

Her face gleaming with excitement, Trudy went inside, pulled off the halter and shorts and started dressing.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

A READER has asked me to give the correct location of the ancient city of Thebes.

There were two important cities called Thebes during ancient times. One of these was in Greece, the other in Egypt.

* * *

THE GREEK THEBES was 44 miles northwest of Athens, and it played an important part in the history of the country. This city took the side of the Persian invaders in one important battle. Otherwise it seems to have been neither better nor worse than other Greek cities.

Thanks to a high citadel inside the city, and to heavy walls around it, Thebes was able to hold out against most attacks. During one period, it was an enemy of Athens and a friend of Sparta. Later it turned against Sparta, and Theban soldiers proved better than the Spartans in a big battle.

Thebes suffered from Roman conquest, and during the Middle Ages in Europe, its life was just about ended. Since then, it has recovered in a small way, but it is now a town with a population of only about 5000.

* * *

THE EGYPTIAN Thebes was larger, more ancient and more powerful. Located alongside the Nile River, 300 miles south of the present city of Cairo, Thebes was a center of religion. The god Ammon had a mighty temple there.

Many Egyptians gave worship to a god called Ra. There came a time when the priests of Thebes spoke of Ammon and Ra as the same being, and the combined name of Ammon-Ra was used to describe "the king of the gods."

The Egyptian Thebes was destroyed by a Roman army, but some of its mighty temples stand today in fairly good condition.

Near Thebes is the Valley of the Tombs of Kings. Several tombs in this valley have yielded treasures of ancient Egypt; the greatest of all treasures came from the tomb of King Tut.

MISTER BREGER— By Dave Breger

"Dorothy, wait'll everybody sees our nice low license number THIS year!"

ROOM AND BOARD—By Gene Ahern

WELL, IF YOU DON'T LIKE MY IDEA OF A PANCAKE FLOUR WITH A MAPLE FLAVOR .... HOW ABOUT THIS PASTRY DELIGHT I THOUGHT OF?..... THE 'DRY-DUNK'.... IT'S A DOUGHNUT MADE WITH A COFFEE FLAVOR!
THAT'S TERRIBLE!... IT'S A GOOD THING YOU AREN'T TH' COOK FOR THIS MILL.... YOU'D SPRING SOMETHING ON US LIKE A BAKED PUNCHING BAG STUFFED WITH SAGE DRESSING, AND CALL IT 'PERUVIAN SWAN'!
Gene Ahern
HE'S A COOKERY INVENTOR NOW

DEBBIE—By Cecil Jensen

IT'S TIME YOU DOLLS SETTLED DOWN
HE'S STUFFED WITH WOOL RAGS AND THEY MAKE HIM ITCH-
SO HE HAS TO DANCE ALL THE TIME-IF THE RAGS WERE REMOVED HE'D FEEL BETTER-I'D BE GLAD TO OPERATE ON HIM
CLOWN NO OPERATE
THIS NO JOKE!
HEY! HE'S LEAKING SAWDUST!
SO HE'S NOT STUFFED WITH WOOL RAGS
SURE-YOU DON'T HAVE TO DANCE-THAT ITCH IS ALL IN YOUR HEAD!
THIS ALL IN DEBBIE'S HEAD, TOO

GORDO—By Gus Arriola

LOOK—THERE'S THE BUS WEETH A LOAD OF TURISTAS!
COME! LE'S NAB US A PEEGEON!
WELCOME, NEIGHBOR! WE WOULD BE PLEASED TO GUIDE YOU TO OUR PUEBLO'S POINTS OF INTEREST!
WHY, THANK YOU!
I'M INTERESTED IN YOUR COUNTRY'S HISTORIC OBJECTS, OLD THINGS! YOU SEE, I ....
BY ALL MEANS, AMIGO! OLD TEENGS I CAN SHOW YOU!
WE GOT SOME OLDER--UH--OPEN THAT 1893 SHERRY NEXT, PELON!
I GOT SOME EVEN OLDER THAN THAT FOR $35.00 A BOTTLE!

BLONDIE—By Chick Young

MR McNUFF WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE P.T.A. LAST NIGHT
YEH, I HEARD
NO WONDER HE WON-- ALL THE WOMEN ARE JUST CRAZY ABOUT HIM
HMPH
HE'S VERY POPULAR WITH THE MEN TOO
WHAT'S SO WONDERFUL ABOUT THAT?
ANYBODY CAN BE POPULAR IF HE HAPPENS TO HAVE A LOT OF FRIENDS WHO LIKE HIM

LI'L ABNER—By Al Capp

?!-EGAD!! THE GHOST OF THAT TRAITOR—BENEDICT ARNOLD!!
BENEDICT ARNOLD FOSDICK WAS MY FULL NAME!!
YOU WERE AN ANCESTOR OF MINE?
OF COURSE!!—ALL US FOSDICKS ARE TRAITORS!! IT'S IN OUR BLOOD!!
AND YOU'RE CARRYING OUT THE FAMILY TRADITION BEAUTIFULLY, BY FORCING YOUR COUNTRY TO ELECT THE "ATOM BUM" AS PRESIDENT!! YOU'RE THE WORST RAT OF US ALL, FOSDICK. WE'RE PROUD OF YOU!!
THE BUM MUST DIE— EVEN THOUGH I DIE WITH HIM!!—I REGRET THAT I HAVE BUT TWO LIVES TO GIVE FOR MY COUNTRY-

NANCY—By Ernie Bushmiller

YOU'VE HAD SEVEN FIGHTS THIS WEEK, NANCY
I CAN'T HELP IT
I JUST SEEM TO FIGHT WITH EVERYONE LATELY
WELL, TRY TO PICK A PLAYMATE YOU CAN GET ALONG WITH TODAY

THE JACKSON TWINS—By Dick Brooks

POSIE, WHY DID YOU SIGN OUR NAMES TO YOUR LETTER TO TONY?
SHE PUT A SNAP OF YOU TWINS IN IT, TOO!
WELL, FIRST I THOUGHT A FAN LETTER FROM TWO CUTE TWINS MIGHT BE JUST DIFFERENT ENOUGH TO CAUSE A STIR! IT'S A GIMMICK!..."WE GET IDENTICAL THRILLS OVER YOU!"
"WE FIGHT OVER WHICH TWIN LIKES YOU THE MOST!"... AND STUFF LIKE THAT!
DICK BROOKS 1-5
THEN, IF WE HAVE TO TALK HIM INTO COMING TO THE BALL, YOU KIDS ARE PERFECT!
JAN WOULDN'T BE AFRAID TO FIGHT HER WAY IN TO SEE HIM AT THE THEATRE, AND WHEN SHE GETS THERE AND SWOONS, CALM AND BUSINESS-LIKE JILL COULD TAKE OVER AND SPEAK OUR PIECE!
WELL, IT'S TOO LATE TO SAY NO NOW, JAN!

BEETLE BAILEY—By Mort Walker

WILL YOU TAKE A LOOK AT MY FEET TOO DOC?
OKAY
WEVE HAD A LOT OF HIKES LATELY, AND I THINK THEY'RE WEARING OUT PRETTY WELL SHOT, HUH, DOC?
OH, I THINK THEY'LL RUN YOU ANOTHER 5,000 MILES OR SO

DIXIE DUGAN—By McEvoy & Striebel

IT'S A MAN!
A MAN?
WHO--IS---
--THIS--MAN?
TH'NAME'S MICHAEL DARRIN, MA'AM—
MUCH LATER
HMM—I WONDER WHAT'S KEEPING HIM—?

REX MORGAN, M. D.—By Dal Curtis

YOU HAVEN'T TOLD ME YOUR GIVEN NAME YET, MISS GALE!
IT'S JUNE!
I'LL NEVER FORGIVE YOUR PARENTS FOR GIVING YOU SUCH A COMMON NAME! I'M GOING TO THINK UP A NEW ONE!
COME IN, DR. MORGAN! I'VE BEEN WAITING FOR YOU PATIENTLY ...AND I'M NOT A PATIENT MAN!

HERMAN—By Clyde Lamb

"This is VERY RUSH, Miss Finch! ... would you mind getting it out before you do your nails today? ..."

POGO—By Walt Kelly

H'LO MOUSE... DID YOU HEAR 'BOUT OL' BUN RABBIT'S SCHEME TO RUN OFF ALL THE HOLIDAYS AT ONCE?
NO, I CAME OVER LOOKIN' FOR RACKETY COON CHILE AN' ALABASTER.
YEP. PROMISED I'D PLAY BRIDGE WITH 'EM .... REMINDS ME OF THE TIME I WAS RUNNIN' A LI'L GAME ON THE RIVERBOAT, S.S. CHARLEY MOSS... I TOOK MY KNIFE AN' CUT TH' DECK AN' ...
CAP'N CHARLEY RUN UP AN' HOLLER: "STOP CARVIN' UP ON MY FLOOR..." WELL, SIR, I ... OH, HERE THEY ARE.
WE'S READY IF YOU IS, UNCLE MOUSE— "LONDON BRIDGE IS FALLIN' DOWN, FALLIN' DOWN"
WHAT KIND BRIDGE CALL THA
YOU PROMISED NOW.

ELSWORTH—By Seeg

WOULD YOU LIKE TO COME OVER TO MY HOUSE TO PLAY?
NAW, ALL YOU GOT ARE GIRL TOYS!
IF YOU WANT ME TO, I'LL COME OVER TO YOUR HOUSE!
ALL I GOT ARE BOY TOYS!
THEN I THINK I'LL GO HOME!
WE CAN PLAY TOGETHER, AMY JANE...
...THERE AREN'T ANY TOYS HERE!

GRANDMA—By Charles Kuhn

GRANDMA, I WANT YOU T' HAVE THESE!
MY LAND, A WHOLE SACK O' MARBLES! HOW COME?
I HEARD ONE O' TH' BOYS SAY YOU ACTED LIKE YOU HAD LOST ALL O' YOURS!
